ANNUAL AWARDS DISTRIBUTED AT FINAL ASSEMBLY

Medals, Letters Given For Participation In School Service

LEVIN HONORED

Rosenthal Receives Prize For Excellence In Journalism

The annual distribution of awards to students who participated in extra-curricular activities was made at the last assembly of the year held on Monday afternoon in the synagogue. Abe Avrech '40, athletic manager, handed out the sports letters, while Bernard Poupko '39, chairman of the Awards Committee, presented the service prizes.

Members of the basketball team were given major "Y's" while participants in tennis activity received minor letters. Avrech also presented numerals to the Sophomore intramural basketball champions, and announced that prizes will be given in the near future to the yet undetermined intramural baseball winners. Henry Margolh '42, winner of the pingpong tournament held during the current semester, was given a special award.

After a short address in which he stressed the significance of the various awards, Poupko distributed the service prizes. Following the presentation of the various individual medals, members of the debating team and Masmid staff were rewarded.

A. Leo Levin '39, president, was honored with a special gift from the student body consisting of three volumes of the "Sefer Ha'agadah" in appreciation of his achievements during his term in office.

Another special award, the Feuerstein Journalism Medal was given to Julius Rosenthal '42 by Arnold J. Miller '39, editor-in-chief of the Commentator. This award is given annually to the member of the Commentator staff who is chosen by the governing board as an outstanding prospect in the future for the publication.

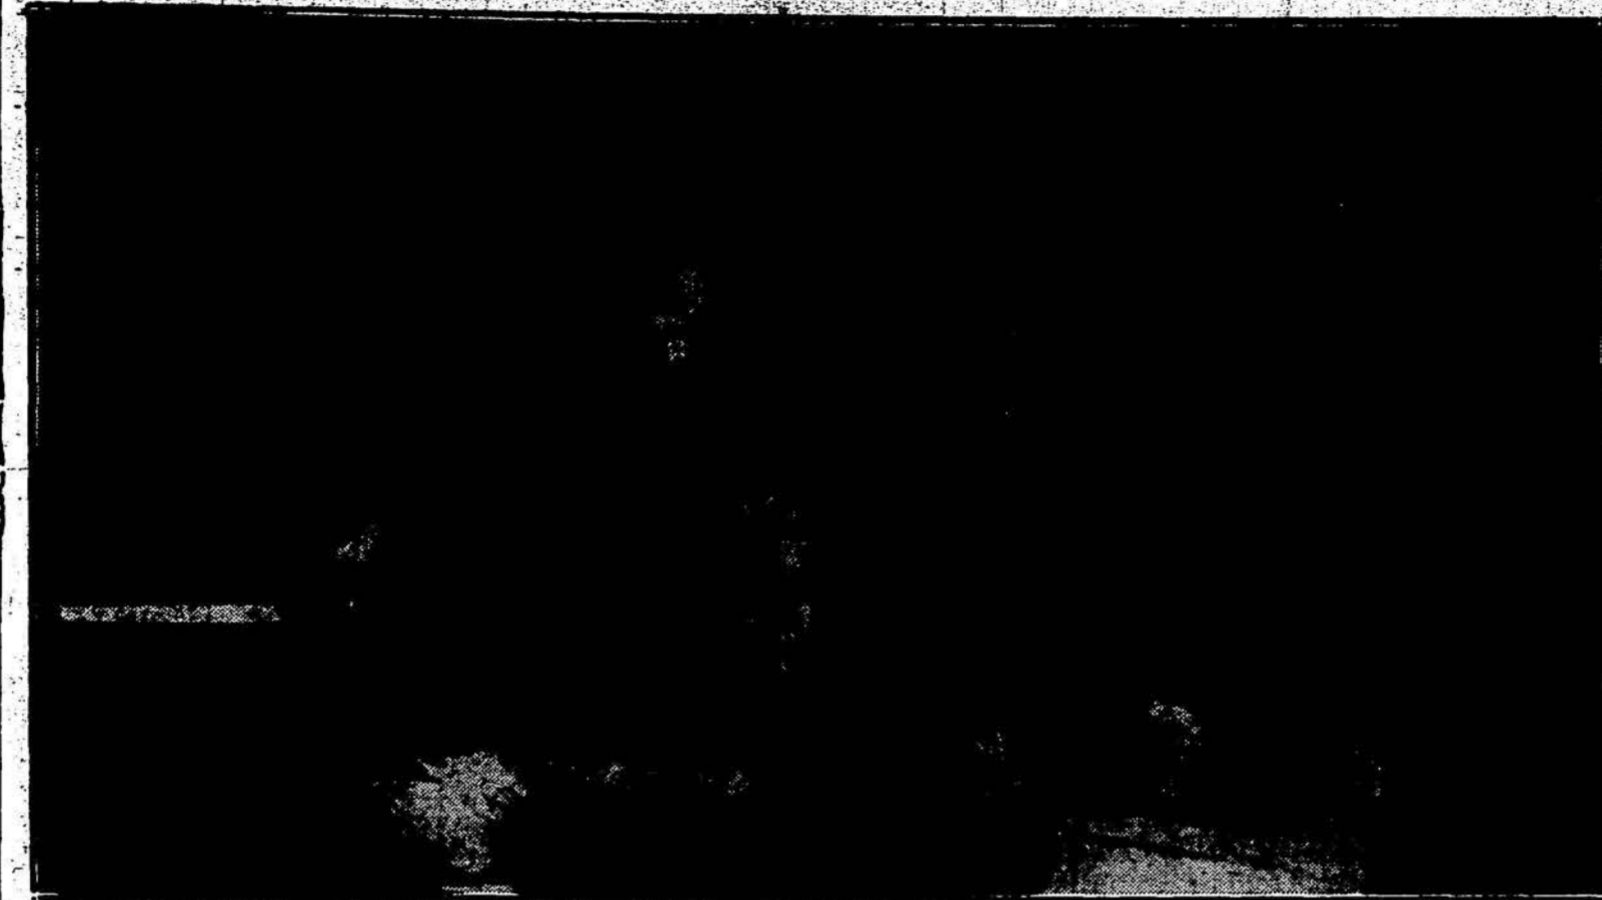

Levin, following the tradition of former years, turned the meeting over to president-elect Jacob Goldman '40 who officially adjourned the gathering.

CLASSES CHOOSE 1939-1940 OFFICERS

Henry Zeisel and Sidney Merwin were elected president and vice-president respectively of the Juniors in the class elections held last week. Martin Hinchin was chosen as secretary. On the Sophomore slate, Saul Gopin and Pinchus Dachowitz gained the top positions, with Jerome Rosenbloom and Gabriel Schonfeld winning the posts of secretary and athletic manager. Victorious in the Freshman class were Morris Epstein, who was made president, and Joseph Sokolow, elected vice-president. The frosh also chose Oscar Reichel as secretary, and David Massis as athletic manager.

Assemblies, Seminars Banquet Comprise Day's Program

SCHOLARSHIPS GIVEN

Three Will Be Granted To Undergraduates For Coming Year

A series of four seminars, covering the most vital problems which confront American Orthodox Judaism today, featured the celebration of the eleventh anniversary of the granting of a charter to Yeshiva College, held last Sunday under the auspices of the Alumni Association.

Culminating the gala festivities was the annual banquet for the alumni, faculty, and their guests, at which Joseph Kamnitsky '32, chairman of the Charter Day committee, announced the grant by the Alumni Association of three undergraduate scholarships for the coming year.

The day's activities opened with a general convocation in the Harry Fischel Synagogue, Kamnitsky acting as chairman. After the invocation delivered by Rabbi Abraham Avrutler '34, the greetings of the student body were extended to the returning alumni and to their guests by Arnold J. Miller '39, editor-in-chief of the Commentator.

In the main address on the subject, "The Challenge of the Yeshiva Man in the Modern World", Dr. Leo Jung, professor of ethics, pointed to the abject economic conditions now prevailing, the complete ignorance of Jewish life which characterizes the Jewish home, and the gradual elimination of more rural contacts in Jewish life, as the vital problems facing the Yeshiva graduate at the present time.

The four seminars, held simultaneously in various parts of the building, witnessed the participation of many members of the Alumni. The topics for the discussion groups included "Orthodox Judaism in American—An Evaluation," with Dr. Sidney B. Hoening, instructor of Jewish History, as chairman; "Zionism Today—Its Factions and Ideologies," with Joseph Kamnitsky presiding; "The Status of Jewish Education—An Analysis," Jacob I. Hartstein '32, registrar, chairman; and "The Jewish Community at Work—A Sociological Survey," with Israel Uppin '32 officiating. Each of these commissions consisted of speeches on various subtopics of the general subject as well as questions from members of the audience.

Summaries of the seminars were delivered at the general assembly held at 5:30 p.m. in the synagogue. Although differing in various details, all the reports of the chairmen emphasized the great cleavage between ideal and reality and expressed the hope that traditional Judaism will ultimately triumph over the forces which are seeking to annihilate it.

Hyman Chanover '41, president of the Sophomore class and winner of last year's Feuerstein Journalism award, will be editor-in-chief of the Commentator for the year 1939-40, the incumbent governing board announced yesterday.

Other positions on the governing board will be filled by Ephraim F. Mandelcorn '41 as managing editor and Julius Rosenthal '42 in the capacity of news editor. Abraham Karp '42 will fill the position of sports editor, while Philip Gorodetzer '40, takes over the business managership.

Conforming to tradition, this issue of the Commentator has been written and edited by the new staff, under the guidance of the outgoing board.

Rosenthal is also this year's recipient of the Feuerstein Medal for Journalism, thus setting a precedent by being the first student to receive both honors in the same year. The Feuerstein Medal is awarded annually to the member of the Commentator staff who shows outstanding promise in journalistic work.

Music Week Display Is Held In Library

Celebrating National Music Week, May 7-14, the library featured an extensive display with the purpose of spreading music appreciation among Yeshiva students.

Besides drawings of famous composers by Al Wiesel '42, the exhibit also showed such famous scores and librettos as Verdi's "Othello", Flotow's "Martha", Pinchelli's "La Gioconda" and many others. Books which were featured in the display included biographies of famous musical personalities, and volumes of general interest to music lovers.

Chanover, who takes the position now held by Arnold J. Miller '39, is a native of Brooklyn and a graduate of the Talmudical Academy. His record includes membership in Student Council for the past two years and service on the Commentator news staff since his freshman year.

Mandelcorn was chosen for the post of managing editor after working on the Commentator for two years. Starting as an associate news staff member while a freshman, he attained his new position via service in the news staff this

Schneiderman Talks About Jew - Baiting

Mr. Harry Schneiderman, assistant secretary of the American Jewish Committee, addressed the International Relations Club at its final meeting of the year last night on "Methods-Old and New in Combatting Anti-Jewish Agitation".

The speaker, who has been editor of the American Jewish Year Book for the last 30 years opened his lecture with a discussion of the chief causes of anti-Semitism in America. Racial persecution has its roots in the World War and exists today because of the present economic depression, he declared.

Mr. Schneiderman continued his speech with a statement that American Jewry can do very little to eliminate anti-Semitic feeling in Europe. However, he suggested that the situation in America might be alleviated by a system of mass education through which all misconceptions about the Jew would be gradually eradicated.

year. His home is in Montreal, where he was graduated from Strathcona Academy before coming to Yeshiva.

Having been on the associate news staff since last September, when he entered Yeshiva, Rosenthal replaces Philip Kaplan '39, with the distinction of being the first freshman to be appointed news editor. He brings with him a record as the president of the literary society of his school in Baltimore, and the literary editor of his school paper.

Karp, who will occupy the post vacated by Jacob Goldman '40, president-elect of Student Council, was graduated from the Talmudical Academy while president of the student body, and had the added honor of being the valedictorian of his class. He is a resident of the Bronx.

Gorodetzer, who comes from Dorchester, Mass., has hitherto held the post of assistant business manager of the Commentator. In his new capacity he will be assisted by Mortimer Greenberg '42.

T. I. Graduation To Be Held On May 28

The largest graduating class in the history of the Teachers Institute, will participate in the commencement exercises to be held on Sunday, May 28, Dr. Pinkhos Churgin, principal, announced.

Guest speakers for the occasion will include: Dr. Jacob Hoffman, former chief rabbi of Frankfort-Am-Main, Rabbi B. D. Leventhal of Philadelphia, and Ephraim Kaplan of the Jewish Morning Journal. Dr. Bernard Revel will deliver the main address, followed by Simon [unclear], who will speak as class valedictorian.

A Semi-Revival

For the first time in the eleven year history of Yeshiva College a most proper celebration of Charter Day was executed, marking the epitome of all former convocations and testimonials sponsored by the Alumni Association.

The keynote of the proceedings as expressed by the chairman of the general assembly was to articulate the attitude of Torah towards the perplexities pertinent to our day and age. Impending problems which entailed the whole of Jewish life were indeed encountered in the various discussions. Alumni who had returned to peruse their native haunts were at last grappling with elusive questions both national and local in scope. The main themes for the seminars included thorough reviews of Orthodoxy in America, the ideologies and factions in Zionism today, the status of Jewish education, and the Jewish community at work. Although most of the addresses revolved about the same point, they were extremely educational in value to the undergraduates present.

The significance of this innovation lies in its enormous implications for the near future and not in the disheartening fact that many members of this important organization have not as yet realized to the fullest extent their position in Yeshiva life. It also manifests the potentialities of a fairly united and revitalized force working from without in correlation with those functions within. Most encouraging of all, however, is the rendering of an inestimable service to the institution through the contribution of three full scholarships for the coming year, thus indicating that the link between the two functions is ever tightening.

Despite the widespread competition offered by the World's Fair, a Mizrahi convention and Mother's Day, the leaders of the organization succeeded in publicizing the affair quite adequately. The insincerity and apparent lack of interest on the part of the absent alumni, however, obviates all possibilities of lauding the body too highly. Although from this point of view, the graduates have once again shirked from their duties towards the alma mater, nevertheless, it is our conviction that their elaborate and educational program heralds a new standard in Charter Day celebrations. We sincerely hope that the coming affair will be marked by solidified and intensified cooperation from every individual alumnus and we are looking forward to the day when a capacity audience will be a matter of routine rather than a total surprise.

Appeasement

Pseudo-democratic Britain whose benevolence in the past has been for the most part questionable, has once again launched upon a great betrayal. World Jewry is buzzing with vehement protestations following the affirmed rumors concerning the contents of England's White Paper plan. This system entails the setting up of an independent Palestinian state with the Jews occupying the position of a permanent minority.

As if to pour more salt upon our wounds, the English Cabinet has announced the acceptance of a report on British Guiana. The report places considerable hope in that forlorn jungle with its insurmountable difficulties as a permanent settlement for Jewish refugees. Three thousand young pioneers, men and women alike, fleeing from the hell that is Central Europe are expected to experiment with the Guiana swamps—mere guinea pigs in the hands of a snickering and perfidious Albion.

No matter what amount of effort it exerts, the English government cannot and will not be able to conceal those political subterfuges that motivated her recent action. She is obviously attempting to checkmate the Balfour Declaration and set up a ghetto in a Jewish state, thus ending Zionism as a living growth.

Even those few veritably stalwart supporters of Zionism in Parliament have not appraised the movement for what it really portends. Little do they comprehend what the cessation of Jewish expansion of colonial settlements, cooperation in economic enterprises, and immigration of persecuted ones mean to world Jewry. Even less thought is given to Palestine as a center of activity for Israel's untold adventures, heroisms, and martyrdoms.

Never in the history of mankind has another people emulated the Jewish saga of spiritual and materialistic fructification of its native land. There, without publicity and propaganda, without the beating of drums and gallant blare of a thousand trumpets, groups of pioneers are transforming both arid and infested wastelands into flourishing settlements. At a time when murder is at a premium, many an unsung martyr is caught unawares by Arab snipers, many exhale their last breath with a prayer for Palestine on their parched lips, while still others repel the unbridled hordes of attackers in the face of heavy firing and savage bestiality. With one hand the Arab terror is quelled while with the other a field is ploughed—a task counter-balanced once before in the cycle of history.

Zionism is at present in a very hazardous position. American Jewish statesmen and laymen cannot afford to become indolent at such a critical time when our ideal lies prostrate before the feet of political connivers. The World Zionist Organization is at this very moment envisaging a world-wide mobilization of funds and man-power to demonstrate its opposition. World Jewry must fling the gauntlet and take a firm stand against that power which showers us with betrayals and yet endeavors to proffer amity by appeasing us with unfertile, inaccessible, and unhealthful heaths.

Rumor has it that Il Duce is silently envious of the success of Hitler's "Mein Kampf" and intends to publish his own work entitled "I, the People".

The outgoing governing board and the members of the staff would like to express their profound appreciation to the employees of the Bergen Press Corporation for their invaluable assistance in the publication of The Commentator, throughout the past year.

Maybe I'm Right

By ARNOLD J. MILLER

Before passing into peaceful oblivion like so many of our former students and before rigor mortis sets in to put an end to any more enforced thinking perhaps it would be well to evaluate and record a few of the more pertinent happenings of the past year.

Although the student administration began its functions with fervor and gusto, it soon ran into an unexpected political squall. Fighting for the improvement of conditions in the dining room, which had reached a new low in management, it found itself before long fighting a greater battle—a battle against all the evil forces and influences which have ever been like a heavy fetter preventing the Yeshiva from achieving its true status.

Despite the fact that these forces could not be overcome by its single strength, the student administration did manage to salvage a semi-victory from the storm in the form of the long desired Dining Room Committee.

Soon after came a series of ugly rumors and reports about a threatened faculty split and about internal difficulties, all of which appeared serious at the time. Again by virtue of its determined support of the present college administration and by its adopting of a level-headed policy towards the situation, the storm petered out and proved to be a "tempest in a tea-pot".

As the year progressed much of the attention of the student administration was taken up by the question of refugee students, of whom, incidentally, Yeshiva has a greater number than any college in the country, of cooperating with other schools in intercollegiate functions through the means of conventions, discussions, and forums. Through these media, the name of Yeshiva College reached circles where hitherto it was little known.

Then came an innovation which is perhaps the most fundamentally important event of the entire year—that of the establishment of an Executive Committee of the faculty to assume equal responsibility with Dr. Isaacs for the management of school affairs. How important this committee will be for the future can best be judged by the many laudable activities which it has already instituted. Individual problems have been attacked in a logical and understanding manner and many of the fundamental difficulties inherent in the process of "synthesis" such as hours, health, and motivation are being treated conscientiously. If the committee can achieve solutions to these problems, its claim to Yeshiva history will have been established.

In conclusion, a summary of the year 1938-39 would be incomplete without special emphasis on the markedly improved attitude of cooperation and enthusiasm for extra-curricular social activities. Class Nite, this year, achieved a remarkable success—one which it will be difficult to surpass next year. This enthusiasm is indeed desirable and leads to the better, saner, and more balanced Yeshiva life which is the goal of all its students.

NETMEN GARNER INITIAL VICTORY

Defeat Essex In Close Match, 5 1/2-3 1/2

By HENRY MARGOLIS

Tasting victory for the first time in its history, the blue and white tennis team triumphed over Essex Junior College 5 1/2-3 1/2, last Sunday, on the loser's courts. The match was bitterly fought, each set being gained only after the contestants had been extended to the limit.

By far the best tennis of the afternoon was displayed in the three doubles matches, two of which were taken by Yeshiva. M. Hinchin '40 teamed up with I. Bard '40 to take a long drawn out contest, 6-4, 2-6, 7-5. Close backcourt coordination marked their triumph in the hour and a quarter match. The other doubles victory was gained rather easily as Rabineau and Fredman swept their adversaries from the court to the tune of 6-1, 6-4. Co-captains S. Aber '40 and J. Goldman '40, first and second men respectively for Yeshiva, fell prey to the superior net play of the Essex opponents 6-3, 6-1.

Aber, playing the number one position against Captain Kidd of Essex in the singles, thrilled the gallery with a startling comeback after dropping the first set 6-0. Despite fierce competition furnished by Aber, the Essex captain took a heart-breaking second set by an 8-6 score.

Probably the most interesting match was the contest between Goldman and M. Smith, the Essex County Junior champ, who combined genuine tennis ability and a flare for comedy, to keep the gallery in an uproar, while subduing Goldman 6-4, 6-2.

Yeshiva's number three man, I. Bard, playing superb tennis, overcame an advantage which his opponent, P. Markowitz, held at one point of the match and came back to take the first set 9-7, in a furious struggle. The next set was called at 1-1 because of approaching darkness and each team was awarded one-half point.

In the other matches Rabineau, playing in the fourth spot for Yeshiva, defeated S. Berdine 8-6, 6-3; Strum, Yeshiva's fifth man downed B. Sagerman 9-7, 6-4; and Fredman of Yeshiva, breezed through the final match taking J. Klentz 6-3, 6-2.

Juniors, Sophs Will Hold Joint Boatripe

An all-day boat ride up the Hudson River to Bear Mountain will be held on May 30, Decoration Day, under the joint auspices of the Junior and Sophomore Classes. All members of the student body have been invited to attend the outing.

Tickets may be procured from Philip Gorodetzer '40, Leonard Azneer '41, or Elvin Kosofsky '41.

SOPHS' LEAD CUT IN INTRA-MURALS

Juniors Now Trail By One-Half Game

The sophomores retained their intramural baseball leadership, despite a 1-0 setback, suffered at the hands of the juniors in a thrilling pitcher's battle. Superb hurling by Koslovsky '40, an airtight junior defense, and Wohl-gelernter's costly error, all contributed to the sophs' lone defeat.

In an exciting double header played last Wednesday at the Jay Hood Wright Park, the sophomores combined timely hitting with steady fielding to take both contests from the freshmen 5-2, 5-0. The games were featured by Rabinowitz's effective pitching, Kosofsky's powerful slugging, and "Tiny" Heller's three run homer in the nightcap.

The juniors continued their winning streak by defeating the frosh in a free hitting game, played last Friday at Yeshiva's home field. Schwartz, the junior's starting pitcher, was nicked for four runs in the first inning, and was replaced by Koslovsky, who allowed two more runners to cross the plate. This was of little consequence, however, as the juniors hammered away to a 12-6 victory.

The seniors, last year's champs, forfeited their six games, to drop into last place, with the juniors and freshmen occupying second and third positions respectively.

KOSLOVSKY REELECTED

Irving Koslovsky '40, was unanimously re-elected captain of the basketball varsity at a recent meeting of the squad. Although handicapped by the lack of a coach, Koslovsky managed to lead the team to a successful season last year, in his capacity as captain, as evidenced by a favorable won-and-lost record.

ATH. MGR. NAMES AIDES

The appointment of Milton Kramer '42, and Sidney Reiss '42 as assistant sport directors, was announced by Mayer Abramowitz '40, athletic manager. The duties of the new aides will be to carry on correspondence, and help in the arrangement of all schedules.

the college, delivered the main address at the assembly in which he condemned Britain as the great betrayer of the Jewish trust. "The Jewish people will outlive the Chamberlains and the MacDonalds, as it has outlived its Roman persecutors." Dr. Revel declared.

Close to a hundred persons attended the banquet held in the evening in the Riets Reception Hall. With Hyman Muss '32, president of the Alumni Association, as chairman, a varied program of speaker and entertainers featured the night's festivities. Mr. Arthur Price, chairman of the Yeshiva College Sponsors Committee and active participant in many of the outstanding events held by the institution, was the principal speaker of the evening. Discussing the subject "The Yeshiva College and American Democracy," Mr. Price emphasized the important role which education in general and which Yeshiva College in particular must play in combatting all the anti-liberal and anti-Semitic forces which at present are rapidly growing in proportions.

Mr. Price was followed by Dr. Moses L. Isaacs, assistant to the president, who briefly reviewed the achievements attained by the college during the past year and expressed the hope for the continued cooperation of the alumni in the school's activities.

The entertainment at the dinner consisted of several musical selections offered by Cantor Samuel Seidelman of the East Flatbush Jewish Center and two Yiddish monologues by the famous monologist, Mr. Sidney Halpern.
