RELATIONS CLUB TO MEET; HAS NEW BOARD AT HELM

Governing Board Formed To Manage Affairs Of Group This Term

The International Relations Club will resume its activities this term under a completely reorganized set-up, the Commentator learned today. A new governing board has been chosen, in line with the new policy of appointment rather than election.

The governing board is to consist of six members: faculty advisor, chairman, vice chairman, corresponding secretary, recording secretary and publicity man.

Succeeding officers are to be selected at the beginning of each semester by the governing board, this choice to be determined by merit and interest. This will eliminate all political entanglements in the organization.

The club intends to function as the forum center of the college. All current problems of interest concerning Yeshiva College students as both Americans and Jews, will be discussed by qualified speakers.

Among those to be heard this term, are, Drs. Reich, Grossman, Glaessens, Schneiderman, and Fischman, with August Klaessens

MIZRACHI GROUP PLANS SMOKER NEXT MONDAY

Moshe Shapiro, Noted Zion- ist Leader, Expected

The Poel Hamizrachi of Yeshiva College will open its activities for the semester with a smoker to be held Monday evening. It is hoped that Moshe Shapiro, leader of Hapoel Hamizrachi and member of the Immigration department of the World Zionist executive, will be able to address the meeting.

Dr. Churgin and Rabbi Mirsky will address the assembly on Toarah Vaavodah and the Poel Hamizrachi. Simon Shoop '38, president of the group expressed his hope that students would cooperate by attending in large numbers.

It was also announced that the Yeshiva group hopes to procure tickets for the "Eternal Road" at reduced rates. In that case the tickets will be available to all Yeshiva students.

Members of the organization will soon receive a copy of the bulletin issued by the Poel Hamizrachi Council of greater New York.

VOLUNTEERED SERVICES

Rabbi L. Shotland, chief rabbi of Paterson, N. J., who teaches special Talmud classes here, has volunteered his services in this connection, the Commentator was informed. He has given his time freely for the purpose, in spite of the fact that he is not a regular appointee of the Yeshiva.

Commentator Positions Now Open to Applicants

The regular semi-annual Commentator staff meeting will be held Thursday night at the Commentator office. Applications for positions on the Associate News Staff will be considered at that time. Attendance at the meeting will be required of old staff members as well, since plans for the term will be discussed.

Positions on the Business Staff will also be considered at the meeting, which will be the last opportunity for affiliating with the Commentator this term.

Library Receives New Collections

Faculty Members Donate Many Varied Books

The library received more volumes during the past few weeks than during any other period of its history, according to Isaac Goldberg '33, librarian. Among the factors contributing to the growth are the contributions of Professor Joseph T. Shipley, Professor Leo Jung, Dr. Sol Liptsin, Dr. Kenneth F. Damon, Dr. Alexander Brody, Dr. Jekuthiel Ginsberg, Carnegie Endowment, and Joseph Kaminsky.

Professor Shipley's contribution includes English and American literature and important literary criticisms. Dr. Liptsin contributed additional books in German literature. Dr. Ginsberg donated a portfolio of mathematical portraits. Dr. Jung's collection includes many biographical works. Dr. Damon and Dr. Brody contributed in the field of history and education. Books of current events were received from the Carnegie Endowment.

In honor of the centenary of the death of Pushkin, the library has received an exhibit dealing with his life.

Dr. Rhodes presented a richly colored map of France to the library.

Members of the library staff include A. Hans, H. Hurwitz, M. Jackowitz, I. Diamond, A. Lewis, E. Michaly, A. Mirvis, R. Marmorstein, J. Rosenblock, M. Rubincroth, M. Shapiro, and R. Schwartz. New lighting fixtures have been introduced in the library.

DRAMATIC SOCIETY MEETS NEXT WEEK

Work on the Dramatic Society's production of "Paths of Glory" will get under way next week, it was announced yesterday by Harold Polikoff '39. After extensive preparations by Mordchai L. Gabriel '37 and Polikoff with reference to the technical aspects of the production, a program for the group's activities has been evolved. "It is expected that the problems involved in rehearsing the play will be minimized to a great extent," Gabriel said.

Polikoff announced that an important meeting of the society will take place next Monday night at 8 p.m. in the dormitory social hall.

STUDENT REFERENDUM WILL BE HELD MONDAY TO DECIDE NSF POLICY

Affiliation With National Youth Congress To Be Determined By Poll

Whether Yeshiva College is to go on record as favoring affiliation with the American Youth Congress will be decided by a student referendum next Monday. This announcement was made last night by Irving Ribner '37, president of Student Council.

The request for the referendum was received from the National Student Federation of America of which Yeshiva College is a member. The question of affiliation of the N.S.F.A. with the Youth Congress was referred by the Federation to the constituent schools, and the local poll will be one of a wide-spread series of similar referenda in colleges and universities.

The American Youth Congress is a permanent federation of various youth organizations in this country. Included in the organization are such groups as the Y.M.C.A. Student Council and the American Student Union.

The Congress is at present engaged in activity aimed at the passage of the National Youth Act, designed to provide financial and vocational assistance for college youth.

Balloting will be held before class on Monday, at 3 p.m. It is expected that almost all students will participate in the poll.

YESHIVA ADOPTS NEW ATTENDANCE RULINGS

Regulations To Control Number Of Absences

A definite set of attendance regulations for the Yeshiva has been announced by the administration during the past week. These new rules are an attempt to clarify the status of the individual student with respect to administrative requirements, according to Norman B. Abrams, administrative assistant.

According to these rules, a student may incur a total number of absences equivalent to five per cent of the school days. Three latenesses constitute one absence. If a student should exceed this amount without a justifiable excuse, he will automatically be dropped from Yeshiva classes, and will be required to re-register in order to obtain admission.

Students living out of town will not be permitted to go home during the school year without first obtaining permission from the proper authorities.

Students will not be allowed to give either private instruction or teach in a Hebrew school without first obtaining permission.

COUNCIL TO MEET

The first Council meeting of spring term will be held next Monday night, February 15, at 8 o'clock at the dormitory social hall. Irving Ribner, president of Student Council, announced this morning.

Rabbi Aronowitz Back After Protracted Illness

Rabbi Benjamin Aronowitz returned to the Yeshiva yesterday after an absence of several months due to a prolonged illness. He was greeted by his class in Chulin which arose spontaneously as he suddenly entered his room. Rabbi Aronowitz then gave a short Shiur to his students in Yoreh Daiah.

It is hoped that Rabbi Aronowitz will begin to give lectures regularly to the students of Yoreh Daiah. Rabbi Aronowitz is one of the pioneer Roshe Yeshivoth at the Yeshiva.

Jewish Students In Poland Mistreated

Persecution In Universities Scored by Professor

NSFA—"Do not be afraid to be brutal. If you meet a Jew, strike him and beat him so thoroughly that he will not only take his proper seat but will leave the university and perhaps Poland as well."

These sentences are quoted from a leaflet recently distributed by the Nationalist student organization at the University of Warsaw, Poland, who established a picket line to keep Jewish students from the gates of the university. This action followed the failure of the Fascists to establish a "ghetto" in the class rooms by segregating the Jews in the left corner.

An intense political situation has been created by this action and may lead to international complications as a result of Fascist opposition to the government of which the anti-Jewish campaign is only one indication. Government spokesmen have accused German firms in Poland of financing the Fascist students and encouraging the campaign.

Professor Thaddeus Kotarbinski, well-known Warsaw philosopher, writes of the gloomy university situation, "I enter the university grounds with a feeling of shame. Jewish students are assailed and maltreated for no reason whatever in the classrooms, laboratories and even in the quiet library. I admire the determina-

"PARGOD" PRESENTS COMEDY IN HEBREW

A revival of Hebrew dramatic art here will take place Saturday night, with the presentation of Sholom Aleichem's comedy "Anchah" by "Pargod", the Dramatic Society of the Haimdruth Hachaim, at City College Amphitheatre, Lexington Ave. at 125th St.

The current production is the first of Pargod's efforts, and marks the culmination of a movement to reestablish Hebrew drama, which has had no exponents locally since 1922.

Engagements have already been booked for performances in Boston, Philadelphia, and other cities.

Tickets for the New York performance are being sold here at the "Anchah" '37.

NEW COURSE IN HISTORY ADDED TO CURRICULUM

Methods Of Teaching And Fine Arts Course Are Also Introduced

A course in American Colonial History is now being offered for the first time in Yeshiva College under Dr. Michael Kraus, Assistant Professor of History at C.C. N.Y. This course which deals with the foundations of American nationality and the background of American life and institutions is an elective for juniors and seniors.

New men have been added to several departments. Latin formerly taught by Prof. Pearl, is being given by Dr. Meyer Reinhold and French I is being given by Mr. Sidney Braun, a graduate of the Talmudical Academy, who studied at the Sorbonne in Paris.

Dr. Phillip E. Kraus of the Education Dept., who has returned after a leave of absence, is now offering Methods of Teaching in Secondary Schools. The course in the Appreciation and History of Art, given in sequence to last semester's Music Appreciation course, is being offered by Mr. Israel Renov with the co-operation of Dr. Damon. Guest lecturers will be invited for certain phases of the course.

DEBATERS ENCOUNTER N.Y.U. IN FIRST MATCH

Society Meets Tonight To Discuss Season Plans

The Yeshiva College debating team opened the spring season by encountering New York University last Wednesday evening.

The topic for debate was "Resolved that college education for a woman is wasted." Samuel H. Frero '37 and Benjamin H. Bernfeld '38 upheld the negative for Yeshiva.

This debate, the second one held outside Yeshiva halls, was delivered before a branch of the Pythians at the Yorkville Temple in central Manhattan.

No decision was given on the debate. However, it was followed by remarks and questions by members of the organization and the audience.

The debating society is resuming its meetings, this term, on Wednesday Wednesday evenings at 8:30. The first meeting, to which all members are invited, will take place this evening in room 412. Plans for the coming season will be discussed and new members will be given the opportunity to partake of the activities of the society.

Guest lectures will be given by the president of the society, Samuel H. Frero, and the vice-president, Benjamin H. Bernfeld, on Wednesday, February 11, at 8:30 p.m. in the dormitory social hall. The program will be given by the president of the society, Samuel H. Frero, and the vice-president, Benjamin H. Bernfeld, on Wednesday, February 11, at 8:30 p.m. in the dormitory social hall.

Registration—New Style

It is no hazardous venture to say that few of those reporting for registration this term failed to be pleasantly surprised. The novelty of having registration conducted in a well-planned, systematized fashion could not have been less than overwhelming to students accustomed to the old procedure.

The importance of the innovation can hardly be overestimated. Here is not only a question of the mechanical completion of routine work on a more efficient basis. In the proper handling of registration problems lies the answer to more than one problem.

For one thing, the early start of regular class sessions is dependent entirely upon the dispatch with which the task is completed.

Even more important is the undeniable fact that slipshod registration methods, with their accompaniment of endless worries, grueling waiting, and superfluous red tape to which students were forced to submit did more than a little to impair relations between undergraduates and administration.

If any proof of this is needed, it was convincingly demonstrated by the unprecedented congenial spirit prevalent at the start of the semester. For this accomplishment, the registrar is to be commended. Also deserving of gratitude are those faculty members who volunteered their time to serve in registering the students.

Certain difficulties still stand out, however. Students with conditions or other program irregularities found themselves in much the same situation as in the past. While it is true that such hardships were the inevitable result of the innovation in procedure, some method must be worked out to prevent their recurrence in the future.

Especially grievous were those cases of upper classmen who found themselves hampered by serious program conflicts as a result of arbitrary program slashings in earlier years.

A general injustice still unremedied is the harrowing series of sudden program changes that continues to afflict most students during the first two weeks of every term.

With the proper start made, however, it is not difficult to envisage the emergence of a completely satisfying arrangement of routine administrative work that should terminate, once and for all, what has been one of the sorest spots in student-administration relations.

Depressing Lethargy

[As we enter the second half of the school year we note with alarm the return of the apathetic attitude prevalent among Yeshiva students years ago.] The interest which has been awakened during the past few years in student activities and in the problems of the college, as well as in general and Jewish affairs, is beginning to ebb. [Again one begins to discover a general lethargy with students concerned only with their own immediate affairs.]

Various activities of the student organization such as the athletic teams and the debating team have not been receiving the student support of past years. The library has never had the co-operation which it should receive from the individual students. The Masmid, though always a victim of student indifference, has been suffering this year more than ever. Attendance at meetings of various groups chartered by student council has declined appreciably.

The participation of students in those organizations which aim at giving concrete expression to the Yeshiva spirit has also been diminished lately. Students who, last year, were aroused to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the Torah Va'Avodah ideology have failed to demonstrate much interest this year. The Poel Hamizrachi at Yeshiva College, though it has functioned regularly, has failed to make much of an impression this year on a dormant student body.

Much of the apparent indifference of students to certain aspects of Jewish life, a cause of much recent apprehension, is also tied to this situation. Students must once and for all realize that attendance at Yeshiva College must not consist in passively attending classes. The aims and ideals of the institution, by their very nature, demand a more active participation on the part of the students.

Need For Guidance

A most serious problem which has never received adequate consideration is that of offering guidance to the student in the choice of concentration groups and advice in the choice of careers. The overwhelming majority of students entering Yeshiva College have no definite goal towards which they are aiming and in accordance with which to choose their courses. Students often pick their subjects in so haphazard a manner that finally, when they have set their eye upon some definite objective, they discover that they lack adequate preparation or have not taken certain pre-requisites necessary for further work.

It has happened more than once that students who finally in their senior year decide to choose the teaching profession discover that they have not the necessary requirements in education. Students have begun concentration in certain fields only to discover that they are not especially suited for them.

Worst of all, a very large number of seniors, due to the lack of proper directions, are undecided, even during their last semester, as to their plans after leaving college. In such cases students either pick something haphazardly or else remain at Yeshiva only for lack of anything else to do.

We call this situation to the attention of the faculty and the student body with the hope that the gravity of the problem will be realized, and a method of remedying the conditions evolved.

The provision of facilities for helpful advice and guidance will be an innovation of tremendous practical significance.

REVIEWS

By HAROLD POLIKOFF

"The Eternal Mask" (Filmarte) affords a rare treat for the cinemagoer who hopes to find an element of art in the movies. This film has a unique place in the gallery of finer motion pictures. It marks the opening of a new and unexplored field in the cinema—the study of a man's mind.

Certainly the motion picture camera is admirably suited to this end. Undoubtedly it could have been utilized for such a purpose long before this. But then, our Hollywood producers always were more interested in profits than in art. The makers of "The Eternal Mask" are to be congratulated for their far-sightedness in presenting this fine experiment to a delighted public.

Very little of the story can be related in this column. Briefly, the film deals with the madness, or rather, the subconscious influences which obsess the mind of a young doctor who believes that he has murdered a patient with his serum.

Werner Hochbaum has done a fine job in directing the work. The photography is excellent. The production is also blessed with a superb musical score by Anton Profes, which is beautifully played by the Vienna Philharmonic Society. The cast is uniformly excellent.

Go out of your way to see this picture. Psychology students ought to go en masse. My only regret is that I had to wait this long to review it.

After reading the pre-production play-ups of "The Eternal Road" and the panegyrics of which the New York critics delivered themselves concerning the achievements of Professor Reinhardt and Mr. Bel Geddes, it was most gratifying to find in this production not only a glorious spectacle marking a new height in modern stage craft, but also a profoundly moving drama.

In spite of the heroic dimensions of the staging, the essential spirit of a script which retains the combination of epic majesty and poignant simplicity so characteristic of the Biblical narrative, is maintained throughout. In this picture of the life and struggles of a simple people painted against the background of divine spirit we find a symbolic representation of moral history.

Past and present co-mingle. The eternal conditions may vary and the new facts arise; but the impelling energy of the eternal march endures. This is not merely argued in the script, but is symbolically rendered on the stage. The epic panorama of the upper stage becomes the screen against which the impulses and aspirations telescoped in the situation on the lower stage are projected. It does not seem strange, therefore, to see the patriarchs and the generation of the Exodus mingle with the

MAYBE I'M WRONG

By ELIAZER GOLDMAN

To the Herald Tribune:

As a faithful reader of the reactionary press I believe that you cannot too strongly urge the necessity for an immediate investigation into the nefarious plot which culminated in the smuggling of Article II Section 3 into the Constitution. Too late have our editorialists discovered that allowing the President to appoint judges of his own choosing and allowing him, thus, to control the judiciary will destroy the very basis of our state. Some dangerous revolutionaries have already made it constitutional for him to appoint Federal judges.

The only immediate way to avert anarchy is for the Justices to rule that they are empowered to appoint their own successors.

To Comrade Stalin:

I strongly suggest that you make an investigation into the opinions of a writer by the name of Karl Marx who seems to be very often referred to by such heretics as Trotsky and Bukharin. From a cursory perusal of some of his writings I am led to suspect that he is not only an internationalist, but that certain of his beliefs may lead to doubt in the policy of the Russian state as revealed by the general secretary of the Communist aristocracy.

To the Yeshiva Administration:

The new attendance regulations may sound very impressive and may be a step in the right direction, but such moves do seem like ploughing the mountain-side with a thumb tack. Dynamite would do the job somewhat better. Also, the autocratic control of the students' economic activities seems somewhat superfluous.

To New York's Finest:

Not everyone who takes an interest in what happens on the picket lines is a representative of the Daily Worker. The group that walked up and down ten times in front of the Hotel Astor when you were trying to prevent a crowd from loitering around the pickets consisted of incumbent and retired Commentator men testing the efficacy of their press cards. Incidentally, we got the story from the men leading the picketing despite your precautions.

Jews seeking refuge in the synagogue during the pogrom.

Probably the most impressive part of the production was the second act with its magnificent scenes of the Jews in Egypt and the cult of the golden calf. The Midrashic story of Moses' death which closes this act is perhaps the aesthetic as well as symbolic climax of the play.

In The Editor's Mail Box

To the Editor of the Commentator: Dear Sir:

With Commencement looming only several weeks ahead, it is not difficult to foresee that before long the perennial problem of awards will be with us again.

Those who remember the grievances seniors had in past years, when awards were distributed without any publication of requirements or standards, will certainly be apprehensive lest the same unjustified, high-handed methods prevail again this year, despite the fight waged by last year's class.

The administration's failure to make the standards of awards known to students cannot fail to breed distrust, suspicion and antagonism on the part of seniors who have not the slightest idea of what criteria are or upon what bases honors are distributed.

I would suggest that concrete action with regard to this be undertaken by the student administration immediately.

Seniors have every right to this information well in advance of the end of the term.

By ABE NOVICK

HOME VICTORIES

Once upon a time some earnest individual intensely interested in carving a name for himself in Life's Hall of Fame, and feeling the urge of rationalizing his unsocial feelings of laziness, concocted the idea of "Home Sweet Home." Home might have been "sweet" to our friend but the adjective doesn't amply describe the feelings of our basketball artists towards their home court.

The present Yeshiva quintet had been continuing, as in the days of yore, to neatly drop game after game to their opponents, when suddenly victories began to roll in. N. Y. U. School of Commerce was defeated by an overwhelming score; N.Y.U. School of Dentistry was soundly trounced; Riis House was given the old "heave-ho"; and Webb Institute went the way of all flesh to avenge an earlier defeat, for Yeshiva's fourth straight victory, and fifth straight game without defeat.

In all these games the Blue and White's opponents were unable to amass even twenty points, so effectively were they defeated. Our players used the zone defense practically throughout each game, preventing the visiting players to work any men into scoring position.

The zone defense is an extremely useful weapon in preventing scoring. It is especially effective on the Yeshiva court with its low ceiling. A team on the offence usually resorts to set shots when accosted with "zone" playing. Such play strategy however, is unwise when applied in Yeshiva, for the ball usually strikes the ceiling.

It is interesting to note that the zone defense has been recently prohibited by professional basketball. "Zone" is definitely a handicap to the game, making it dull and uninteresting. Coach Bea of L. I. U. came out recently with the statement that his "Bees" will not compete with any team what-so-ever, that employs the zone defense. In the meantime, however, despite the furor that is raging over the benefits of "zone," Yeshiva will continue to use it as long as the numbers rise in the victory column.

Blue And White Defeats Webb For Fourth In Row

Score Easy Win As Victors Avenge Earlier Defeat

Yeshiva added Webb Institute of Naval Architecture to its list of successive victories in a return game played on the home court Wednesday night. The Blue team, which had dropped the first game of the season to Webb on the Institute court, redeemed itself by the score of Yeshiva 29, Webb 13.

Both teams played a very slow game, showing occasional spurts of speed, and fumbled the ball frequently. Yeshiva kept in the lead almost throughout and scored soon after the first tap, Avrick sinking the ball from the side. Irv Koslovsky scored twice in this first period but Webb climbed up to end the quarter with the score Yeshiva 6, Webb 7.

The game continued at its slow pace and was marred additionally by poor shooting and passing. The Quinchoplets scored again immediately after the tap, Koslovsky starring. Captain Max Levy followed this with a short dribble and lay-up to score; Avrick, new midget star, then dribbled through the whole court to score, ending the half, Yeshiva 12, Webb 9.

The second half began with little improvement in form. Even "Ironman" Max Levy joined his teammates in missing foul shots and easy lay-ups. In spite of this, Yeshiva was able to come through with additional points, the third quarter ending, Yeshiva 20, Webb 13.

The final quarter saw some thrilling shots by both teams, Eisenberg bouncing the ball back into the basket after Avrick's long shot failed. Goldklang and Koslovsky, high scorer of the game, also put in some nice side shots. The final score was Yeshiva 29, Webb 13.

of Pinsk. The game really should have been played in Minsk, but the umpires were on strike at that city, preventing any play there. The final score turned out to be Omsk-100, Tomsk-0.

This situation however was altogether against the principles of Communism, so a special committee met and decided to divide the score between the two teams, the final being 50-50.

Omsk previously was a mediocre team, and it was puzzling to see such an overwhelming change in form. But this was settled when it was discovered that the manager of Tomsk was on the committee. The Tomsk players had been aware of the Communist principles and simply took life easy by drinking tea sitting near their positions. Omsk had a good workout.

Chess Team Draws With St. Peters

Absence of Charney Ruins Possible Match Victory

The Yeshiva College chess team met St. Peters College last Sunday evening in the former's club rooms, in a four board chess match, the game resulting in a draw 2-2. The match might have resulted in a victory for Yeshiva if Charney the scheduled No. 2 man had appeared. His game naturally went to his opponent by forfeit.

George Silver '37 defeated W. Cooper in 37 moves; B. Sincoff '39 lost to S. Swierzbinski in 45 moves; E. Rawitt won his game by forfeit; and B. Susman '40 playing White defeated H. McFarland of St. Peters for Yeshiva's second victory.

NYU DENTISTRY LOSES TO YESHIVA HOOPSTERS

Yeshiva College swamped N. Y. U. Dentistry by the overwhelming score of 44-19. Dentistry could not penetrate the zone defense employed by Yeshiva, going down to defeat. The score at the end of the first quarter was 11-0, and at the end of the half 20-4 in Yeshiva's favor.

Yeshiva College defeated N. Y. Commerce by the score of 30-17 on the former's court, for their third victory of the season. Max Levy starred as he scored 14 points in an exciting game. The score at the end of the half was Yeshiva 19, Commerce 7.

YESHIVA SWAMPS RIIS HOUSE 20-13

Chalk Up Third Straight Victory In Rough Game

Last Tuesday night saw Yeshiva hand Riis House a sound drubbing to hang up their third straight victory. From the opening whistle the smoother functioning of the Blue and White Five left little doubt as to the eventual outcome. Except for one desperate rally by the visitors at the close of the half, which brought the score to 20-13, our quintet was never in any danger and maintained a comfortable lead. In the closing moments of the game Coach Trupin sent in all the subs he had, to put almost an entire second team on the floor. The visitors got the jump and the ball was circling around in the hoop before the Yeshivites realized what was going on. But on the next play Yeshiva took the ball down the floor and on a beautiful pivot by Avrick evened the score. Levy followed with a lay-up to put his team-mates in the lead. The pace became torrid after that and both teams began to miss badly on lay-up shots after racing down the field. Yeshiva managed to miss a few less shots than Riis House and the quarter ended with the boys leading 12-3.

Riis House put on their best showing of the evening in the second quarter to outscore the Yeshivites 10-7. With Tannahey leading their attack the visitors sank some brilliant shots. But even in this quarter the ease with which the Trupin-coached lads penetrated the opponents' defense showed that our boys had the goods. The half ended with Yeshiva ahead 20-13.

King football came into its own in the third quarter with the boys clasping each other devotedly about the necks and playfully shoving each other out of bounds. Capt. Levy demonstrated an innovation in basketball by sinking a field goal from a horizontal position and then passing out. Sonny Eisenberg then surprised himself and everybody else by sinking three field goals in rapid succession.

With the game on ice Coach Trupin sent in his subs, who managed to keep the play under control until the final whistle gave the game to the Yeshiva quinchoplets 37-19.

Three years ago the local cops got the idea of chaining the wheels of all illegally parked cars. It worked fine until a faculty member parked carelessly.

Quotable Quotes: "One may sympathize with struggling youth," says Pres. Wilbur of Stanford University in urging higher medical standards, "but one should sympathize more with future patients."

Play bridge and make money, is the suggestion of Oxford University's magazine, Isis, to students. Its suggestion is inspired by publication of Culbertson's annual income. There's something in this bridge, and it looks like money. While professional tennis is overcrowded, professional bridge still has a future. And Yeshiva has it.

Attention Pinks! The first derivative of a function with respect to time is your stomach feels.

Forsaking a cow? After attending his first construction in cow milking, a Yeshiva University freshman in the Agriculture department wanted to know what they did with empty cows. Would you call it a cow?

"Pay according to service to society," is the motto of St. Petersburg. The dean of the University of Florida gets $341 per year. The key sales for the state are $400.

Florida's governor has paid $325 a month; the state's racing superintendent is paid $780. The race track veterinarian gets $650 a month during the racing season; the president of the University of Florida gets $600, having made the mistake of not becoming a horse doctor. I ask you, darl men gain to college?

PING PONG TOURNAMENT

All college students desiring to participate in the ping pong tournament beginning Wednesday evening, February 17th, should hand in their names to Jerry... on or before Monday, February 15th. Positively no late entries accepted after the above mentioned deadline. The game will be regularly held from 11:00 to 11:30. All are invited to take advantage of this.

 tion of the Jews who come to lectures. Those who have the courage to take their seats on the right side deserve the deepest esteem. A few days ago, brutal persons tried to beat up a Belgian scientist from Brussels who happened to be a Jew and who would not stay on the left side of the classroom. Why is no effort made to prevent rioting and attacks? Why is no protection given to Jewish students either by the university or the police?"

DRAMATIC SOCIETY PLANS UNDER WAY

 Various aspects of the group's plans will be discussed, chief among them being the difficulty of costuming the large cast which the play requires. Further to be considered at the meeting is the establishment of a working schedule to assure completion of the production at the earliest possible date.

Record of Games Played In Tournament

The following is the official record of a game played between George Silver of Yeshiva and Wm. Henkin of N. Y. U. The game was played during the Intercollegiate Tournament a few weeks ago. Henkin played Black, using an irregular Petroff defense.

 inaugurating this semester's series of forums on the 17th of February.

The new board is to consist of Dr. A. Margolish, faculty advisor, N. Levinson '38, chairman, I. Miller '38, vice-chairman, A. Kaplan '37, recording secretary, B. Kreitman '39, corresponding secretary and A. Lewis '38, publicity man. A. Kaplan and H. Polikoff, last semester's president and secretary respectively, have resigned due to the heavy programs they are carrying this term.

- 1 B-K2 better.
- 2 Not P-K5, P-KR3; P-Kt, PxB, PxP, R-Kt and Wins.
- 3 If Q-Q4+, K-Kt3 and Black defends successfully, or Q-Q4+, K-B3; Q-Q5+, K-B sq., QxB and Black has a better position.
- 4 Clever but not sound. QxKt; B-Kt3+, K-Rsq.; R-Kt3!!; RxB; QxK and Black wins without the Queen.
- 5 Loses a rook.
- 6 Forced or mate in one move.
- 7 R-R3 wins the pawn but P-KR3 maintains the pressure.
- 8 Grasping the last straw.

PROGRAM CHANGED

From tobacco farm to shipping room... at every stage in the making of Chesterfield Cigarettes... Job Number One is to see that Chesterfields are made to Satisfy.

In the fields... at the auction markets... and in the storage warehouses... Job Number One is to see that Chesterfield tobaccos are MILD and RIPE.

In the Blending Department Job Number One is to "weld" our home-grown tobaccos with aromatic Turkish to the exact Chesterfield formula.

In the Cutting and Making Departments Job Number One is to cut the tobacco into long clean shreds and roll it in pure cigarette paper.

Job number One... Chesterfields are made to give you the things you enjoy in a cigarette... refreshing mildness... pleasing taste and aroma. They Satisfy.
