Y. U. Attends I.R.S. Confab; Discuss Asia

Yeshiva University was represented by Stanley Z. Siegel '52, Gil Rosenthal '53, Maurice Novoseller '53, and Irwin Shannon '53 at the annual conference of the Association of International Relations Societies of the Middle Atlantic Region which was held at Johns Hopkins University from December 27 through 29. Mr. Siegel served as chairman of the Yeshiva delegation and was named chairman of one of the student seminars at the conference.

Beside the student seminars, in which more than two hundred delegates from fifty-six colleges were divided into groups of about fifty students each, the conference featured guest speakers and panel sessions. Among these were Prof. Alexander Steiner, head of the Dept. of Government of the University of California at Los Angeles, Representative Hugh Scott (R., Pa.), former head of the Republican National Committee, and Prof. James Penrose of the Page School of International Relations.

The theme of the conference was Asia. The problems of China, Korea, Japan, and South Asia were discussed. The idea which was stressed throughout the conference was the necessity for the United States to respect their values and principles.

At the close of the conference the faculty adviser termed the seminar which Mr. Siegel conducted the "most productive student seminar of the conference."

Adler, Pleskin Talk At Chats

Mr. Sidney Pleskin, director of the Audio-Visual Service at Yeshiva, who spoke on "Education and Democracy," and Dr. Karl Adler, professor of Music, who discussed his experiences as a representative of the South German Jewish community to the Nazis were the speakers at the concluding Fireside Chats of the semester held on January 3, and December 20, respectively, in Riets Hall.

Mr. Pleskin stated that one of the most significant differences between a dictatorship and a democracy lies in the greater chance for the free individual to choose and reject various aspects of the culture to which he is subjected. Therefore, he emphasized, education in a democracy must teach flexibility and competence to choose.

The speaker based his remarks on his conviction that words are meaningless unless they have a definite connection with experience. Thus, he said, courses in democracy were of little value if the classes were not conducted according to democratic procedures, and if they did not make it possible for the student to enter a democratic community and apply his knowledge.

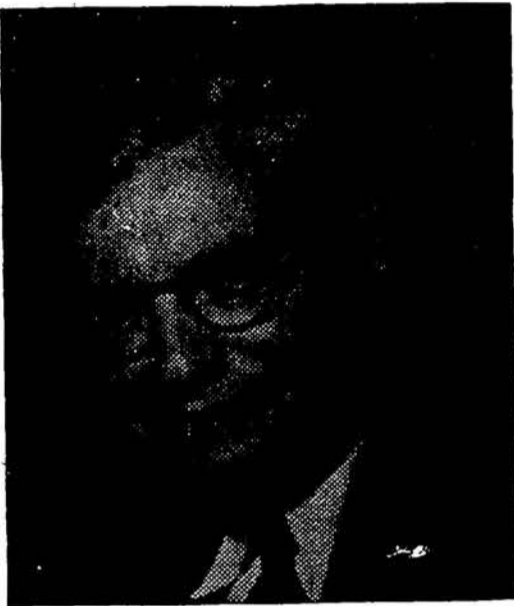

Dr. Adler declared that the Nazis had "showed an appalling lack of political judgement" in their persecution of the Jews because, he said, the cultural starvation which they tried to impose on the Jewish people had the effect of making Jews join in communal endeavors.

This series of chats is to be continued next term.

Dr. H. Zimmerman Selected To Direct Y. U. Med School

Dr. Harry M. Zimmerman, chief of the Laboratory Division, Montefiore Hospital, Bronx, has been named director of the Medical School of Yeshiva University, disclosed Dr. Samuel Belkin, president of the University. This is the first appointment to be made to the new medical school, which is scheduled to open in the fall of 1953. Dr. Zimmerman will be in charge of the academic organization and administration of the school.

At the same time, Dr. Belkin announced that Nathaniel L. Goldstein, attorney general of the State of New York, has been chosen as national chairman of the $10,000,000 campaign to establish the non-sectarian medical school.

Dr. Harry M. Zimmerman

A graduate of the Yale Medical School, Dr. Zimmerman, 49, is a recognized authority in the field of pathology. At present, he is professor of Pathology at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, and has served as consultant in Neuropathology at St. Albans Naval Hospital, L. I. Since 1946, he has been senior consultant in pathology at the Bronx Veteran's Hospital.

Debaters Outpoint N.Y.U., Downtown

Yeshiva University's debating team defeated NYU of Washington Square on Thursday, January 3, in the Y. U. Dorm Social Hall. The topic of the debate was the national topic, Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Adopt a Permanent Program of Wage and Price Controls.

N. Y. U., presenting the affirmative, was represented by Leslie Fixler and Bruce Goldstone. Yeshiva's speakers were Morton Geffer '55, and Fishel Pearlmuter '55. Judge of the debate was Mr. Seymour Lainoff of the English Dept. In rendering his decision, Mr. Lainoff stated, that the affirmative had not sufficiently proven the necessity for adopting their program of permanent price and wage controls.

The debating team is planning future Metropolitan debates as well as a spring tour.

In addition, Dr. Zimmerman is consultant in neuropathology to the Armed Forces Institute at Washington, D. C., and is a member of the pathology study section of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md. He is also laboratory consultant to Seton Hospital in New York. He has been associated with various medical publications, currently serving as associate editor of the American Journal of Pathology.

Thrice elected Attorney General of New York, Mr. Goldstein has been prominently identified with many of the nation's leading philanthropic, civic, religious and fraternal endeavors. In 1946, he received the Medallion from Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity as the nation's outstanding leader in Jewish communal life. In 1950, he was cited by Bnai Brith for outstanding public service. He also has been active on behalf of the Federation of Jewish Charities, National Conference of Christian and Jews, United Jew-

Fluffy Feline 'Fifes' At Fete; 'Some Smash,' Says Smaryohu

By Sol Steinmetz

After the Yeshiva Chanuka Chagiga of Kislev 26th, The Commentator decided to get impressions of it from an average frequentor of Yeshiva affairs. With this object in mind, an extensive survey was made, and the lot fell upon Smaryohu, a stipend-fed cat presently residing, due to the room-shortage, in Mr. Stern's Cafeteria. Careful research in cooperation with the Biology department showed, by the way, that Shmaryohu is a he, since he wears a moustache. Besides, this school is not co-ed.

He did turn out to be a typical Yeshiva boy, because as soon as we told him that we wanted his reaction, he licked our shoes out of sheer gratitude.

"I'm a freshman, you know," he mewed, "and I kinda like it here. That Chagiga was smashing, sure was. Especially that salami. It sorta reminded me of rats' meat. Say, what'd you think of it?"

"Well, it's like this. . . ."

The System

"Yeah, I know. You couldn't get a seat. Trouble with you guys is you ain't got a system, see? Now take me. Comes 8:45, I stand like Stern's mashed potatoe relaxing with a couple o' hundred guys in front of the Cafeteria. Doors open, I don't push like you guys, being that I got a system. I just scratch.

Censor T. A. News; Entire Staff Quits

The Governing and Managing Boards of The Academy News, the student publication of Talmudical Academy, resigned from their positions on December 2, because of "censorship of news items."

Commenting editorially, the Academy News, stated, "When the discretion of the editors in choosing news items is questioned, we feel that our positions have become useless and therefore warrants this action." This referred to the action of Mr. E. Leibel, faculty advisor of the student newspaper who "saw fit to limit the extent of news items."

The Academy News made its appearance in printed form this semester for the first time in four years.

Race Bias Probed At Sociology Club

"The plight of the Negro in Baltimore is indeed unfortunate," declared Izzy Tennenberg '52, speaking before the Sociological Society on Thursday, January 3. His topic was "Race Bias in Baltimore."

Mr. Tennenberg stated that the executive judicial agencies discriminate against the Negroes. "In recent years, there have been fourteen murders of Negroes by the police, but in no case have there been any charges preferred against the police. In the courts we find much prejudice, especially when crimes of violence occur. Negroes receive stiffer penalties than whites. Certain agencies have Negroes on their staffs, yet the welfare board, which devotes much of its funds to Negroes has no Negro members on it," he added.

Negro residences constitute 20 per cent of Baltimore's population, yet they are concentrated in only 8 per cent of the area. 92 per cent of the Negroes and only 23 per cent of the whites live in blighted sections.

After reviewing the many facets of discrimination against Negroes, Mr. Tennenberg stated, that although Baltimore shows much prejudice, studies show that the conditions of the Negro are steadily improving.

S.O.Y. Publishes First Edition Of 'Hamevaser'

"Hamevaser," the official newspaper of the Student Organization of Yeshiva, appeared in a printed four-page format on December 27. The paper contained news of S. O. Y. and related topics, and the editorial column consisted of the texts of two letters written by the Student Council to Dr. Belkin thanking him for improvements of the University buildings, made during the summer.

Latkes Bounce At T. I. Chagiga Despite Impressive 'Machers'

By Joseph Schiff

I was supposed to cover the Chagiga for the paper. My ticket was complimentary. The place was filled with paying guests. I was seated in the back. But I moved. I moved because they can't do that to the press. I moved because there was a smell from Stern's kitchen. This is not unusual but I bring lunch from home.

The party was a T. I. affair. Witty is T. I. president. He was the m.c. The crowd rose for the national anthem. A three piece combo accompanied. They make a lot of noise. The menorah lighting is a wonderful thing. Shechter and Burack sang it. They also made noise. But it is the spirit that counts. A moment's silence, when the glad made way for the sad. It was in memory of the late Dr. Klotz. It is good that people remember.

Scripta To Publish New Math Journal

The combined third and fourth issues of Volume XVII of Scripta Mathematica, edited by Dr. Jekuthial Ginsberg, professor of Mathematics, will be published next week.

The magazine will feature lead articles by Carol V. Newson, associate commissioner of Higher Education of the State of New York, on "The Place of Mathematics in Modern Education" and Carl B. Bye, professor of Mathematics at Brooklyn College, on "The Golden Age in Mathematics." Other authors who have written articles include: Domnhall A. Steel, head of the Mathematics Department at Fordham University; and Nathan A. Camt, professor of Mathematics, University of Oklahoma.

The night was filled with music. The air with cigarette smoke. And from the haze there came a voice which made the crowd shudder. A voice which said—you were absent yesterday. Men shrieked. We admit it. Kitza-tznu—we cut. Lo Nislach—unforgiven, was the grim reply. It was Dr. Grinstein. He spoke in the place of the absent Dean Churgin. He was joking. There was nervous laughter. A hasty thanks. An introduction of the three piece combo. Their noise rendered the crowd nerveless. It

The Paper Without An Editor

The Commentator greets with interest "Vol. 1 No. 1" of "Hamevaser, Official Student Publication of Yeshivat Rabeinu Yitzchak Elchanan." Volume 1? We recall issues in the past. Oh well, perhaps they shouldn't be considered because they were written by more than one person.

We are also astonished by the absence of an editorial column and the names of the editorial board. Maybe the editor, whoever he is, is satisfied with expressing his opinions in the news stories and can relinquish the editorial space for the printing of letters.

Let us hope that future S. O. Y. editors and/or presidents will avoid these pitfalls.

S.C. Prexy Reports

The Student Council president, at the request of The Commentator, has submitted a mid-year report on Council affairs which appears on this page. We wanted to be informed about their inactivity. And it seems that our original supposition has yet to be proven false.

Though we grant that an athletic council has been formed, we are not particularly impressed by its value. Does it function? Is basketball the only sport that lends itself to intramural play; what about ping-pong, handball, and volleyball? Does the question of a ring-dye and fluorescent lights for Co-op constitute the sole basis for a semester of achievement? The cleanliness campaign and the Dean's Reception are administration inspired. Student Council can get no credit for them. Much time has been spent on the problems of awards, but where are the conclusions?

In short the president implied that Student Council held no assemblies and dabbled in other affairs at their five meetings. With the Spring semester about to begin, let us hope that Council will do more than just dabble.

Advising vs. Censoring

We note that the Governing and Managing Boards of The Academy News, the official student publication of Talmudical Academy, have resigned their positions because "it has been seen fit by the faculty advisor to limit the extent of news items."

The Commentator has always kept an interested eye on the publications of Talmudical Academy. Many of our former and present reporters and editors have had their training on the staffs of the Academy News, The Elchanite, and other periodicals of the high school division of our University.

The main object of any newspaper is to publish news of interest to the readers of that particular newspaper in the most objective manner possible. The job of an adviser is to help the publishers of a newspaper publish the news. The fact that a faculty advisor has "seen fit" to censor certain items is to us an unwarranted extension of that person's jurisdiction.

Censorship of any news story is a breach of the objective aims of a paper and any newspaper so censored can do nothing but cease publication.

We, therefore, feel that unfortunate as the cessation of publication of The Academy News is, the editors were left with no recourse save the one which they pursued.

S.C. Prexy Reports:

Hellerstein Reviews S.C. 'Achievements'; Lauds Council-Administration Teamwork

By Simon Hellerstein

The Student Council met five times during the past semester. Of the many issues handled by the Council at these meetings, the primary ones were Co-op, senior rings, the problem of a graduation awards system, and the formation of an athletic council. What follows is a running account of the decisions and accomplishments of Student Council on these matters.

Increased efficiency in the system of Co-op Stores was suggested by the council and is being instituted in the form of a trained bookkeeping staff and a running inventory. The Co-op will receive cash registers in the near future. The fluorescent lights and the newly-painted walls lend a new atmosphere to the main store.

The Student Council, at its most recent meeting, decided to buy a die for the college rings. The purpose of this purchase is to standardize the college ring and, in the long run, to lower its cost. The cost of the die is $600, which will be paid off on a long-term basis. Student Council will meet the full cost immediately and will be repaid through the slight addition to the cost of the ring. On the basis of present estimates, the full cost of the dye will be repaid to Student was Yiddish wedding style music. It was lively. Marcus played clarinet. Rosenthal the piano. Rothman on the drums. Witty asked me if I liked it so far. I didn't eat yet. I said. It was a very good thing I was not hungry.

"Big Storm"

It might be said the wind blew. Dr. Wind was the main speaker. He spoke of Torah, Israel, and unity. It was okay. Witty surprised Dr. Wind. This year's edition of Nir is dedicated to him. If it comes out. The crowd liked that. A very good idea. There was a photographer who used bright flash bulbs. He was not a very good idea.

Witty said, let there be light. Shamos Shechter turned on the lights. The waiters served the latkes. The rubber shortage did not affect them. They bounced. It was not good to chew them. The best way was to float them down with soda. I had no previous experience. Like I said, I bring lunch from home.

The Program

Speeches came. I was worried. But they were short. The three piece combo became four. An accordion squeezed in. It kept squeezing and we danced horas. And then peace was restored. Witty and Shechter took turns patting each other on the back.

The play was the thing. Lerner wrote it. A story of Israel's fighting forces. The Maccabees and the Haganah. Rosen was the lead. Seats were arranged and the movie was shown. It held the crowd. Hatikvah was sung. The party ended.

I took the I. R. T. home. I thought of the Chagiga. It was noisy. The latkes rubbery. Too many "Machers" walking around. But I liked it.

Council within a period of four years, after which time students will save almost five dollars on each ring.

The issue which has taken up a great deal of the Executive Council's time is the problem of an awards system. The Student Council was requested by the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs to submit a list of proposals which would serve as a guide for the distribution of graduation awards. Student Council promptly did so. (These proposals were printed in The Commentator on November 26.) The issue, however, was indeed not as simple as supposed at first. Many difficulties arose which at the outset were overlooked by all concerned. In fact, the Student-Faculty Relations Committee has been meeting almost weekly for the past two months and has, as yet, come to no clear-cut decisions.

An athletic council was created this past term by Student Council. The purpose of this council is to regulate and supervise intramural sports. It is composed of representatives from each class, who are presided over by the Yeshiva College athletic manager.

Among the other activities of Student Council for the fall term was the planning of the Dean's Reception and the preparation of a campaign for general school cleanliness, which will go into full effect at the beginning of the spring term. Though no assemblies were held during the term the Student Council is planning a series of assemblies for the spring term.

Females, Food, Fine Program Are Blended At Dean's Mixer

By Squire Ricoton

Draw me a gym in watercolor, a jolly Dean in oil, students and faculty in carbon, mix up the whole thing, and you've got the Dean's Mixer. The nightmare, of course, was due to the klieg-lights darting against the creaky stage of the gym. There were also friends: draw them with lipstick. Actually, the rubbing of elbows was quite chummy, and the affair one big jolly barbecue.

It happened the first Sunday of January, at eight according to the schedule, at nine according to fact. You got your admit card a few days before, you washed your neck, pressed your pants under a pillow, and appeared like a beau to pay homage to the Dean. Somewhat shy, you covered your face with your hands and thus smiled gratefully where he could not see you. You chose a chair but to your left you recognized your most forgettable teacher. You sprang up and chose another. It was too late to see who was beside you, for the lights went out. You hoped it was a she.

The Dean appeared on the stage to welcome you, and the microphone, as you would have, threw a fit, quivered, and finally shrank into its socket. The Dean forced it up, the mike cried aloud and sank. It was pretty horrible, and everyone laughed and roared uncomfortably. After an eternity, everything was in order. The cheerful tension was relieved by the entertainment.

The Program

With Professor Tauber as m.c. you saw some clever pantomime, amazing magic by Morris Wolofsky '53 and Jack Glickman '53. Under the direction of the Choral Group you saw Dr. Karl Adler impersonating a conductor. You witnessed Faust selling his soul by courtesy of our Dramatic Society, and in Doc Hurwitz's daughter, Sharri, something of a revelation. Dave Lifschutz '55 jazzed with his saxophone, and reliable Lacy Burack '53 had his gags cut short by Stern's anxiety to get home. Nevertheless, ere that there was the student-faculty quiz, with some hilarious ad-libbing.

Rather than being trampled upon, you hurried out of the gym, climbed the stairs two a time, and reached Stern's for refreshments. You seized a Pepsi, some cake, ice-cream and pretzels, ran up to your room, and there began the real mixer.

had some trouble with cracking those pretzels. And the President's speech hit the right chord. It sorta made me reflect on the future."

"Have you any plans?"

"Well, right now I'm almost satisfied. Stern's not so bad, come to think of worse places. After that I'll probably get my M. A. at Columbia, go for Smichah and . . . and if I save enough dough I might buy up the luncheonette across the street. With the way the back-room looks there, they sure need an efficient cat!"

And with that, he disappeared into the basement.

He got lost in memories for a minute, so that we jumped upon the opportunity.

"And what did you think about the atmosphere?"

He Didn't Belong

"Oh, that," he screeched, "I'll tell you. Too much concentration on singing; katzenjammer I call that. Then there's too much dancing. A guy's gotta be on the watch all the time or else they stamp the life outa him. I lost a cousin at last year's Purim Chagiga."

"So sorry. . ."

"Oh, don't be. That puss didn't belong, anyway. He was minyan-mad. Useter stay up the whole night not to miss the six-thirty attendance. You shoulda seen the beard he grew during Sefirah!"

"You were saying. . ."

"Yeah, the "atmosphere." You gotta hand it to those committees. Food was good, though I

On The Sidelines
Scribe Calls On Muse,
Sidney, "Bard"; Asks
Aid In Writing Column

By Sheldon Radoff

Your reporter is confronted with a problem that must face many sports editors at this time of the year. What shall he write about? For inspiration he glances through past "Commie" issues, through the Post or The Times—but alas, nothing comes forth. He is at the point of discouragement and frustration when the words of Sir Philip Sidney in his Elizabethan sonnet come to his mind. "Fool," said my Muse to me, "look in thy heart, and write." So here goes—from the heart.

We've got a good fencing team. It's good enough to warrant plans for entering the Amateur Fencing League of America and A. A. U. competition. "What we lack in experience and skill, we make up by using our heads," is Coach Tauber's partial explanation for the Duelists' amazing success. But on the other side of the fence, in the hoop picture, we've got quite a different situation. Coach Sarachek hasn't had any reason to compliment the intelligence of his basketball squad.

We blamed the students in our last issue for complacency towards the basketball team and we still think we were right in our opinions. But the students cannot be blamed for a losing team. It has been a tradition of sports fans to put such blame on the shoulders of the individual running the team. We don't favor making scapegoats but we don't have to be basketball experts to realize that there is something wrong somewhere. Statistics show us that the Mites have a .300 shooting average from the floor and a .698 percentage from the foul line, which is a definite improvement over last year's record. Thus far, the Heighters don't look like an improved squad. But then again statistics don't tell the whole story. We leave it up to Red Sarachek to find that something—and fix it.

In the beginning of this semester the Student Council sanctioned the formation of an athletic council to supervise and integrate the intra-mural sports program. This action was a result of a motion by yours truly, and frankly I am very disappointed in its results. There has been only one intra-mural tournament, in basketball. No ping-pong, no volley ball, no hand-ball. The excuse for this is the hackneyed pretext that, "Yeshiva boys aren't interested in intra-mural sports." Maybe I'm wrong, but my faith in the Y. U. students' interest in athletics cannot be brushed aside by such weak reasoning. I fail to see why with the aid of a representative group such as our athletic council, the athletic manager cannot institute a varied intra-mural program. It's not too late: we've got another semester.

To make another literary allusion, "All that glistens is not gold," said the Bard. Many of us, including myself, have fallen into the pitfall of praising the Y. U. A. A. to the sky. We have pointed with pride to its progress in the short span of three years. We have given it the credit that it truly deserved. But, in our willingness to praise we have overlooked one important aspect. The Athletic Association, despite several steps towards obtaining some form of organization and centralization, is still a disorganized group of people with conflicting powers and duties. It is still a group which lacks an overall central authority; an athletic director in the true sense of the word. This situation has led to confusion and wasted effort. The Y. U. A. A., no doubt, has the welfare of Yeshiva athletics as its primary purpose, but how much more effective it could be with an organized system headed by an authorized athletic director, who can direct and be responsible for all phases of the Association's activities.

So that we shouldn't be accused of being only uncomplimentary we'd like to hand out a few well deserved plaudits. First and foremost is Israel Paleyoff '49. "Izzy" who serves in the official capacity of statistician of the Y. U. A. A., is also the possessor of that rich baritone voice that blares forth the announcements at Yeshiva basketball games.

Since we're mentioning statisticians, Solomon Greenfield '54 deserves a "yasher koach" for the way he's handling the numbers rack . . . I mean the statistics for the basketball squad.

Well there it is—from the heart. Maybe, I should have stayed "uninspired."

Rider Trips Mites
As Yeshiva Blows
Third Period Lead

Rider College of Trenton, New Jersey, meeting the Yeshiva basketball team for the first time in Rider's thirty-year basketball history, rallied to edge out the Mites 56-53, on Saturday night, December 22, at the Central Needle Trades court.

The game was close throughout, with the lead changing hands thirteen times and with the score knotted ten times.

Rider, led by Al Postal, started to battle back after being behind 45-42 at the end of the third quarter. The uphill climb for the Jersey men was long, hard, and sometimes discouraging, for, whenever Rider threatened to go out in front, Yeshiva managed to click with a timely score that gave them a breathing space. With four minutes to go, Rider succeeded and finally wrested the lead from the Sarachekeers, 52-51.

Marv Hershkowitz started the Blue and White off in the scoring

With Eli Levine, Alan Gewirtz, and Natie Krieger scoring, Yeshiva pulled ahead in the opening minutes of the second quarter and at half-time was out in front 33-30.

Hershkowitz led the scoring for the Hoopsters with 19 points. Natie Krieger, finally emerging from the throes of a disastrous slump, pumped 17 points through the hoop. Moe Tener was high man for the Gold and Violet with sixteen points.

Y. U. Knives Syracuse 15-12;
Sabremen Take Nine Bouts

The Yeshiva University fencing team captured its second successive victory by defeating a strong Syracuse University squad 15-12, on Thursday, December 27, in the Yeshiva gymnasium.

The Duelists were forced to fight an uphill battle all the way. The sabremen were responsible for the Y. U. victory as they swept all of their nine bouts. For the first time in its three-year history the Yeshiva epee team was defeated, losing 7-2 to the Up-staters. The foilers similarly, came out on the short end of a 5-4 decision.

Vets Beat Cagers
In Mobile Contest

The Yeshiva University hoop squad dropped an exhibition game to the paraplegic veterans of the Kingsbridge Hospital at the DeWitt Clinton High School on Thursday, December 20. Represented by the several junior members of the varsity squad, the Mites lost 36-32.

The game was played in wheel chairs with the rules slightly altered to fit the mobile style of play. From the outset the fast rolling vets dominated the play with their skill on wheels and general court play. The hustling Yeshiva team had trouble getting "rolling" and trailed 20-8 at halftime.

In the second half, however, the Heighters began to move. Paced by the good field play of S. Gewirtz and M. Orlian plus strong defensive work by Green and Taragin, they began to close the gap. They were aided no little by some fancy shooting by J. Silver who was the "big wheel" in the Yeshiva offense. The game which was a rough and tumble affair, was marked by a wonderful spirit on the part of both teams.

Chesterfield Award

Herbert Rosenberg '55 a saberman on the Yeshiva fencing team was named recipient of the second Chesterfield "Athlete-of-the-Month Award" announced Edward Jacobowitz '53, athletic manager of the college. Mr. Rosenberg in his first season with the fencing squad is undefeated in five bouts thus far.

The match opened with the Swordsmen dropping four of the first six bouts, with only Millen and Mostofsky winning in foil and epee, respectively. The sabre squad, composed of Tokayer, Rosenberg, and Toporovsky, put the Duelists back into the contest by sweeping the next three bouts, making the score 5-4, Yeshiva.

In the second round only Millen was able to win, and the Blue and White trailed, 9-6. The sabremen then breezed through three more bouts to knot the score at 9-all. Yeshiva split the next six duals as Shulman and Seagull copped at foil and Mostofsky triumphed at epee. The

French Club Hears Talk On Sociology

Dr. Gottfried Delatour, lecturer in Sociology at Yeshiva, spoke before the French Society on December 11, in Riets Hall. His topic was "French Sociology."

The speaker claimed that American Sociology stems from French, Italian, and German origins. He maintained that the American idea of the "incognito" public influence of an individual by means of grouping comes from the French "phenomena of conscience" which causes co-action of "You" and of "Myself." The remainder of the talk consisted of a brief and detailed review of French Sociology.

Congrats

The editors and staff of The Commentator extend their congratulations to Gilbert Shoham '51 on his recent marriage to Miss Dorothy Cohen; and to Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Rosenberg upon the recent addition to their family—a baby girl.

S. C. To Purchase Senior Ring Die

Student Council has authorized Hyman Reichel '52, president of the Senior Class and chairman of the Ring Committee, to arrange for the casting of a permanent die which may be used by all future classes.

This year, a deposit of ten dollars will be required with all orders. Juniors will also be able to purchase '53 rings at the same time. Orders will be taken during the coming week.

Copy Editor Appointed To Commentator Board

The appointment of Jack Adelman '53 to the Managing Board of The Commentator, as copy editor, has been announced by David Mogilner '52, editor-in-chief.

Mr. Adelman, a political science major, has recently been appointed managing editor of the I. R. C. Newsletter, a newspaper published by the Association of International Relations Clubs.

For the first time in many years, Student Council and the Administration are on amicable terms. This relationship is not the result of bowing to the will of the Administration, or the avoidance of controversial problems. It may, however, be traced to the Council's desire to deal tactfully with the Administration while at the same time demanding that all problems be dealt with on a completely rational and objective plane, to the extent that this may be possible. It is the Council's fondest hope that its relations with the Administration will continue to be friendly during the coming term.

Dr. Belkin also announced the appointment of City Court Judge A. David Benjamin, as Brooklyn Chairman of the medical school campaign. The Brooklyn division has adopted a quota of $1,000,000 towards the erection of the medical school.
