Dr. Delatour Talks On Civic Leaders

"In a time of crisis, in a civil war on an international basis, the rural population will look for its leader among the military men, the dictator, while the urban people will seek their leader in an intellectual, a make-believer, a demagogue," declared Dr. Gottfried Delatour, professor of Sociology at Yeshiva College, in a discussion on "Leadership", at the first fireside-chat of the year held on Tuesday, November 7, at 8: p.m. in Riets Hall.

Dr. Delatour stated that either one of these rulers is a despot and dominator whose main conception is the misanthropic view of man. He dominates by popular consent obtained through a plebiscite, but never with the consent of various political groups. The leader wears the mask of something which constitutes the counterpart of an idea. He considers it his job to preserve the "raison d'etat" and to educate the people by dictating reason to them.

"The best means of attaining such a dictatorship is through the revival of a magic ritual, a political religion," Dr. Delatour asserted. "The political life itself has nothing to do with rationalism. Possibilities, chances, opportunities are the magic of politics which offer the answer to the "why" in political life."

The magic of politics offers a new political gospel and leads to hero worship. Even many atheists in Western Europe were taken in by this magic because of Man's need for a belief. In Eastern Europe the political magic never constituted a problem because the ruler was the temporary and temporal ruler. He is god on earth. This is, for example, Lenin's conception of a ruler.

In closing, Dr. Delatour remarked that we have reached the stage at which the peasant element is being totally eliminated. "The many slogans which the despots of our times try to sell us are catch phrases which have no counterpart in reality. For our understanding of politics, then, we have to rely on logic and the ethics of stupidity," the speaker concluded.

Lecture Given At Classical Society

Professor Maurice E. Chernowitz, assistant professor of French and Spanish, lectured at this year's inaugural meeting of Eranos, Yeshiva's classical society, on Monday evening, November 6, in Riets Hall. Speaking on the topic, "Modern and Classical Art," Professor Chernowitz illustrated the close alliance between modern and classical art and showed the development of art from the classic to the modern period.

Professor Chernowitz indicated many instances in modern art which show a very definite return to the tastes of classic times. With the extensive use of slides, Professor Chernowitz pointed out the particular traits of the masters in the various arts, and how they affected the mainstream of art development.

Stanley Siegel '52, presided over the meeting.

New Television Sets On Sale at Y.C. Co-op

Television sets are now on sale at the Co-operative Stores in line with the new services in electrical appliances being offered this year. The Co-op will be able to secure by order a'l makes and models of radio, television, and phonograph sets at reduced prices, announced Al Roth '51, manager of the store.

A new shipment of pocket books has arrived and are now available at the book store, announced Isadore Tennenberg '52, chairman.

Blazing Hearth Kindles Muse; Fantasia Begins Riets Series

By Leon Kestenbaum

Under the auspices of the Dramatic Society and with the full sanction of Fire-Commissioner Quayle, this year's first fireside fantasia was held on Monday, October 31, in Riets Hall. Appropriately enough, the meeting was opened by the lighting of the fireplace, which was done with flaming zeal by Bill Solomon. As Mr. Solomon was performing fiery duties, he was accompanied by the humming of "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town, Tonight."

The formalities being concluded, the gathering settled back in their seats to listen to the program. First on the agenda was Aryeh Seagull, rendering several modern Hebrew selection on his "Chalil," (flute). This was followed by the spontaneous singing of some of the songs that had just been played, with everybody getting into the act.

Up from the assembled sprang a pot bellied Duke of Ferrara, who used his best "London" accent for the occasion, and went on to long for his last duchess for a few long minutes.

George Marcus then read a selection about Irving Berlin. Not to be out-done by his fellow Worcesterite, Lacey Burack redeemed his harmonica from the pawn shop and proceeded to play something which bore a vague resemblance to "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

Debating Varsity Schedules Meets

The Yeshiva College Debating Society has scheduled the toughest program in its history this year. For the month of November, twelve home-home debates have been slated with Brooklyn College, New York University, Columbia University, Fordham University, U.S. Military Academy, and Queens College.

In the Brooklyn College debate, held Thursday, November 9, Nissan Shulman '52 and Joe Schwartz '51 represented Yeshiva, and on Thursday, November 16, Stanley Siegel '52 and Gilbert Rosenthal '53 will go against N.Y.U. Perry London '52 and David Rosenhan '51 are tentatively scheduled for the West Point debate on Tuesday, November 28.

The topic to be debated throughout the country is: "Resolved: that the non-Communist nations should form a new international organization." Under the guidance of Dr. David Fleisher, associate professor of English, and faculty advisor to the Debating Society, three meetings have been held, during which a thorough drilling in all the arguments took place, and various plans of attack were prepared.

French Club Program Outlined At Meeting

The four major activities of the Cercle Francais, Yeshiva College French Club, were outlined at its first meeting of the year, on Friday, November 3, in Room 423, by Joseph Erushalmi '52. These plans include lectures, Flambeau, French movies, and conversation groups.

Elaborating on these points, Mr. Erushalmi stated that professors of other universities will be invited to deliver lectures on topics of French interest. Inaugurating this series, Professor Jean Bede, a graduate French professor at Columbia, will lecture on Balzac.

This year, the Flambeau, Y. C.'s French annual will appear in its tenth anniversary issue emphasizing Franco-Jewish topics.

French movies, documentary and feature, will be shown at the meetings and at other regular intervals.

The conversation groups will meet every Tuesday evening, at 6:30 p.m. affording an opportunity to students to speak French and sing French songs.

Y. U. Choir Prepares For Debut At Festival

The Yeshiva University Choral Group held its first meeting on Thursday evening, October 26, in Riets Hall, under the direction of Emanuel Forman '53.

Mr. Forman announced that the group is preparing for its initial performance which will be at the annual College Music Festival. He also stated that they will continue to meet on Thursday nights, at 6:30 p.m., in the Nathan Lampport Auditorium. Students interested in participating in the choral group may attend rehearsals.

Placement Accord Sets Up Committee

An agreement concerning the operation of the Student Placement Service was reached at a meeting of Dr. Henry Lisman, chairman of the Faculty Student Relations Committee, with the members of the Inter-University Student Council, on Friday, November 3, it was reported by Mark Brener '51, chairman of the Student Placement Service.

Under this agreement, a five-man board consisting of Mr. Israel Young, assistant professor of Guidance; Rabbi Abraham Avrech, assistant chairman of the Community Service Bureau; and representatives of the College Student Council, the Student Organization of Yeshiva, and the Teacher's Institute Student Council will decide on the allocation of positions to the students.

Previous Accord Stands

Under the accord, no reduction in a student's financial support on the part of the institution may be effected until he is given a hearing before the Registrars' Committee. This does not nullify the agreement reached in December, 1948, whereby maintenance grants were based on a definite scale, keyed to living costs, set at $80 per month aside from rent.

According to the understanding reached at that time, students earning $20 per week or more would be suspended from maintenance lists, with a guarantee of prompt, automatic reinstatement upon loss of job. Students earning less than $20 per week would receive reductions in maintenance aid, bringing their total income per month to $80 plus rent. Students whose total earnings (salary plus stipends) are below $80 plus rent would not be subject to reductions in maintenance support.

Yeshiva Inaugurates Professor Exchange

Yeshiva University has established the first annual exchange professorship with Israel with the appointment of Professor Philip Meltzer, of Israel, to the faculty of its Teachers Institute and Bernard Revel Graduate School, it was announced by Dr. Samuel Belkin, president of the University. He also stated that it is hoped that this may become a regular procedure and, thus, create a realistic cultural bridge between America and Israel.

Prof. Meltzer will teach Bible and lecture on Bible Poetics. He is headmaster of the Ruchama School of Jerusalem and is a widely-noted Bible lecturer. In Israel, he broadcasted daily over "Kol Israel," the national radio network.

Math Club

At the Math Club meeting held on Monday evening, November 6, Azriel Rosenfeld '50 delivered a lecture on "The Number System." This lecture is one of a series on the general topic of "Modern Algebra."

At the previous meeting, held on Wednesday, November 2, Aaron Lieberman '51 discussed "Probability."

Dr. Margalith To Talk At I.R.S., On Nov. 14

The opening meeting of the International Relations Society of Yeshiva College is scheduled for Tuesday, November 14, at 8:00 p.m., in Room 404. Professor Aaron Margalith, associate professor of Political Science, will address the meeting.

Tentative plans for the year's activities include lectures by faculty members and by personalities who are prominent in political circles. These lectures will be of the same type as those held last year.

A delegation representing Yeshiva College will, again, be sent to the model United Nations which is to convene in the spring, at Beaver College, in Philadelphia.

Officers of the society, elected last fall, include Norman Twersky '51, president; Aaron Weltz '51, vice-president; and Stanley Siegel '52, secretary-treasurer.

A Tribute To Dr. Revel

This month marks the tenth anniversary of the death of Dr. Bernard Revel, the first president of Yeshiva.

Hardly anyone of us ever had the pleasure of knowing Dr. Revel personally. But we cannot help meeting him. The college is his handiwork; the entire Yeshiva bears witness to his efforts.

Those of us who have easy access to some of the written records of Dr. Revel like to read and re-read his last prophetic words to his students, which stated in part:

"My life's work, my life is Yeshiva.

And the students are Yeshiva, and Yeshiva, the students. You, and all who came before you and those who shall come after you, are my life."

"You are to be the leaders in Jewry . . .

You are to take on that leadership even in Yeshiva, to strive to effect those ideals for which I have lived and strived for."

Though Dr. Revel's Yahrzeit remained unnoticed by the authorities of the institution, this year's Student Council has reached a wise decision in planning to organize a series of lectures to commemorate the tenth Yahrzeit of Dr. Revel. We believe these lectures to be in the spirit of our late president and a true tribute to his strivings and his efforts.

Criminal Vandalism

The past two weeks have seen the University subjected to a series of acts of vandalism reminiscent of the best totalitarian tactics. These acts are plainly criminal, and cannot be attributed solely to irresponsibility.

While it is impossible for us to determine the specific motives of the vandals involved, we may reasonably assume that these acts are the distorted expressions of individual student gripes. More than that, however, we feel that they are the reflection of a perverted state of mind.

It is significant at this point to describe some of these acts and let the reader judge for himself as to whether or not the conclusions we have drawn are valid. 1) The door of a school office was besmirched with rude comments and heavy swaths of black paint. 2) A number of large, inflammable waste barrels were set fire in both corridors and bathrooms, causing considerable damage.

If, indeed, these acts were inspired by bitterness, however motivated, on the part of some students, they are still the most reprehensible means to a desired end. There is more than one legitimate approach to the voicing of student complaints, namely the Inter-University Student Council, the College Student Council, the Student Organization of Yeshiva, the Teachers' Institute Student Council, and certainly the voice of Commentator. The best of aims, when pursued in a underhanded manner, are never attained. Moreover, the welfare of the entire society in which such acts are perpetrated, becomes jeopardized. Hence, the perpetrators become guilty of both cowardice and treachery.

In terms of the possibility that these acts are the result of certain anomalous tendencies, then the prevention of such occurrences happening in the future becomes a problem of serious import. It is our feeling that this difficulty could be alleviated through the improvement and expansion of the Guidance Department along certain definite lines, especially as regards dormitory students. On the other hand, the Guidance Department as it now stands is in no way responsible for what has happened; it is technically unable to cope with these problems in the future—before they happen.

At the present, nothing is to be gained by moping over these past occurrences. What is needed is for the administration to evolve a detailed solution and put it into effect.

Commentator Faces Manpower Crisis; Students Urged To Join Staff And Work

The problem of student co-operation is of major importance in the consideration of any student activity. This problem gains stupendous proportions when the activity in question requires experience if it is to be continued.

This is a problem which has continually faced Commentator—manpower, how to get it! Throughout the past fifteen years, the Commentator has had the good fortune of acquiring men for its governing board who were not only capable but were able to fill the shoes of the two or three people who would ordinarily be required. This year, Commentator's luck has run out. Two or three men began the Commentator year taking upon themselves the superhuman burden of producing a bi-weekly paper which was to serve the interests of over four hundred registered college students. Last week, after the publication of the first edition, they tendered their resignation.

Students Protest

Once the word circulated among the students, the members of the Governing Board whose resignations were in question were immediately met with an avalanche of student protest.

"What right do you have to resign?"

"Student Government without Commie is a soldier without a gun."

"What about tradition." Etc. But No Volunteers.

It seems that the student body fails to make a basic differentiation between verbal and active protest.

Comm's Reorganizes

As this article is being written, an arrangement is being worked out among certain members of the Governing Board which will permit further publication of the Commentator—for how long is a moot question. The organization of the paper is being completely revamped and adapted to the depleted manpower of the staff.

But this re-arrangement cannot be considered, by even the most naive, a permanent panacea for Commentator ills. Granting that Commentator may be able to limp through this publication year, what about the future? Recusant to the publication of an inferior paper, unable to continue on the present level of publication, certainly unable to attain the past heights reached by Commentator editors of previous years—it must discontinue publication!

Students' Voice

The past has shown us that the effective student voice lies in the Commentator. The last issue alone, protesting the attitude of a member of the administration and decrying the deplorable conditions of the lavatories in the old dormitory, brought a marked change in the arrogance of one and the conditions of the other. It was truly said by that faceless student that Student Government without Commentator is a soldier without a gun. It was said by him, it was said by countless others. But it was only said.

It is now perfectly evident that under these conditions of student apathy, or at best verbal interest, no Commentator, no student voice can wield with potency the weapons which rightfully belong to the student body.

Appeal To You

The Commentator will shortly offer a series of lectures which will concern themselves with the various aspects of newspaper publication. It is upon these lectures that the future of Commentator is staked. To those students who demonstrate their sincerity by acts rather than by opinions, we address our invitations.

Look at the masthead. Find someone on the board whom you know. Tell him what you feel you can do and what you would like to do. Together we'll do the rest!

New Psych Prof. Claims Yeshiva Men Are Normal; Says Psychology Is Not As Yet A Rigorous Science

By Sol Steinmetz

Mr. Helmut E. Adler, the new psychologist of Yeshiva (don't get a shock now; he only teaches here), was relaxing between classes at Science Hall when this reporter clumsily announced his presence. Undaunted by this unexpected interview, Mr. Adler found proper to display a psychological smile that quite unnerved yours truly.

He was born in Germany—in Nuremberg to be exact—and at the age of fifteen went to England. There I completed high school."

Worked In Factory

From here, Mr. Adler went on to say that he had worked at a grinding-wheel factory; came to the U.S. in 1940; entered Columbia. A voice suddenly exclaimed: "What made you become interested in Psych?"

"A course with Prof. Sargent of Columbia," was the prompt answer.

"Hurrah," a voice muttered, "not sex!"

Served As Meteorologist

In 1943, of course, the army took charge of Mr. Adler, and for a while he was a meteorologist! After a year of weather-prediction at the Philippines, full-time work at Columbia was a relief. At present, Mr. Adler attempts to pass his time by taking care of animals at Columbia's laboratories, teaching them at Yeshiva, and working hard for his Ph.D.

"Your impression of Yeshiva boys?" someone dared to inquire.

"Nothing unusual," answered the tall, dark man, adjusting his horn-rimmed glasses, "within the normal range of variability."

"Anything else?"

Yeshiva Men Inquisitive

"Definitely! They are well-motivated, they ask lots of questions, and I am only too happy to answer them all."

"What about Psychology?"

"Psychology?" repeated Mr. Adler as if moved by strange powers "Why Psychology is...is...a science...a science for anybody!"

"Psychology," he continued lovingly, "covers social problems, those of communication, labor relations, and...uh...everything!"

"Yet, Psychology," affirmed Mr. Adler, "is no arm-chair type of science, and only when it will reach its summit as a science, will the art of it become of tremendous value."

The first game of the Yeshiva basketball team will, as usual, take place against the Alumni on Saturday night, November 18, in the Gym of the Central High School of Needle Trades.

The campaign begins in earnest when the varsity squares off against St. Francis three nights later at Sunnyside Arena. This promises to be one of the Heighters' toughest games of the year, for the Terriers come up every season with one of the better teams in the city.

Queens Game Rescheduled

In a game originally scheduled for Saturday, December 2, but moved forward to Saturday, November 25, the Mites face Queens College. This will be Yeshiva's first official home game and a large turnout is expected.

This year's team which has all the qualities that a good club must possess, namely speed, height, and scoring ability, will be captained by Artie Stein, returning for his last season at Yeshiva. The six-foot, six-inch Stein carried the team on his broad shoulders many times last season and was high scorer with 290 points in 17 games. Stein has added to his repertoire a deadly left hook, and looks forward to his greatest season.

Hershkowitz Revamps Style

Marv Hershkowitz, who "pop-shot" his way to an even seventeen-point average last season while racking up 289 markers, is quickly rounding into shape. Marv has revamped his style in an effort to strengthen his defense which has been weak up to now. Stein and Hershkowitz, last year, accounted for an average of 34 points in each game and are expected to do still better this season.

Probably the most important feature of the squad is the invaluable experience with which its veterans have returned. Back again are Natie Krieger, Ruby Davidman, Maurice Novoseller, Hillel Dryspiel, and Irwin Narrows. Newcomers to the team are Elihu Levine, Irv Forman, Larry Steiman, and Abe Kramer. Levine is the heralded freshman, who entered Y.U. from Brooklyn T. A., where he broke every high school record and had fans agog with his scintillating shooting and playmaking.

Krieger's Potentialities

Natie Krieger is expected to fulfill the potentialities previously shown by him. Standing six-foot, four-inches, Natie is invaluable under the boards. Krieger, occasionally the possessor of a deadly set shot, is expected to finally break out in a rash of baskets.

Ruby Davidman, a senior who is best known for his hustle, speed, and sparkling rebound work, Maurice Novoseller, and Hillel Dryspiel complete the nucleus of the team. Novoseller features a deadly set shot which is most ef-

Cheering Squad

Reuben Gross '51 and Joseph Heimowitz '51 have been appointed chairmen of the Basketball Cheering Squad, Steve Katz '52, athletic manager, announced.

The four-man squad has been drilling regularly, and will make its initial appearance of the year at the Alumni game.

Two games against City evening school, and one contest with the Queens Junior Varsity have been added to the J.V. schedule

The squad holds practice sessions every Friday afternoon.

Columbia Duels Y.U. In Pre-Season Game

The Yeshiva College Fencing Squad will oppose the foilers from Columbia in a pre-season practice match, on Wednesday, November 29, the Yeshiva University Athletic Association announced. The match with Columbia will be the first engaged in by the Heighters this season. The Y.U. varsity was victorious in its two official matches last year.

Official matches have been scheduled against Brooklyn, Cooper Union, Fordham, New Jersey State Teachers, Fairleigh Dickinson, and St. Peter's.

Squad Veterans

Mainstays of the squad are Wolf Helmreich, Nissen Shulman, Norman Toporofsky, Max Epstein, David Mostofsky, Morris Stadtmayer, Sam Feder, Eugene Tokayer, and Stanley Klein.

When asked about the prospects of his varsity, Coach Arthur Tau-ber stated that "at this time the fencing team is diligently working on the basic fundamentals. We do hope that the team will be victorious in at least fifty percent of its games."

Team Spirit

"The esprit de corps is exceptionally high," Coach Tauber continued, "and we do hope to have a successful season. The policy of the squad is, Scholarship first, Fencing second. As a result we are limited in our practice time, and have sessions only twice a week."

"We have approximately twenty newcomers to the squad. They are in quests of the three positions made available by the graduation of three duelers."

Max Epstein, the slashing Sabreman, who last year, shared the co-captaincy with Paul Ritterband '50, has been elected captain of the varsity fencing squad.

Wettstein Mini-Mites Prepare For Season

The greatest turnout for basketball at Talmudical Academy, with 57 men reporting, seems to imply that the mini-Mites will return to winning ways. With the return of all of last year's starting five, and the addition of a number of promising prospects, Coach Wettstein feels his team will do exceedingly well.

Weiss received 23 votes on the first ballot, defeating Samuel Bramson and Ori J. Schonthal.

COMPARE CHESTERFIELD WITH ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

BEFORE YOU SMOKE THEM
...you can tell Chesterfields will smoke milder, because tobaccos that smell milder smoke milder.

AFTER YOU SMOKE THEM
...you have no unpleasant after-taste.

WHILE YOU SMOKE THEM you get more pleasure than any other cigarette can give you - that's why millions of smokers say: THEY SATISFY.
