

FACULTY STAFF AUGMENTED BY FOUR NEW MEN

Rugoff, Weisenfeld,
Gristle Added
To Rolls

PH. D. CANDIDATES

Dr. Ansbacher To Take Place Of Dr. Sells In Psychology

Four new instructors have been added to the faculty rolls for the current semester, Jacob I. Hartstein registrar, announced.

Dr. Heinz Ansbacher, formerly associated with the W.P.A. Psychological Index, has been appointed as the new instructor in Educational Psychology to replace Dr. Saul B. Sells. He has contributed numerous articles to the journal, "Individual Psychology", one of the most important being, "Johansen's Terminology and Adler's Theory of Personality."

Mr. Murray Gristle B.B.S., M.S., who has been added to the history staff, is at present on the Administration Staff at the School of Education at City College. He is terminating his work leading to the degree of Ph.D. in History at Columbia. A contribution by him, "Empirical Scale for Measuring Militarism-Pacifism", appeared in the "Psychological Record" of March, 1937.

The new appointee to the English Department is Mr. Milton Rugoff, B.A., M.A. He too is a candidate for a Ph.D. in English at Columbia. At present he is a tutor in the Evening Session at Brooklyn College.

Mr. Allen Weisenfeld, B.S., and Master in Business Administration, who is an assistant to the Director of the Newark Labor Relations Board, is the newly acquired assistant in economics. He will remain at the Yeshiva for this semester and then return to the University of Newark where he will teach. Before departing on his leave of absence, Dr. Solomon Flink, of the economics department, stated that he will occasionally be a guest speaker in economics.

COLLEGE ASKED TO AID FAIR PROJECT

Yeshiva College has been requested by "College Years," a national intercollegiate magazine, to cooperate in a plan to include a college department at the New York World's Fair with headquarters in the Communications Building.

According to the proposed project, undergraduate students of the leading colleges in the United States will have at their disposal a meeting-place, guide service, and an information bureau which will function as aids to student guests at the Fair.

RABBI SACHS SPEAKS

Rabbi Mendel Sachs, head of the Yeshiva of Radun and son-in-law of the Chofetz Chaim, addressed students of the Yeshiva on Monday afternoon, February 6, on questions of Halacha and Jewish Ethics.

Belkin Guest Speaker Before Jewish Acad.

Professor Samuel Belkin, the newly appointed member of the Executive-Faculty Committee, delivered a lecture on "Judaism and Democratic Theocracy" before the Jewish Academy of Arts and Sciences on Monday night, February 6. One of the leading proponents of the studies of classical literature, Professor Belkin, who occupies the Chair of Greek language and literature and is Dean of the graduate division of Yeshiva College, is working on a book which will be published in the near future.

T. I. Finals To Be Held This Week

Comprehensive Exams Started Today

Two of the four Comprehensive Teachers Examinations are to be given this week, the Teachers Institute announced. These examinations are prerequisite to graduation from the Institute and were formerly given once every year, in June. The change this year was made in order to allow the present senior class to participate in the graduation exercises scheduled to be held this May.

Under the previous system, the graduating class would have had to wait any number of years before they could take part in school exercises. However, it was pointed out that this newly instituted system will be in effect only during years in which graduating exercises are held. The examinations, moreover, will not necessarily preclude future attendance in classes.

The two examinations being given this week are in Jewish History and Bible, on Feb. 15 and 16 respectively. The Bible exam will cover all of the five books of Moses with commentaries and selected portions from the earlier and later prophets. The test in Jewish History will be confined to the History of the Jews from the time of the second commonwealth up to the present.

Simons Throw Kosher Clambake In Dorm On Jewish Arbor Day

By "RED" WOOD

Last Wednesday, the dormitory reception hall was the scene of a novel birthday party—a party tendered by Mr. and Mrs. Simon to the trees of the Holy Land. All the Yeshivaites who happened to have seen the isolated notices announcing the Chamisha Asar B-Schvaat Celebration streamed expectantly into the social hall.

Despite the fact that most of the pent-up emotions kept in during the extensive final exam period ("quizes" at Yeshiva) had already been released during the sixday breathing spell between terms, the Yeshivaites still found plenty of energy left for this oc-

Debaters To Face Philadelphia Teams During Road Trip

Itinerary to Include Penn, St. Joseph's, Rutgers and Swarthmore

The varsity Debating team, composed by Elias Blachowitz '40, Bernard Finkelstein '39, Martin Hinchin '40, and Benjamin Kreitman '39, will leave this Friday on its scheduled tour of debates with several of the leading colleges in the Philadelphia area. Among the schools to be encountered are the University of Pennsylvania, Temple University, Swarthmore, and St. Joseph's College.

This evening, Jacob Bronstein '40 and Seymour Kolman '41, will uphold the affirmative in a debate: "Resolved, that the U. S. Cease to Use Public Funds for Stimulating Business," at the Congregation B'nai Israel in Kearny, N. J. The same team will face St. John's University tomorrow night in the Dormitory Social Hall at 8:30 p.m. on the same topic.

The Philadelphia series will be opened on Friday at Temple when Blachowitz and Kreitman will debate on the practicability of Zionism as a solution to the Jewish problem. For the remaining schools the featured topic will again be the one on the use of public funds.

On Saturday afternoon, the members of the team will discuss current Zionist problems at a symposium to be held in the Her Zion Congregation in Philadelphia.

The tour will come to a close on Thursday, Feb. 23, with the debate at St. Joseph's.

COLLEGE JOINS GROUP

Following a speech delivered by Jacob I. Hartstein, Registrar, before a convention in Syracuse on January 27, Yeshiva College was granted a permanent membership in the organization of the Associate of Colleges and Universities of the State of New York. This organization is of recent origin and consists of many of the institutions of higher learning in New York State.

Parents' Group Plans For Summer Camp

Plans are being discussed by the Parents' Association of Yeshiva for the organization of a summer camp where students of the institution will be enabled to spend their vacation. Land, covering the location of the former Poel Hamizrachi camp in New Jersey, has already been obtained by the Association.

Leaders of the plan pointed out that the cooperation of the students of the Yeshiva is necessary to make the proposal a success. Complete details will be forthcoming in the near future, it was announced.

Rabbi M. Lewittes Talks At Bowdoin

Jewish Life Dealt With In Lecture Series

Rabbi M. Lewittes, alumnus of the class of '32, is at present conducting a series of four lectures on fundamental aspects of Jewish life and law at Bowdoin College, in Brunswick, Maine, according to information received by the Commentator. The third lecture in the series entitled, "The Jewish Social Life", will be delivered in the near future.

The opening talk in the series dealt with the subject "The Jewish View of Religion," which was followed by a lecture on "The Jewish Economic Life" in which the bases of Jewish economic law were discussed. The speaker pointed out that the economic system of the Jews was organized to fit an agricultural society, and supported this contention with several examples. The rabbi also stated that Jewish law forbade excess profits and fraudulent sale in order to guard against unfair competition. Another point which the speaker mentioned was that neither the employer or employe is given the upperhand. These facts led Rabbi Lewittes to conclude that the Jewish economic life is an equitable capitalistic system.

The subject of the concluding discourse, which will follow the next lecture is, "The Jewish Political Life."

After receiving his A.B. degree at Yeshiva College, Rabbi Lewittes continued his studies at the Yeshiva until he earned the degree of "Yodin Yodin," while studying his rabbinical studies, he served as an instructor of mathematics in the Talmudical Academy.

LINCOLN EULOGIZED

Mr. Sidney Braun, Instructor of French, addressed a special meeting of the Jewish University Club at Rabbi Lookstein's synagogue, Kehilloth Jeshurun, last Sunday, February 12. In his speech on "Lincoln's Ideology and Present Day Civilization" he stressed the brilliant humanitarian phases of the great President's life.

NEW EXECUTIVE- FACULTY GROUP ASSUMES DUTIES

Drs. Isaacs, Churgin, And Belkin On Committee

PLANS OUTLINED

First Faculty - Student
Mixer To Take Place
February 26

The formation of an Executive-Faculty Committee to determine all matters concerning the policy of the Yeshiva College in the future, which consists of himself as chairman, Professor Pinkhos Churgin, and Professor Samuel Beikin, was announced by Dr. Moses Legis Isaacs recently. The committee has acquired a secretary, Miss Schachter, through whom requests and messages may be submitted to the executive group and a permanent office located in room 4-30 of the college building.

Miss Schachter, according to a special bulletin issued to the student body by the Commentator, will be available from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. from Sunday through Thursday, and from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Friday. Students will be enabled to consult the members of the group on any problem, and will receive through the secretary appointments with the appropriate committee members if such appointments are necessary.

Among the activities planned by the new committee is a series of Faculty-Student Mixers to create a closer relationship between the two groups. The committee has already installed new chairs in the various classrooms for the convenience of college instructors.

The first in the series of Mixers is scheduled to take place Sunday evening, February 26, in the dining hall of the dormitory. It is expected that both faculty members and students will participate in the entertainment. Refreshments will be served following the program.

DR. NATHAN KLOTZ TO ADDRESS CLUB

"The Hebrew Language in Its Development" is the topic of a lecture to be given by Dr. Nathan Klotz, assistant professor of Bible, before the Hebrew Club tomorrow evening at 9:00 p.m. in the Dormitory Social Hall.

The recently formed group which opens its second semester of activity with this event, has during the past term sponsored similar affairs featuring lectures, discussion and Palestinian songs.

BRODY WRITES ARTICLE

An article by Dr. Alexander Brody entitled "Federal Relations to Higher Education" will appear shortly in "School and Society", a weekly periodical on problems and movements of modern education. The article will discuss the results of several Supreme Court decisions involving educational questions.

A New Milestone

We believe the recent appointment by Professor Moses L. Isaacs of an Executive-Faculty Committee to assist him in administrative matters is a step in the right direction. The division of executive duties among the three members of the committee is bound to make for greater efficiency in all administrative details and to provide for increased accessibility for advice to students who have individual problems.

The choice of Prof. Samuel Belkin and Prof. Pinkhos Churgin as the co-members of this committee has, moreover, been a most fortunate one from every standpoint. They are men whose contacts with the student body have been of an extensive and varied character and whose personal qualities have earned for them the respect of the student body. We are convinced of their devotion to the welfare of the institution, of their sense of fair play, and of their appreciation of the necessity of faculty-administration harmony in fostering an enlightened and progressive administration for the college.

If the initial activities of the committee can be set up as a criterion for future predictions, then the college may look forward to seeing an alert leadership with a considered policy of initiative in all branches of college life.

We feel, too, that the new appointment will result in closer collaboration between faculty and students, as already indicated in the plans for the Faculty-Student Mixer, and will be instrumental in clearing the atmosphere of the college of much of the misunderstanding and ill-advised charges which were heard but a short time ago.

We extend to the committee our felicitations in the name of the student body and hope to see Dr. Isaacs' courageous move mark another milestone in the evolution of Yeshiva College.

Lift the Embargo

In an era of tragic destinies, of violence, oppression, and persecution, right and justice are becoming increasingly more rare and proportionately more precious to the perpetuation of the civilization laboriously constructed by man. Those who would conserve the progress of the human race cannot afford to sit idly back and raise their eyebrows in polite askance while men and nations relapse into the barbarism of the primitive stages.

Least of all can a nation like the United States, steeped in traditions of liberty and freedom, a land in which religious persuasions are manifestly so strong, allow itself to become an aid and abettor to the inhuman slaughter of men, women and children—to the tragic spectacle of a duly constituted government being prevented from working out its own destiny, through the armed intervention of a coterie of bandits.

Yet this is precisely the result of the one-sided neutrality which the U. S. government maintains against Loyalist Spain—an embargo which effectively prevents the Loyalists from obtaining sufficient arms with which to protect its citizens while their enemies are supplied with the most modern implements of war from totalitarian states which have free access to this country's supplies. By its maintenance of the embargo the U. S. is directly acquiescing to the destruction of a sister democracy.

It is no secret that a majority of the American public favor the cause of the Loyalists and wish to see them emerge triumphant. A recent poll by the Institute of Public Opinion disclosed that 76 per cent of those queried sympathized with the Loyalists while only 24 per cent favored Franco. A majority so great as this is seldom obtained in controversial questions and can only be interpreted as demonstrating the depth of the feeling with which Americans view conditions in Spain.

By articulating its sentiments the American public may yet bring about a change in the illogical stand of its government to the end that the Spanish Government may exercise its legal prerogative of purchasing munitions here. It is not too late to lift the embargo, for Central Spain remains determined to fight for its liberty from a tyrant who desires only unconditional surrender. Its morale is high, its defenses strong, and an army of 700,000 remains still loyal to its people.

We must remain loyal to our conscience and fight to lift the embargo.

Just a Little More Effort

Perhaps nothing is of such basic importance to the welfare of any school and to the benefit which its students derive from it as the attitude and demeanor of the students themselves. Particularly is this true in the case of our college where the students are aware of the significance and respect which attaches to the name of Yeshiva College in Jewish communal life and where they are in whole-hearted accord with the principles and ideals for which this institution stands.

While this may be said to be a truism, it is nevertheless one of those ethical statements which cannot be too frequently emphasized in view of the fact that a certain chronic laxity still maintains among many members of the student body in regard to dress and conduct in halls and classrooms.

Realizing this, Student Council has embarked upon a campaign to bring about an improvement of these conditions. We feel sure that the students will respond in the proper spirit.

Obituary

We deeply regret the passing of Pope Pius XI, humanitarian and benefactor of all institutions which aim at achieving universal brotherhood and good will.

On behalf of the administration and student body we offer our sincerest condolences to the Catholics throughout the world who mourn the loss of their beloved leader.

PREVUES AND VIEWS

Maurice Evans' third consecutive triumph in less than two years as producer-actor of Shakespearean repertoire—this time as the inimitable Sir John Falstaff in the historical comedy "Henry IV" (Part I)—definitely establishes the English star as one of the all-time bright lights of the American stage.

In many respects, the current performance of Mr. Evans at the St. James Theatre as the humorous and congenial knight whose rich materialistic philosophy expresses Shakespeare's revolt against the romance and fantasies of medieval chivalry, overshadows his performance of Hamlet and Richard II. The ingenuity and versatility with which he portrays the difficult role will long remain an unforgettable memory of the current Broadway season.

Lacking the advantage of a well-constructed plot, "Henry IV" is notable for its potentialities of character portrayal which it offers in several of the leading roles, and Wesley Addy as Hotspur and Edmond O'Brien as Henry, Prince of Wales, execute these potentialities to the greatest advantage. These and several other portrayals, as well as the brilliant direction of Margaret Webster, make "Henry IV" a worthy successor to the more famous "Hamlet."

Paul Vincent Carrol, the Irish schoolmaster who last year presented the New York theatre audiences with the powerful "Shadow and Substance," has once again turned to the clerics of Erin for the setting of his newer masterpiece, "The White Steed," currently running at the Cort Theatre (Moving to the Broadhurst next week). Mr. Carroll has retold—very effectively—the tale of the unbounding polemic between the forces of reaction—those untiring defenders of other people's morals—as against the liberal element of the church.

The play combines the essential points of a well rounded comedy possessed of a definite social message; a message which is religious in nature but which can be read into any creed differences and any metamorphic social institution faced with the problems of a changing world and with changing criteria of judgment.

Two one-act tableaux, "L'Enterrement" and "Les 37 Sous De M. Montaudin," the latest offerings of the Theatre Des Quatres Saisons, present a delightful contrast for those who are interested in French culture.

Henry Monnier's "L'Enterrement" gives us some striking portraits of humankind in dialogue as well as in drama. This portrait is a monument to the stupidity of the Parisian bourgeoisie and the mourners therein depicted complete this exhibition of mediocrity.

In contrast, the comedy—"Les 37 Sous De M. Montaudin" by Labiche to whom we owe an abundance of comedies written in a spirit of drollery, with incisiveness, and often cruel satire, terminates the evening in a more cheerful vein.

"Siegfried" by Jean Giraudoux, which will be the next to the last production of the year, will be offered to the public on February 20.

For those theatre-goers who like a little change in their usual fare, "The Importance of Being Earnest," now playing at the Vanderbilt Theatre, may provide a fairly interesting and entertaining evening. "The plot recapitulates the old familiar tale of confusion in names

MAYBE I'M WRONG

by MORRIS A. LANDES

Aftermath To A Spanish War
(with apologies to Siegfried Sassoon.)

Have you forgotten yet?
For life's a passing love affair
where laughing morrows
Remember not their vows to solemn yesterdays.
"Spain a Fascist state," you muse,
"Tis not so bad. We'll have peace, now's Bloody war is spent." Spain a fascist State! What could be worse, poor knaves?
Wait, damp tyranny will clasp cold claws on your necks!
Feel them in Coughlin's breath,—
Sense them in the Legion set.
Have you forgotten yet?
Look there, and swear by once-fair Spain's limp corpse that it will ne'er happen here.
Look down and pray by all you hold dear that it shall never happen here.

D'you remember Il Duce's proletariat-nurtured march on Rome,— Hitler's capitalist-begotten return to his Viennese home?
Do you remember a land by church white-bleed,—
Freedom's eagle raised in cross of tyranny's stead,—
And an army of heathens bought "to fight th' fight of G-d"?
What? Has the soul from too constant hearing to vibrate forgot,—
The heart forgotten how t' bleed,—
—the sensitivities t' feel?
Must the body sense the lashing pain,—
the heart ope to bullet again,—
The soul feel oppression's pinions, ere those sentiments you revive?
Must democracy gasp for breath 'fore you see it has not long t' live.
Unless you help it live by helping fascism die,
By proving Ford the arrant cheat and giving Coughlin the lie?
Have you forgotten yet?
Look there and swear by once-fair Spain's black bier that it will ne'er happen here.
Look up and pray to the Almighty G-d that it shall never happen here.

and genealogy which has been used by Shakespeare and ever after as a source of comedy and burlesque. The Victorian setting and the upper crust English social inanities bear little interest for the ordinary hoi polloi. However, the redeeming feature, which truly lives up to advance notices, is provided by the sparkling and scintillating dialogue for which Oscar Wilde is famous.

"Gunga Din" continues its "tour de force" at the Music Hall with New York's populace paying devoted homage to the inspired triumvirate supplying the fare, to wit: Grant, McLaglen, and Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

"Gunga Din" (say Deen) contributes to the enviable record R.K.O. has established for itself thus far in 1939, and although the appearance of Kipling towards the close of the picture seemed an anticlimax in the eyes of this reviewer, two hours of coherent, action-packed entertainment more than compensate for the faux pas. Sam Jaffe, playing in the title role as a heroic little regimental water "bhisti", turns in an exceptional bit of acting which merits all the good things that have been said of it.

Jest In Fun

By JERRY KESTENBAUM

My pen may have accumulated considerable rust since last I received my assignment to instill a little humour among the staid walls of Yeshiva, but I've taken pains to dig up several fresh and tasty. I hope, bons mots for your edification.

Jacob Goldman, whose column on sports appears regularly in this space is recuperating from an overdose of "mid-year quizzes" and suffering relapses in the form of comprehensive exams and C-sickness. The column will be resumed in the next issue.

The art class, a semi-annual affair at Yeshiva, which is frequently conducted by means of lantern-slide lectures, was disrupted last week by a well-meaning but new janitor. Suddenly throwing open the door of the darkened room, he shouted gruffly as he switched on the lights, "What's going on in here!"

The dramatic critic started to leave in the middle of the second act of the play, "Don't go now," said the manager, "I promise there's a terrific kick in the next act."

"Fine," was the retort, "give it to the author."

Dedicated to the numerous moustaches sprouting in the Senior class:

A dignified senior named Asch Was trying to raise a moustache When he went to a dance The girls looked askance For they thought it was some kind of a rash.

Akin to the sailor who takes a boat ride on a holiday and to the mailman who takes a walk on his vacation is the Yeshiva student who spends his vacation loafing.

Shaer nonsense: Give a girl enough rope and she'll . . . skip.

God made the world—and rested God made man—and rested. God made woman—

Since then neither God nor man has rested.

"Ah!" cried the Russian, as he sat down to dinner. I could eat these beets 'till I borscht!"

Freshman Chess Club To Hold First Meeting

The newly organized Freshman Chess Club will hold its initial meeting next Monday at 2:15 in room 426. All those who play chess well or who have a basic knowledge of the game and desire to improve their play are urged to join this club.

It is hoped that the newly founded club will serve to make the students more chess conscious and build towards a better chess team in the future.

Places Now Open On Tennis Varsity

Goldman and Aber To Be Team Captains

The first meeting of the Tennis team will take place next Monday, Feb. 20 at 8:15 P.M. in room 426, it was announced yesterday by Solomon Aber '39 (nee Abowitz) and Jack Goldman '40, co-captains of the tennis team. All those who intend to try out for places on this year's varsity are required to be present at the meeting or notify one of the co-captains prior to the scheduled time.

Aber and Goldman revealed to the Commentator that their plans call for wide expansion of the activities of the tennis team. It was pointed out that very few students even know of the existence of the tennis team. "We shall endeavor," said Aber, "not only to popularize this comparatively young sport, but to build a team capable of carrying the school's name into intercollegiate competition. This can only be accomplished with the interest and cooperation of the students and the readiness of those who excel in the sport to volunteer for service on the team."

The tennis team was organized four years ago under the leadership of Jerome Gordon '38. Its expansion since then has been hampered by numerous obstacles, including lack of time and materials. It is hoped that this year new heights will be attained by the Y net-men.

Yeshiva Cagers Beat City Evening, Alumni

Favored City Quintet Bows To Inspired Yeshiva Team

Repeating its previous upset, Yeshiva defeated a favored City College Evening team 33-20 on the victor's home court last Saturday night. Avrech and Koslovsky led the Blue and White attack and between themselves netted seven goals and an equal number of fouls.

The first half saw Yeshiva using the "weave" to such advantage that they completely baffled the visitors. This enabled the home team to tally at random. Excellent coordination between the guards and forwards helped Yeshiva to roll up a comfortable 20-9 lead which they held at the half.

On returning to the court, the visitors began to enliven affairs and kept the ball well in Yeshiva territory. In the first few minutes they scored six points. Roughness ensued and the recently hired "ref" received his baptism of fire, calling 21 fouls against both teams.

In the last quarter Koslovsky led the attack with three goals and tied Avrech for the scoring honors. But the "mitye" manager again scored to forge ahead a minute before the game ended. The visitors' coach called the game before regular time elapsed, unable to bear the slaughter.

Slow Alumni Unable To Check Speedy Undergrads

Lacking proper form, a "rusty" Alumni basketball team met defeat at the hands of the speedy undergraduates in their second annual tilt last Sunday night before a handful of spectators.

Although presenting a galaxy of stars, the graduates were unable to cope with the swift passing attack of the varsity, which hung up a 31-2 lead at the half. The only Alumni score came at the end of seventeen minutes of play as Lipschutz sank a two-pointer.

Every man on the varsity squad shared in the scoring spree. I.

Koslovsky '40, who caged 12 points leading the way, and with Rosenbloom runner-up with eight.

After a long needed rest the aged stars came back renewed with fight. Normie Goldklang '38,

Hy Aranoff '36 and Max Levy '37 combined to score a total of 14 points, but erratic shooting kept them from sinking a few more. Levy starred for the Alumni, scoring most points and handling the ball in his customary style.

The game dragged on to the last quarter as a discouraged Alumni crumbled in the face of an overpowering force. The game ended with the undergraduates winning easily 47-18.

Table Tennis Play In Quarter Finals

A hard fought victory over Elvin Kosofsky '41 entitled Morris Schnall '40 to be the first to enter the sacred quarter-final in the current table-tennis tournament. The scores 21-17, 21-17 are indicative of the opposition Schnall encountered. Many long volleys, remarkable retrieves, and wholehearted slamming marked the match as one of the finest ever played on Yeshiva tables.

Because of the mid-term intermission tournament play had to be suspended for quite some time. Since the beginning of the new semester, however, play has progressed steadily until now all remaining players are in the round of sixteen contestants.

Library Recipient Of Generous Gifts

One hundred books from the N.Y.U. Library have been added to the library shelves this semester through the efforts and negotiations of Arthur Zucker, formerly in charge of the Friends of Yeshiva College Library. Isaac Goldberg, librarian, announced the contribution is particularly valuable for its additions to the fields of education, philosophy and psychology. Numerous education pamphlets have also been donated.

Embarking on a campaign of increased expenditures is round on the various departments, the library bought several books from the New York Public Library. Among the new titles which should prove of interest and value to the general student body are: "Power" by Bertrand Russell; "A Guide to Historical Literature"; a key to social science literature; and "Not Guilty", the report of the committee of inquiry headed by John Dewey into the charges made against Leon Trotsky during the Moscow trials.

The staff this semester remains the same with the addition of Bernard Fossman '49, who will be in charge of the library at night.

SENIOR DYE LOST

The dye for the senior class key has been lost. Nathan Levinson, chairman of last year's key committee announced. It is of the utmost importance that this dye be returned to MAX KAPLAN or any member of the Commentator Governing Board. A generous reward will be offered upon its return.
