Y.U. Charities Drive Sets Record Quota

Campaign to Commence February 9; Breakdown Is the Same as Last Year

The Yeshiva University Drive for Charities will be inaugurated during the week of February 9. Morton Schulman was appointed chairman of the drive at a meeting of the Intra-University Student Council held Thursday, January 8.

A division of 35 per cent for the United Jewish Appeal, 35 per cent for the Chever P'elim, and 30 per cent for Tashbar has been decided upon for all unspecified monies collected during the eight-week campaign. An earlier plan, proposed by the S. O. Y. at a meeting held January 7, which would have given all monies collected to P'elim and Tashbar equally, and a compromise plan, which would have given P'elim 40 per cent, U. J. A. 35 per cent and Tashbar 25 per cent were rejected in favor of last year's percentage breakdown. The reversal came at a special meeting of the S. O. Y. held Monday morning, January 12.

$4,500 Quota

Mr. Schulman announced that this year's quota will be $4,500, an increase of fifteen hundred dollars over last year. This increase, he stated, was necessitated by the urgent need of the causes which the Y. U. Drive supports. Last year, under the chairmanship of Irwin Shapiro '53, a total of $3700 was raised, topping the announced goal of $3000, by seven hundred dollars.

During the drive students will be expected to contribute a minimum of twenty-five cents a week. Weekly bulletins will be issued on the progress of the drive.

Classicists Learn Of Life in Pompei

A program on life in Ancient Rome and Pompei was presented by Eranos, the Classical Society of Yeshiva, Monday, December 29, in Graduate Hall. Joel Balsam '54 spoke on "The Leisure Time Activities in Ancient Rome." In discussing the gladiatorial combats and the chariot races, Mr. Balsam stressed the social and economic condition of the masses who viewed these bloody spectacles. "In Rome proper there were over one-hundred and fifty thousand idlers, people who were contented as long as they were supplied with bread and entertainment. These people, in contrast with their energetic forefathers, were instrumental in Rome's decay and downfall," he declared.

Also featured on the program was an exhibition of a selected group of slides by Mr. Herbert J. Lerner '55, Secretary-Treasurer of Eranos. In his exhibition, entitled "Sights and Scenes of Rome and Pompei," Mr. Lerner showed the audience some illustrations of Roman and Pompeian architecture, including streets and theatre views, giving a running commentary with each picture. The slides are a part of Dr. Bernard Floch's collection of classical material.

Debaters Plan North, South Spring Tours

Plans for the spring tours of Yeshiva's Debating Society have been announced by Gil Rosenthal '53, president of the Society. Three tours will be made, beginning February 23.

Mr. Rosenthal and Jacob Heller '56, will meet Harvard, Boston University, Boston College, The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Tufts, Simmons, Brown and Northeastern University on the Northern Tour. Sam April '54, Morton Geffer '55 and Joel Balsam '54, will participate in the New York State Tour. Their opponents will include Albany State Teachers College, Union College, Syracuse, Colgate, Cornell and Lehigh University.

The Southern Tour, which will include debates with the University of Pennsylvania, Temple University, Villanova, Haverford, Loyola College of Baltimore, University of Maryland Law School, Johns Hopkins University, Goucher College, University of Maryland, Howard, Georgetown, George Washington University, United States Naval Academy, and St. Johns College of Annapolis, will be made by Jack Adelman '53, Fishel Pearlmuter '55, Eli Lauer '54 and Joseph Kaplan '56.

Deutch Addresses Pre-Med. Society

Alexander Deutch '53, spoke on "Applying to Medical School" at a meeting of the Pre-Med Society, Wednesday, January 7, in room 405. Making out applications, the Medical College Admission Test and the interview were discussed.

Mr. Deutch, president of the Society, announced that Dr. Bruno Z. Kisch, noted cardiologist and Professor of Chemistry, will address the Society in February. Dr. Kisch will speak on "The Application of Electron Microscopy to Cardiological Problems."

Mr. Deutch and Seymour Einhorn '54 have been accepted to N. Y. U.-Bellevue and Flower Medical Schools, respectively.

Hershey Presents Collection To Y.U. at Special Ceremony

Dr. Samuel Belkin (center) is shown as he received the Collection of Versailles Conference Papers from Mr. Burnet Hershey. Looking on is Mrs. Hershey, the donor's mother.

Mr. Burnet Hershey, veteran foreign correspondent, made a formal presentation of his Collection of the Versailles Conference Papers to Dr. Samuel Belkin, President of Yeshiva University, in a brief ceremony in Pollack Library, Tuesday, December 30. The donation, in honor of Mr. Hershey's late father, Joseph, was witnessed by the donor's family, and members of the Yeshiva faculty.

The collection comprises some 5,000 documents gathered over a period of twenty years. One of the prizes of the collection is an original copy of the Versailles Treaty. This was the first treaty brought to the United States, by Mr. Hershey, just a few days after the story behind it had hit the press, for the personal perusal of his publisher, the late Frank Munsey. Mr. Munsey then turned it over to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, then Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The document, called the "First Edition of the Covenant," shows the unsettled clauses of the pact omitted before the Conference decisions. This was one of about half a dozen struck off hurriedly for the approval and correction of President Wilson.

Dr. Belkin announced that Yeshiva plans eventually to give a complete photostat replica of the Hershey Collection to the Hebrew University in Israel.

Dean, Council Meet, Discuss Maier Case

Dr. Isaacs Says That Reconsideration Of Administration Stand Is Impossible

Climaxing a long series of negotiations, Student Council met with Dean Moses L. Isaacs, for two hours, in his office, Thursday afternoon, January 8, to hear a complete explanation of the "Maier Case." While an invitation to attend the meeting was extended to THE COMMENTATOR, permission to publish the entire discussion was withheld. Following the session, the dean issued the following statement for publication:

Name Jakubovitz To Commie Board

Edward Jakubovitz '53 has been appointed Managing Editor, and Martin Greenhut '56 has been named Copy Editor of THE COMMENTATOR, announced Irwin E. Witty '53, editor-in-chief.

Mr. Jakubovitz, who replaces Jack Adelman '53, is a resident of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. He has been on the news staff of THE COMMENTATOR for three years, and is assistant editor of The Masmid. Mr. Greenhut, who hails from Rockville Center, New York, was editor-in-chief of the Academy News last year.

Mr. Witty announced that the position of associate editor is being vacated by the graduation of Leon Kestenbaum '53. No successor has yet been named.

Arab-Israel Rift Is Culture Clash, Speaker Asserts

"The clash between Israel and the Arabs is in reality a clash between Eastern and Western cultures," said the Reverend Karl Baehr, Executive Secretary of the American Christian Palestine Committee, at an I.R.S. meeting Monday, January 5, in the Dorm Social Hall.

Mr. Baehr, who has recently returned from a tour of the Middle East, reported on the dangerous conditions existing in Arab refugee camps. "Those running the camps are busily engaged in fomenting hatred towards America and Israel," the speaker reported. "The basic problems facing Israel," said Mr. Baehr, "are the failure of the Arabs to reconcile themselves psychologically with the existence of Israel, and the open sore that the Arab refugees represent."

"Is the U. S. Losing Its Friends?" was the subject of the Conference of the Middle Atlantic Region of International Relations Clubs which was attended by a delegation from Yeshiva. The conference was held at the University of Pennsylvania, Monday to Wednesday, December 29-31. Gil Rosenthal '53, Jack Adelman '53 and Neil Hecht '54, comprised the Yeshiva delegation.

Among the speakers heard at the conference were Harold Stassen, Norman Thomas, and Dr. Ju Chan Yang, Korean Ambassador to the United States.

"I have met with the Student Council and have made clear to them all the facts in the case. We discussed the unfortunate disagreement between Mr. Maier and the administration, which could have been settled amicably in September. The matter, however, has now reached a point where any reconsideration of the situation by the administration cannot be made. A series of situations have developed which have worsened matters and have precluded any further consideration of the issue."

Irwin Shapiro '53, President of Student Council, told THE COMMENTATOR that "most of the members of Council were satisfied with the dean's explanation." "Furthermore," he said, "Council members lauded Dean Isaacs' action in meeting with the students for a clarification of all the issues in the case."

Shapiro Sees Dean

Earlier the same day, at noon, Student Council met to hear a report by Mr. Shapiro on an interview with Dean Isaacs, in which the latter expressed his

Psych Club Hears Lecture on Israel

"Israel does not need half-baked psychologists, but competent, fully qualified men of experience," Dr. Benjamin Wolman, Professor of Psychology at City College and Yeshiva's Graduate School, declared at a meeting of the Psychological Society, Wednesday, January 7, in Riets Hall.

Dr. Wolman described his own work in Israel which included the investigation of personality, mental health, and the intelligence quotients of the population of Israel. He found that the new immigrants, who form a majority, try to conform to the social norms of the established community.

In discussing psycho-social problems of Israel, he revealed that today there is still a moderate need for "prepared psychologists," since Israel affords little opportunity for acquiring experience in psychology. Furthermore, professional training in the field of psychology is far better in the United States, the speaker said. He advised that a person planning to enter into the field of psychology in Israel should have at least a Masters' degree. Opportunities in private practice are greatly limited, he explained, since the average Israeli cannot afford to visit a psychologist.

A Last Look

The storm of student excitement that broke with the protest meeting of last Wednesday has subsided, following the dean's meeting with Student Council and the advent of final week. The student body, albeit through an unauthorized channel has learned of the "facts" from Mr. Maier. The dean, too, has explained the "facts" to Student Council. It seems to us, however, that a last look at the case is warranted.

Dean Isaacs, in answering the queries of Student Council, stated that, while Mr. Maier may have been given a chance to remain at Yeshiva when the issue first came up in September, "A series of situations has developed which has worsened matters and has precluded any further consideration of the issue."

Notwithstanding Council's statement of "satisfaction" with their knowledge of the facts of the entire affair, we feel that we are still woefully ignorant of all the circumstances surrounding Mr. Maier's leaving. About the only thing that we are sure of is that the dean is to be highly commended for his action of submitting himself to Student Council questioning. We feel that this move, if turned into a permanent institution in student-administration affairs, would go a long way in ameliorating all intra-University crises.

Good Luck, "Avrum"!

Mr. "Avrum" Wajngurt is leaving Yeshiva after several years of devoted service to the College as a member of the Chemistry Department. Everyone will remember him for faithfully fulfilling his task of making experiments work and for his meticulous performances in the exacting role as chief proctor.

We wish him luck in his new endeavors.

Always a Scapegoat

The day of naive sympathy for the Soviet Union is over. The "Soviet Experiment," the noble attempt to bring man to an earthly, economic paradise has finally been unmistakably exposed as the indecent "come-on" of a ruthless dictator and his cohorts to enslave the world. Now, with the hypocrisy of Soviet policy visible to all with eyes to see, including many of the Russian and East-European unfortunates, the universal scapegoat, the Jew, has been dragged out to divert the Russians, whose serfdom and low standard of living belies the Marxist textbooks and the propaganda of Pravda. Again the tortured expression of disillusionment haunts Jewish faces—in Moscow, in Prague, in Berlin. For the second time in the space of a few years, charges of Jewish "plots" and "intrigues" are poisoning the minds of nations, rendered more susceptible by improvements in communications. The eternal insecurity of the Jew in the Diaspora is once again being illustrated, in countries where "it couldn't happen."

On the same day when the arrest of "terrorist Jewish doctors" was broadcast by Pravda, Representative Walter, co-author of the McCarran Act, declared that reconsideration of the Act should not be influenced by "professional Jews."

We must face the reality that once the thin veneer of civilization is removed from people of the most diverse origins, they are very often brothers under the skin.

Mr. Sidney Pleskin Was All Prepared For A-V Job Since His Buffalo Days

By Robert Hammer

When Sidney Pleskin was in grade-school in Buffalo, he wrote and produced a play for his school. The principal remarked, "Someday we'll see Sidney in Hollywood!"

After majoring in engineering in high school, where he was granted a scholarship to Buffalo University to study both dramatics and debating, he enrolled in a Toronto Yeshiva and stayed at the home of Rabbi Joseph Kaminsky. Later, while studying at Yeshiva Torah Vodaat, and simultaneously supervising the dormitory, he attempted to introduce Audio-Visual methods into Jewish education against the opposition of practically everyone.

At camps run by Hashomer Hadati and Mesifita, he staged many plays (including an original Yiddish version of the "Dybbuk") which convinced many that dramatics could be used to teach Judaism. To him, dramatics, photography and all technical devices are no more than raw materials from which one can formulate better methods of education.

While a student at Yeshiva College, he made many recordings including one depicting a Hasidic family celebrating Shabbat. He spent his nights trying to persuade Jewish individuals and organizations to use A-V methods. It is impossible to estimate the miles trugged in his pre-Plymouth days, lugging heavy equipment around the city, but his efforts were fruitless. Audio-Visual and Jewish education seemed to be an impossible combination.

Letter to the Editor

I. R. S. President's Action Is Denounced by S. C. Veep

To the Editor:

At the Student Council meeting of December 10, 1952 a motion was unanimously passed that: "All club charters are to expire as of December 10, 1952. All clubs are required to hand in reports of their activities and a petition for renewing the charter by the next meeting of Student Council in order to have their respective clubs chartered."

As soon as the next date was set for a Student Council meeting, I posted a notice on the S. A. C. bulletin board to the effect that no clubs may meet after December 24, without having complied with the above mentioned items. The first response to the requests was from the Sociological Society which had a meeting scheduled for that week. The Pre-Med Society and the Psychology Society requested and were granted permission to have a meeting after the date set, with the understanding that they will prepare the necessary information.

Meeting Unauthorized

After the New Year's vacation the International Relations Society posted notices for a meeting to be held January 6, 1953. However, all notices of this meeting, which although cleared by the Clearing House Committee, was not held in accordance with the Student Council Resolution, were removed by members of S. A. C. The president of the society interrupted Dr. Isaacs' while a class was in session and had him override the resolution of the Student Council. In other words, he received permission from the Dean to hold this meeting which was in direct opposition to the desires of Student Council. This action, did not save the meeting. A noted personality had been invited to speak, but hardly a soul showed up at the meeting.

The question remains, why have the I. R. S. and other clubs not complied with the Student Council resolution? It may have been an oversight on the part of the executive officers of these clubs. Or, the fact may be that they are just lazy, inefficient, and care nothing about the club, only to have the "honor" of an executive office.

Vice President

From the Files

January, 1938: Professor Moses L. Isaacs, Head of the Department of Physical Sciences, was unanimously recommended for appointment to the position of Dean of Yeshiva College by the Alumni Association at its first meeting of the winter season.

In a statement to the editor of THE COMMENTATOR and to the president of the Student Council, Dr. Revel said yesterday that an official announcement of importance in relation to the deanship might be expected in the near future.

January 1, 1948: On December 17, the Biology club heard Dr. Alexander Litman, Professor of Philosophy, speak on genetics and the breeding of prize canaries. Dr. Litman, winner of many prizes for family birds, and in particular of the perpetual Trophy of the Board of Fanciers, discussed the qualities of good show birds and the difficulties involved in raising them, stressing various methods of breeding.

January 15, 1948: Eighty-three year old Harry Fischel, a founder of Yeshiva College, died on January 1 in Jerusalem, where in June he had taken up permanent residence. His association with Yeshiva, to which he contributed great sums, was climaxed by his chairmanship of its building committee in 1928 and his endowment of the Harry Fischel School for Higher Jewish Studies in 1945.

An Overlapped Scribe
Discovers Track Team
With Aid of Second Wind

By Sheldon Rudoff

Back in the old days when Professor Wettstein was still a Mister, he used to run us around the gymnasium about ten times to "round you guys into shape." On one occasion, a few students actually completed the course, and immediately talk of forming a track team was underway. Yours truly, being overlapped on the sixth time around, was too fatigued to listen carefully. However, last week a notice on the bulletin board informed me that it just wasn't talk that I heard that night. As it turned out, it may be history in the making! It seems that track is Coach Wettstein's first love, for back in his high school days, he was captain of the George Washington High School squad. He was a member of the 1930 Penn Relay Championship team. Now, after toying with the idea for a few years, Professor Wettstein thinks he has the nucleus for a track team. That notice we were talking about urged all track enthusiasts to contact him in order that a training schedule can be arranged.

Like all varsity sports at Yeshiva, with the possible exception of fencing, track is hampered by the facilities at the team's disposal. While our gymnasium may be ideally suited for Dean's receptions, it leaves much to be desired, athletically speaking. (It is to that end, the improvement of athletic facilities, that the YUAA has been working.) However, Professor Wettstein has made arrangements to secure the 168 Street Armory for workouts, once a convenient practice time can be arranged. A training program has been prepared, and if the team rounds into shape, Yeshiva may have an entry in the Met Open Meets this Spring.

To Yeshiva basketball fans (both of them) it invariably seems that all referees ought to "open the other eye" or "get a wheel chair, will ya?" This phenomenon, of course, is not peculiar to Yeshiva, but to all sports addicts. Possibly to curb such action, but more probably to add to the Yeshiva student's leadership training, a course in officiating is being offered by the Phys. Ed. department for the coming semester. The course will give each student practice in refereeing, and highlight guest lectures by prominent basketball officials. The course, which will be supervised by Mr. Wettstein, has been highly recommended by Coach Sarachek—and there's one guy who should know.

Rabbi Abraham Avrech, well known in sports circles as chief scout for the Yeshiva University basketball team, introduced me to Dr. Hyman Aranoff last week. Doctor Aranoff played basketball for Yeshiva before many of us were even born. In those days, the Mites were an uncoached pick-up squad who successfully competed against local junior varsities and night colleges. "We played a wild game of basketball, but it was a lot of fun," the good doctor informed me. Well, in their game with Cathedral last Wednesday, Yeshiva almost turned the clock back twenty years. It was a wild, woolly affair with the Mites unable to pull off any plays against a rushing, hustling Cathedral team. The Mites had too much over all strength for their opponents, and won. Dr. Aranoff witnessed the game and probably mused to himself, "Just like the old days."

Watching our infant wrestling team in action last week set me thinking about the place of sports in the Yeshiva student's academic career. The wrestling "team" is a group of fourteen fellows who work out every week with Mr. Bernie Lloyd, captain of the City College Wrestling Team. The squad employs four well worn 4' x 8' mats, less than half the regulation size, for their drills in the fundamentals of the sport. Because of the lack of adequate equipment they are forced to work in shifts. It's these would-be wrestlers, the soccer team, the tennis squad and our hoopsters, who are forced to hold their practice sessions away from the "campus," who prove that Yeshiva students like sports. They serve as a direct rebuke to those who wish to minimize the place of athletics at Yeshiva, who wish to see Yeshiva contingents sneak stealthily and silently away on their trips to meet their opponents. Their smallness in number is testimonial to the smallness of their viewpoint.

Unbeaten Ramaz
And Chaim Berlin
Top H. S. League

At the half-way mark of the Jewish High School League 1952-53 season, unbeaten Chaim Berlin and Ramaz have emerged as leaders of their respective divisions.

The big surprise of the season, thus far, is the unsteady play of top-rated Manhattan Talmudical Academy, recently being knocked down from the first place berth of Division I with defeats by fast moving Brooklyn Talmudical Academy, and Chaim Berlin.

In the other division first-year entries Flatbush and Far Rockaway Yeshivot have shown much fight and hustle, but lack of experience keeps them from being leading contenders in the league. Ramaz High School, with two victories and no losses, holds a one-game margin over second place Torah Vodaat of Brooklyn. Leading the loop in scoring is Allen Helfer of Brooklyn Talmudical Academy, a likely prospect for this year's Most Valuable Player award.

Plans for this year include an all-star contest with the Catholic High Schools Champion, or the Private Schools All-Star team.

Cathedralers Bow
To Yeshiva, 64-62

The Yeshiva hoopsters squeaked out a 64-62 win over Cathedral College, Wednesday, January 7, at the Cardinal Hayes High School gymnasium in the Bronx.

The Mites soared away early in the contest and built up a fifteen point margin midway in the first half. However, Cathedral, employing the "sleeper play," a fast break and taking advantage of the Heighters mental lapses, narrowed the lead down to 33-27 at half time.

Sam Feder Takes Foil Intramurals

Samuel Feder emerged as the winner of the first round of fencing intramurals which were held in foil. Feder defeated runner up Norman Toporovsky who edged out Howard Spear to qualify for the finals. Fred Klein, who is managing the fencing intramurals program, finished fourth. The following are a list of those students who competed:

FINALISTS: S. Feder, N. Toporovsky, H. Spear, F. Klein, S. Ingber, H. Rosenberg, H. Panitch, A. Davila.
SEMI-FINALISTS: S. Gottlieb, M. Applebaum, B. Greenbaum, S. Greenfield, N. Tokayer, S. Berger, A. Rosenberg, M. Greenhut.
PRELIMINARY ENTRIES: M. Techman, H. Karten, B. Lieberman, M. Grajower, S. Mogilner, H. Schwartzstein, H. Kirsch, S. Needelman, L. Chameides, M. Federbush.

Mr. Klein also announced that the next round of intramurals in epee will take place at the beginning of next semester.

Jrs. Edge Sophs in Hoop Playoffs;
Turk's 21 Markers Paces Champs

Sparked by Gerald Turk's 21 points, the Junior class came out on top of the Sophs in the playoff game for the Yeshiva hoop championship, 43-39. The contest, which took place Thursday, January 8, was the finale of the very successful basketball intramurals which officially ended in a tie between the victors and the Sophs.

The Sophomores were led by Dave Lifshitz and Gene Horn, who scored fourteen and ten points respectively.

Medals, donated by the Bartons Candy Corp., will be awarded to the victorious Sophomore squad.

Dean Explains

willingness to meet with S. C. Mr. Shapiro was directed to see the dean by a resolution passed at a meeting held the previous evening, Wednesday, January 7. At that meeting, a resolution was passed unanimously to ask the dean for a meeting with Student Council in the presence of Mr. Maier and Professor Rosenberg.

The conditions of the meeting were discussed with the dean, and while he refused to meet with Mr. Maier or Professor Rosenberg, he willingly assented to a meeting with S. C.

The meeting of Student Council Wednesday evening was held following an anonymously called protest meeting, announced by unsigned handbills circulated throughout the building. The meeting, called for Riets Hall, was chaired by Professor Abraham Hurwitz when no one came forward to conduct the assembly.

Statistics

Twenty-five of the five-hundred and twenty-six students attending Yeshiva College, or close to five percent, are holders of state scholarships, revealed Mr. Morris Silverman, registrar. "The percentage is possibly one of the highest in the state," said Dean Isaacs.
