$231,000 Allocated For Y. U. Student Aid

"Yeshiva will spend $231,000 during the academic year 1952-53 to provide tuition and dormitory scholarships and maintenance aid for 992 students, the largest number of students in the institution's history receiving financial assistance," Dr. Samuel Belkin, President of the University, announced. This sum is $4,000 less than the amount that was allocated last year for this purpose.

Prof. Granted Stay in Israel

Dr. Abraham Weiss has been granted a leave of absence to become Professor of Talmud at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, Israel, announced Dr. Samuel Belkin, President of Yeshiva.

Professor Weiss, who is already in Israel, has been Professor of Talmud in Yeshiva's Teachers Institute and Graduate Division since 1940.

Mizrachi, W. Z. O.

Professor Weiss was for many years Rector of the Institute of Jewish Science in Warsaw, vice-president of the Mizrachi Organization of Poland and a member of the Actions Committee of the World Zionist Organization.

He is a member of the executive committee of the American Academy of Jewish Research, the Board of Licenses of the Jewish Education Committee of New York, and the author of four scholarly books on the Talmud.

Dean Sar Speaks At Dorm Meeting

"Any student who will habitually fail to appear at morning services may consider himself out of the Yeshiva as of February 1," declared Dean Samuel L. Sar, at an assembly of dormitory residents held Tuesday, October 28, in Lampport Auditorium. The meeting was held to advise Students of the revised dormitory regulations of mandatory attendance at morning services.

Rabbi Jacob I. Lessin, Spiritual Adviser of Yeshiva, addressed the assembly.

Tests Taken By Pre-Meds

The first in a series of aptitude tests was administered and new officers were elected at the first meeting of the Pre-Med Society which was held Wednesday, October 30.

The test was administered by Jacob Beck '50 of the Yeshiva Psychology Department, upon the recommendation of Dr. Eli M. Levine, Professor of Chemistry. "The purpose of the test is to give the student his standing in relation to other students all over the country," said Alexander Deutch '53 newly elected president of the society. He announced that Mr. Beck will also be in charge of the forthcoming tests, which are open to all students in the College.

The other officers of the society are: Gerald Nissenbaum '54, Vice-President and Chester Berschling '55, Secretary.

Mr. Goldberg Lectures At Soc. Society

"Sociology gives a better understanding of one's self and of one's fellow man declared Mr. Nathan Goldberg, Associate Professor of Sociology, at a meeting of the Sociology Society held Thursday, October 30. Professor Goldberg spoke on "Vocational Opportunities in Sociology."

He warned those who are considering the possibility of entering the field however, that "in sociology, if you are just out to earn money, you will be fired. You must have a genuine interest in your work."

Requirements

The speaker divided the field into the subdivisions of teaching, research, and applied sociology. He pointed out that, while requirements for all of these classifications are high, the financial remuneration, in the majority of cases, leaves something to be desired.

"Social sciences will have to solve the problems created by the advances in the natural sciences. The nineteenth century was the century of technological advance, the twentieth century is the century of the social sciences," he concluded.

New Registration Figures Released By Mr. Silverman

Complete enrollment statistics show that 526 students are registered in Yeshiva College for the current semester, announced Mr. Morris Silverman, Registrar of the College.

The revised figures are divided by classes as follows: Upper Senior, 27; Lower Senior, 78; Upper Junior, 35; Lower Junior, 73; Upper Sophomore, 38; Lower Sophomore, 130; and Freshmen, 145. These figures represent an increase of forty-one students or a gain of 8.4 per cent over last September's registration. It also represents an increase of twenty-one over the registration figures reported earlier in the year.

Two Co-op Managers Appointed by Council

Morton Richter '55 and Abraham Morduchowitz '54 were appointed co-managers of the Co-operative Stores at a meeting of the Student Council, Wednesday, November 5. Harry Shidlovsky '53, who was designated as manager of the bookstore last May, will continue to serve in that capacity.

Saul Bahn '53, outgoing manager, reported that the net worth of the Co-op is now $2,684.53. This represents a considerable increase over last year's net worth.

The Co-op is currently conducting a cut-rate sale at which many items, including watch bands, wallets, and silver goods are being sold at greatly reduced prices. The sale, which began Wednesday, November 12, will continue until Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 27. A complete line of Chanukah lamps, skull caps, wine cups, spice boxes and other religious articles, are also on sale.

Bookstore

Complete sets of the Soncino translations of the Bible and the Modern Library classics will be available in the book-store in the near future, Mr. Bahn said.

Herbert Lubowsky, Concert Bureau manager, announced that arrangements have been made to secure tickets to all Broadway productions for all students upon request.

Irwin Shapiro '53, President of Student Council, announced that Council funds have now been transferred to the Bursar's office for the first time in the history of the institution. "Funds will now be available for immediate appropriation," he said.

Elections Debate Presented by I.R.S.

J. Julian Gruenberg, prominent businessman, and Milton Adler, noted attorney, spoke at a pre-election assembly sponsored by the International Relations Society October 29, in Lampport Auditorium.

Mr. Gruenberg spoke on behalf of the Democratic presidential candidate, Adlai E. Stevenson, and Mr. Adler presented the case for Dwight D. Eisenhower, now president-elect.

Set Days for Senior Photos

Individual photographs of lower seniors for the Masmid will be taken all day Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, November 24, 25, and 26, announced Jack Adelman, Editor-in-Chief. A complete schedule has been posted.

Members of the graduating classes are requested to wear dark suits, white shirts, black skull caps, and ordinary ties (no bow-ties). Six poses of each person will be taken for which there will be a sitting fee of $1.50, payable in advance. Ten minutes have been allotted for each sitting and all are asked to be prompt. Students will be excused from classes to have their pictures taken. Group pictures of clubs and societies will be taken the following Wednesday, November 26. Group presidents are asked to furnish lists of their membership.

Burack Appointed

Mr. Adelman also announced that Lacey Burack '53 has been appointed business manager in charge of senior ads. Mr. Burack asks all seniors and lower juniors who have not obtained ad blanks to contact him immediately in dorm room 317. "Over $1700 in advertising are needed," he said, "if present plans for the Masmid are to materialize." Assisting Mr. Burack are: Josef Fischer '53, Jack Reiner '54, and Seymour Schiff '53.

All those interested in contributing literary material (for the Masmid) should contact Robert Hammer '53.

Fannie Hurst To Aid Drive

Fannie Hurst, prominent American novelist, has been appointed as National Vice-Chairman of the Medical College Campaign sponsored by Yeshiva. It was announced by State Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, National Chairman. Mr. Goldstein also announced the appointment of Judge Isaac Pacht as California State Chairman of the campaign to raise $25,000,000 for the establishment of the Medical School under Yeshiva auspices.

Miss Hurst will be honorary chairman of a Women's Division luncheon honoring Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt on November 25.

Miss Hurst is the author of "Back Street," "Lummo," and "Humoresque." Judge Pacht served formerly as a justice of the Superior Court and is active in many civic and communal affairs on the West Coast.

The Mourn

Dr. Chaim Weizmann was one of the early planners and builders of the Zionist movement. He was one of the men who helped secure the realization of a re-established Jewish state of Israel, to witness its rebirth and served as its first president.

It is often claimed that Chaim Weizmann was too easy to compromise; that he had too much faith in the word of Great Britain. Perhaps his faith in man and his goodness did not permit him to act otherwise.

The State of Israel, and Jewry the world over, mourn the loss of a Jewish scholar and statesman.

Ten Minutes Are Ours:

A situation which has long been put up with by the student body is rapidly approaching a point of intolerance. In all colleges and universities, and Yeshiva is not the exception, the hour of instruction is usually limited to fifty minutes. The remaining time is given to the students to get from one class to another, to chat with their fellows, to make purchases at the coop store, to report to the office, to discuss any matter with an instructor. Clearly, therefore, the sounding of a bell to mark the end of the fifty-minute instruction period should be a signal for teacher and student alike to close books and head for the door.

However, many instructors have chosen to establish their own teaching limits, without concern or regard for the time of the student. A class called for 4 p.m. will often start five or eight minutes afterward, because of an instructor's habitual lateness. The result is that students are forced to stay past the fifty-minute period of instruction since a "certain amount of work must be covered this week," and time is running out before the end of the semester. Thus, if they are to come on time to the next class, the students have no time for themselves. Some of the worst offenders are to be found among the Roshei Ha-Yeshiva, who meet with their respective classes from 1-3 p.m. They are not exempt from limiting their discussion so that a student can reach his college classes on time.

Usurping a student's time is unjustified. Instructors who must come late should suffer the consequences of their own action. Those who become so involved as to lose track of time, ought to have a special alarm clock in class (cheap rates at coop) to remind them. Others who have so much to say that they feel fifty solid minutes do not suffice might try to plan their work in advance and cut down on the course work.

It may be a rude awakening one day when the students unite and just walk out when the bell rings.

Assembly Attendance

The appearance of almost 450 students (close to 90 per cent of the student body) at the recent I.R.S.-sponsored election assembly has offered sufficient proof that decent attendance at such gatherings is not an impossibility, if proper steps are taken. Following the example of many other colleges, the officers of the I.R.S., with the cooperation of the dean, arranged for attendance to be taken. We recommend that Student Council continue the practice at all future assemblies. Then, perhaps, a distinguished speaker will no longer be confronted by a mere handful of students, swallowed up in the vastness of Lamport Auditorium, who feel as awkward as he does.

Posting Exams

We have the assurance of the College office that the schedule of final examinations will be posted "earlier" than usual this year.

The Dean's Honor List was to have been posted in September.

Commentator Misrepresented

At a recent political rally in New York, several students of the College used the name of THE COMMENTATOR to gain entrance into Madison Square Garden, where entry was barred to the overflow crowds. While we have chosen to take no action in this instance, we will take effective measures against future offenders and make certain that serious consequences will result.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to awaken the interest of a dormant student body in the Hebrew language, which ought to be given primary consideration in an institution such as ours.

Other languages taught in the college are supplemented by clubs, conversational groups, publications, lectures and films which foster their use.

Yet the student body, including our future Hebrew teachers from the Teachers Institute do not show any interest or disappointment that our own language does not enjoy these privileges. Neither has any encouragement or advice been offered by our Hebrew instructors as to the necessity for such a club.

Discussing the situation in the dorm and finding many students interested in such a club, I was encouraged to write this letter as a rebuke for past negligence and as a proposal to the students to remedy the situation.

Post Script:

He Was Right!

Jack Glickman '53, Yeshiva's mighty mite, defied the pollsters, and showed himself to be quite right. His predictions were unsealed in the library on Thursday, November 6, with the faculty and student committees making certain that no legerdemain was involved. When the prediction was opened, it read as follows:

"I predict that Eisenhower will win the national election. Electoral vote for Eisenhower, 435; for Stevenson, 96. Popular vote for Eisenhower, 29,500,000; for Stevenson, 23,800,000. I also predict that Eisenhower will carry Florida, Texas and New York in the electoral count. A guess: popular vote in New York State: Eisenhower, 4,000,000; Stevenson, 3,000,000."

Dr. Trude Weiss-Rosmarin Sees Lull in Jewish Spirit

By Alex Hoffer

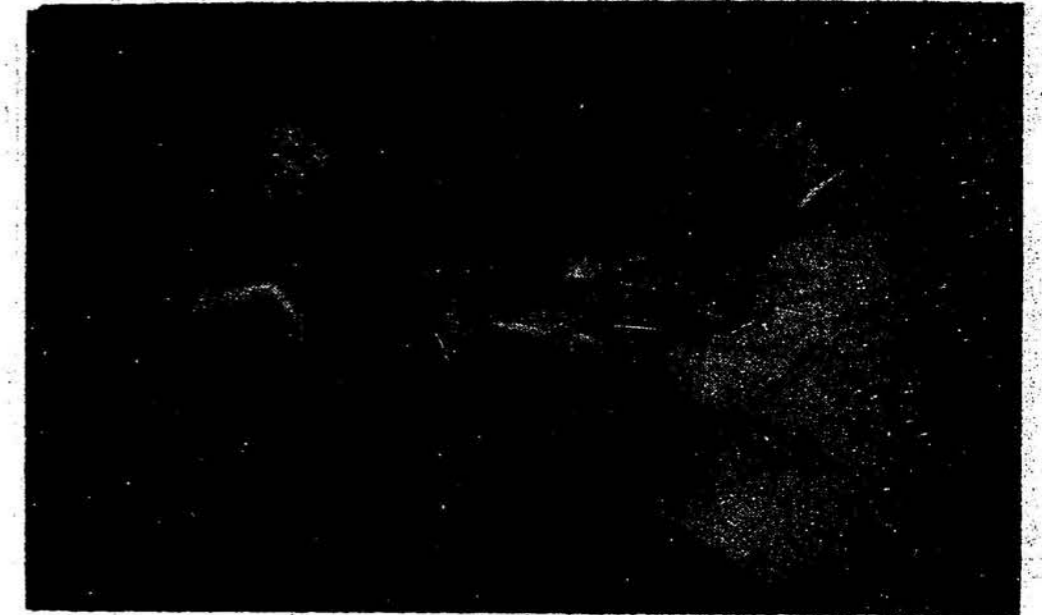

"With Israel's establishment, I thought that a new spirit of revival was injected in American Jewry," declares Dr. Trude Weiss-Rosmarin, editor, author, and lecturer. "However, since 1948, the decline in American Jewish life has manifested itself on the organizational level with most Jewish organizations showing a severe drop in total membership. The field of adult Jewish education is even more indicative. Many centers which once offered courses of Jewish studies for adults have discontinued their programs. Thus, Dr. Weiss-Rosmarin fails to see "an encouraging upsurge in Jewish interest."

When confronted, on the other hand, with the reality of a growing number of Jewish Day Schools and Synagogues, she contends that these are required merely to serve an increasing population but do not testify to a proportionally increasing Jewish consciousness.

ization. When she was twenty-two years old, she received her Ph.D. from the University of Wurzburg for a thesis on early Arab History. In 1931, she came to the United States and only four years later, founded the Jewish Spectator which she has since edited and which now has a circulation of 38,000. She founded the magazine for the "free non-partisan expression of traditional Judaism," and has made the magazine famous for her penetrating analysis and to-the-point editorials.

She has also written many books on Jewish history and re-

Ph.D. at 22

Born in Frankfort - am - Main where she received a thorough Jewish education, Dr. Weiss-Rosmarin has been a Zionist since her childhood membership in the Blue-White Jewish Youth organ-ligion. Typical of her sagacity and fearlessness is her "Hebrew Moses," an attack on Sigmund Freud's "Moses and Monotheism" in which Freud betrayed an appalling ignorance of things Jewish. She disproves Freud's attempts to make an Egyptian of Moses and to rob Judaism of its original monotheistic contribution to the world.

Dr. Trude Weiss-Rosmarin, mother of an eight year old, Moshe, a vigorous writer and speaker, firm in her Jewish convictions and effective in articulating them, might well serve to inspire American Jewish women — those Jewishly informed and intellectually alert.

Yaakov Churgin, Famous Israeli Author, Teaches at Y. U. on First Visit to U. S.

By Blalik Lerner
and Abraham Marthan

Although this is his first trip to the United States, Yaakov Churgin is no stranger to our shores. Many of his best short stories were originally published in "Hadoar," New York's Hebrew weekly. (A new story, written by Mr. Churgin, "Meim Karnot Hamizbeach," based on an incident from the Bible, is soon to be serialized in this very journal.) Moreover, he has taken a deep interest in the work of Hebrew authors in the diaspora and has kept close contact with them.

Condolences

THE COMMENTATOR extends its sincere condolences to Chaim Henoah '53 on the recent loss of his beloved father; and to Samuel Simon '54 on the recent loss of his beloved mother. May they be consoled among all the mourners of Zion and Jerusalem.

Teachers Institute and Graduate Schools, Yaakov Churgin is presenting to his students a course in Hebrew Literature from the time of the 'Enlightenment' to the present day. Mr. Churgin is stressing "the quest of the Jew for physical and spiritual independence, the reawakened Jewish national consciousness and the reaction to the recreation of a Jewish homeland, as the dominant features of this literature."

Yaakov Churgin, a native Israeli, was born in Jaffa in 1899. His father, steeped in religious learning, contributed to the founding of Rehovot. The elder Churgin sent his son to a community Talmud Torah, and to a school of secular studies, a step which was considered by the community, as a breach of tradition.

Literary Debut

After graduation from a teachers' seminary in Jerusalem in 1917, he served two years in the Turkish Army as an interpreter. When he terminated his service in the army, he began teaching, and continued to pursue his earlier interest in literature.

In 1921, Mr. Churgin made his literary debut in "HaShiloach," edited by Professor Joseph Klausner, with his poem, "Al Hakvarot." He soon took to short story writing and was acclaimed for his unique style. Yaakov Churgin's literary output, since his first stories describing Jewish life in Tiberias, now totals twenty-two volumes of prose, with many short stories and essays as yet uncollected.

In Israel, Mr. Churgin has been active in the field of journalism. He has written for "Haaretz," helped found and edit "Haboker," both dailies, and has edited several newspapers for children.

United Israel

While his past stories have had Jewish heroism and courage as their theme, such as we find in his famous trilogies, "Blev Yam" and "Yerushalaim B'lehavot," his present stories have attempted to deal with psychological problems.

Mites Prepare for 8th Campaign Under Sarachek

The basketball team of Yeshiva University opens its fourteenth season against Webb Institute on Tuesday, Nov. 25 at Glen Cove, Long Island. Webb provided one of the four victories amassed by the Mites during last year's disastrous season when Yeshiva compiled a 4-14 record.

Coach Bernard Sarachek, beginning his eighth year as basketball coach, faces the problem of revamping the squad's entire playing pattern due to an extensive change in player personalities. The Mites have lost Co-captains Ruby Davidman and Nate Krieger via graduation and veterans Larry Staiman, Abe Morhaim, and Irv Forman will be unable to play because of personal reasons.

Another pill that "Red" Sarachek will find hard to swallow is that injured Marv Hershkowitz, Yeshiva's high scoring ace, and ex-high school star 6'4" Abe Sodden will be out of action until February.

Outstanding Freshmen

Twenty hopefuls, including eight returning lettermen, have been participating in pre-season practice. Only twelve are expected to gain varsity status after the "weeding out" process is completed. Among the returning lettermen are "first stringers" Elihu Levine, last year's second highest scorer, and Morty Narrowe. Sarachek looks to an improved Jay Citron, 6'3" center, to be the backboard man for the hoopsters this year.

Charlie Freundlich, fighting forward, Allan Gewirtz, who led the team in assists last year, and speedy Ralph Schuchalter also figure prominently in Coach Sarachek's future plans.

Outstanding among the Freshmen trying out for the team are Marv Teicher, hard-driving hoopster from T. A. Uptown, and Jonah Kupietsky, a six footer from Brooklyn T. A. Both have been pleasant surprises in practice sessions and promise to play an important role in Yeshiva's basketball future. Josh Taragin and Leon Green high scorers of the junior varsity, and Neophyte Fred Anisfeld are others who have caught Coach Sarachek's eye in pre-season play.

According to Coach Sarachek, "This team is small, too small, to have a really successful season. Primarily, this is next year's team. With only three seniors on the squad, we are young and inexperienced. Despite these obstacles, we still look good. We are constantly improving, and with the addition of Hershkowitz and Sodden in mid-year we shall hit our peak. One thing will be sure, we will be in there hustling and fighting all the time."

The Sarachekeers will play a nineteen game schedule this year, which includes a trip to Pennsylvania during the first week of March when the Heighters will encounter Lycoming College at Williamsport and Kings College at Wilkes-Barre.

Alumni Game Is Scheduled For Nov. 23

The progress of the Yeshiva U. varsity squads and the physical education program was revealed at the Yeshiva University Athletic Association meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 5, in the Dormitory Social Hall.

Rabbi Avrech, speaking in behalf of the alumni, announced that the annual Yeshiva-Alumni basketball game has been scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 23. T. A. Uptown will meet the Walden School in the preliminary contest.

Tennis Coach Eli Epstein disclosed the initiation of a tennis clinic in the physical training program. The class utilizes slides, demonstrations, and lectures to instruct the student body in the fundamentals of the court game. The next clinic session will be held on Monday, Nov. 17, in the Yeshiva gym, at 8:30 p.m.

Barton Award

The coaches of the fencing and the basketball teams also presented progress reports and stressed an optimistic future for their teams. In addition, the board approved the appointment of Nisson Shulman, Captain of the 1951-52 fencing squad, to the post of Coach of the T. A. fencing team. A letter from the Barton's Candy Corporation offering to present awards to intramural champions was read to and accepted by the board.

Hy Wettstein, instructor in physical education, reported that a course in officiating has been formulated. The course will include demonstrations and talks by prominent referees, such as Lou Eisenstein. Students participating will receive P. T. credit. Mr. Wettstein urged all those interested to contact him immediately.

Ticket Plan

The Y. U. A. A. has adopted a season ticket plan for the first time, announced Sol Greenfield, athletic manager of the College.

The season ticket, which costs only three dollars, enables the student to attend all home games. In addition he may bring a guest to the first six games free. For further information students are requested to see their class athletic managers.

Fencing Tourney Program Posted

Fencing intramurals will begin on Monday, November 24, at eight P.M. in the Yeshiva gymnasium, announced Fred Klein, chairman of the program. All students who are registered in the fencing classes are eligible to enter. Varsity members may not compete in their particular weapon.

The first round of the competition will be a "round-robin" foil tourney." It will be followed by matches in epee during which the long awaited "electric epee" will be used. As in all intramural competition this year, medals will be awarded to the winners.

These awards are being sponsored by the Barton Candy Corp.

Y. U. Makes Winless but Impressive Debut Into Intercollegiate Soccer Competition

Booters Downed By Fordham, 5-1; By Maritime, 9-0

Inter-collegiate Soccer made a winless but impressive debut at Yeshiva, as the Y. U. Soccer Team bowed to Fordham, 5-1, and Maritime College, 9-0, on Nov. 2, and Oct. 24, respectively.

In the Fordham match, the team faced a squad that had overcome Queens, City College and L. I. U., and managed to maintain a scoreless tie with the Rams at the completion of the first period. Though the Booters were, for the most part, on the defensive, spectacular saves by Yeshiva goalie Sid Ingber halted the Fordham attack. Fordham, however, tallied three times in the second quarter and dented the nets twice more in the third period to account for their score. Yeshiva's lone marker was scored, with only seconds left in the final period, by Ervin Birnbaum.

Ingber Defense

The Maritime game, played at Fort Schuyler, N. Y., was the first official game of the year for the Booters after scrimmage contests with Brooklyn and City Colleges. All Blue and White attempts to score were thwarted by John Drummond, the Sailor's goalie. Forwards Kumpe and Wemple paced the offensive attack of the victors. Once again Y. U. goalie Sid Ingber played a standout game, being credited with 21 saves.

"The Yeshiva squad shows much potential," says soccer coach Gus Meyer, "and can be expected to enter in league competition next season." Despite their losses, the infant squad received the praise of opposing coaches and players alike for their fine showing, considering the little experience the team has.

Sports Profile

By Bernie Hoenig

The sports year of 1951-52 for Yeshiva has faded away, and with it the heavy weight of basketball defeat upon defeat unbalancing the sports scale, until a "minor" team, the Yeshiva Fencers, struck the balance with a phenomenal string of victories. Many unknowns rose rapidly during the surge of six straight victories, with two brothers, Eugene and Norman Tokayer, high in these ranks.

Originally hailing from Ohio, the Tokayer brothers moved east at an early age, and now reside in the Boro Park section of Brooklyn, an area which has given Yeshiva many able sports competitors. Like many others, Eugene and Norman Tokayer knew little of fencing before coming to Y. U. After being graduated from R. J. J., Norman in 1948, Eugene in 1949, both brothers immediately took an interest in fencing. One of this year's co-captains, and last season's record holder of the most individual wins, with sixteen, Eugene "Chuck" Tokayer, with his brother, is a member of the Amateur Fencing League of America. Eugene's swordsmanship is surpassed only by his interests and talents in Israeli music and dancing.

Norman in Israel

The realization of a life-long ambition interrupted the fencing career of Norman, the elder, when he left for Israel in 1950. There, he toured the country for a year, studying its industries and ways of life, with the thought of a possible future in that land. In Israel, Norman received instruction from a famous Hungarian swordsman at the Bet Maccabee, in the city of Haifa. Upon his return to Y. U. in 1951, he rejoined the Fencing team to engage in intercollegiate competition for the first time. Despite his being a rookie, Norman emerged with the team's best percentage of .900, with nine wins and only one loss. Thus, more than half of the saber squad's forty-eight victories were recorded by the Tokayer brothers.

It isn't very difficult to place the three labels of character, personality, sincerity, and a good sense of humor, on the Tokayer brothers, Yeshiva's slashing sabermen.

Yaakov Churgin

Much of his material has been culled, he says, from the immigrant camps of Israel.

Mr. Churgin's attitude is that of a true Israeli who trusts in the future of his country. He optimistically looks toward "the end of party strife" which he believes could be brought about by a united educational system in Israel. "Twenty years hence," he said, his benign smile radiating his confidence, "Israel will be, in every respect, the mightiest nation in the Middle East."

Dr. Litman is scheduled to deliver a lecture on "Santayana's Philosophy" next semester.

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields — 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
