PEACE FORUMS
GET UNDER WAY
WITH LECTURE
Speaker Points Out Work
Of Forces For War
At Present

The International Relations
Club's new program of peace forums was started Wednesday evening with a address by Mr. August C. Glass, noted speaker and author, deliv-erg the opening lecture.
Mr. Glass, who was a member of the N.Y. Legislature from 1918-29 and was twice ejected from office because of his anti-war leanings, attacked the subject of peace and war from the point of view of the United States. The Dr. Glass, in his account of the history of the war, explained the transition from early childhood to ad-thek, pointed out the fact that we were in the midst of a war and that winter with forces literally waging war against us in mind. The governments, in their attempt to make us understand and accept the war, have been trying to win us over to their side.

Continued

As to the possibilities of another war, Mr. Glass said that it is not likely that war will break out unless we are really determined to make it happen. He pointed out that the war will only end when we realize that it is not worth fighting for and when we are willing to make peace.

COMMITTEES FOR 1937 ANNOUNCED
Hartstein Publishes New List of Appointments

Standing faculty committees for the current year were announced by Registrar Jacob J. Hartstein recently. The following committees have the task of making a list of faculty officers for the coming year:

1. Committee on Selection and Appointments of Faculty Members
2. Committee on Awards and Scholarships
3. Committee on Curriculum
4. Committee on Research
5. Committee on Student Affairs

The duties of the Committee on Selection and Appointments consist of present the appointment of new faculty members, to be submitted for the appointment of new faculty members, to be submitted for appointment by the faculty.

Novel Party Idea
Will Be Launched
By Seniors Dec. 1

Other Classes To Follow As Hit Series
Of Affairs

The social and financial committees working jointly have decided to put into effect social affairs becoming next month in be sponsored by each class, which will mark the opening of social affairs in the college life in the spirit of friendship and more intimate relations among the students.

Each class will invite the entire student body to attend these affairs, which will be sponsored by the class president on the evening of December 1, in the dormitory social hall. The program will be arranged to entertai-

Continued

Something For Nothing Fans
Get Final Dope On Contest

BY HERBERT GROSZ
The announcement last week of the novel contest, sponsored by the BROADWAY PRODUCTIONS are awarded to five

Students who win a prize will be

Students: the same broad tone which means anyone offically registered in Yeshiva College.

The event was a Thanksgiving feast enjoyed by members of the lodge and invited guests.

Although no decision was

Yeshiva Hailed As Offering
Only Solution For Education

Presented With Portrait Of Himself As Gift Of Faculty

Twelve hundred persons toured the Astor Hotel, Sunday evening, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Yeshiva and the twelfth anniversary of its guidance under Dr. Bernard Revel. Chairman of the Board of Trustees Dr. Revel characterized the Yeshiva as the soul of the "modern Jew" in a series of speeches and addresses.

"It is the analytical minds of the Yeshiva students," he said, "who have hard work done by discovering the significance of this new trend. Far from being t only in the mind of the student, it is a reality which involves the whole body of learning."

As he ended his remarks,

DEBATES OPPOSE
N.Y.U. TEAM AGAIN

In the first inter-collegiate ex-

Maurice Levin, President

Mahony, and James F.,

St. John's University, and

Jewish Students' Union of

The announcement last week of the novel contest sponsored by the Community and a hit this series of affairs, at a small cost and without a profit. The prizes to be awarded on December 1 are as follows:

1. First prize: $500 cash award
2. Second prize: $200 cash award
3. Third prize: $100 cash award
4. Fourth prize: $50 cash award
5. Fifth prize: $25 cash award

The contest is open to all students in the college
who have written a novel and who are registered in the college for the current year. The contest deadline is December 1, 1937.

The contest is open to all students in the college
who have written a novel
and who are registered in the college for the current year. The contest deadline is December 1, 1937.
The Shekel—A Duty

The future of the Palestinian Yishuv is hanging in the balance. Upon the recommendations of the royal commission investigating the treaty, the British government will decide whether to adopt a policy to respect Palestine.

The government will decide whether to allow Jewish immigration to continue unhindered or to control the entry of non-Jews. It will determine whether or not the Yishuv should continue its hitherto phenomenal growth. The possibility of the creation of a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine, at least temporarily, be established or denied.

At a time when hundreds of thousands of Jews throughout Europe are suffering from physical, social, and economic oppression we cannot stand by and watch them drift off to their last refuge. When the Yishuv is finally developing into the center of world Jewry we dare not remain passive when its growth is threatened.

We know how a British colonial policy is determined and must be ready to cope with its opportunism. It is no secret that the exigencies of British imperialism, not the objective conditions prevailing in Palestine, will be the final criteria. The decisive factor in affecting England’s attitude will be the pressure exerted by the opposing sides, not the justice of their claims.

World Jewry must therefore unite in backing those agencies which can represent it in dealing with the British government. We will not use the unscrupulous methods of intimidation employed by the Ariel. We are a logically organized as are the several Arab states of the Levant which have wielded great influence in recent months. We are not accoutered in the lap of recognition granted to them in the number of people actively supporting our cause.

It is consequently more important than ever that we support the Shekel campaign of the World Zionist organization and by buying our Shekelin, become officially enrolled in its ranks. The present emergency makes it imperative that the campaign of the World Zionist Organization be supported by all.}

The election of the Shekelin, as a consequence of the fundamental party issues which are usually the incentive to purchase a Shekel, will have no influence on the number of Shekelin and will exceed all previous records. Only in this manner can we lend power to the Zionist cause in its present fight for life.

It is the obligation of everyone who recognizes the gravity of this situation to purchase a Shekel. None may shirk this duty.

Censorship in Texas

It is too bad that so few of us have heard of what is perhaps one of the most flagrant violations of academic freedom in colleges at the present time.

We refer to the shameful imposition of censorship on one of the oldest college dailies in the south—The Daily Texan of the University of Texas.

We use the word “censorship” advisedly. There are few other words to describe the action of a college board that endeavors to reduce its student body to the level of sophomoric unthinking ignoramuses. This has been done by suppressing—if such a thing is possible—all evidence of clear and independent thinking on the part of students.

All comment on off-campus subjects has been deleted from the Texas. So has criticism of administrative policies within the college. So we will write to the editor of the Daily Texan that the power of censorship is at work.

It is significant that one of the first editorialists of the Texan to be censored commented on a government investigation into the affair interests. This is an extremely suggestive indication as to motive.

Evidently, in Texas, the sensibilities of the vested interests are more highly regarded than academic freedom and the right to free discussion is difficult to improve.

A Student Court

(he understanding that plans are afoot for the establishment of a student court to have complete jurisdiction over matters pertaining to discipline as well as a source of gratification to us for more than one reason.

There exists a real need for a body of this sort, and there are great possibilities in store. We can perform a vital function in the college.

Discipline is never really arrived at through imposition or high-handed, arbitrary methods. The only effective measure is the kind of discipline that is the result of our own greater degree the evil they attempt to eradicate.

Real discipline can be reached only through mutual understanding and cooperation between instructors and the judiciary body and through sympathetic consideration by the latter, whatever it be. This is where a student court comes in.

For the only possible method of securing this ideal means of enforcing regulations in an effective manner, is the establishment of an undergraduate board of this sort.

Not the least of its value would lie in the recommendations it could make to us to underlie causes for infractions and suggestions for future regulations. This is a very important part of the question. One of the most forceful arguments for the establishment of the court is the fact that a board of students could, better than any administrative channel, appreciate and understand the circumstances surrounding individual cases and could thus render verdicts in their true perspective.

In this lies the crux of the matter. Measures could be curative, not essentially preventive. There is no doubt that this subject is too lenient. It is a matter of fact that similar bodies in the past have adequately proven themselves capable of handling cases with the same degree of skill and thoroughness.

An opportunity is here. As a matter of fact, when the Senate and House of Representatives are in session, there will be no more opportunity to offer the State of Texas a solution to the problem.

To the Editor of the Commentary:

Dear Sir: With due respect to Mr. Werfel's name-calling ability and literary capacity, which in last week's letter to the Editor were identical, it must be pointed out that his power of definition lacks sense of proportion and setting.

"Presidential prevarication is governed entirely by political desires and the needs and the wherefores are private matters," while possibly applicable in the case of Yedwob of years, is entirely foreign to Yeshiva of 1906, especially the student administration. The danger of such presidential power is obvious even in the execution of delegated constitutional powers. Such much more in the assumption by the executive of unconstitutional power. That such is now the case can be seen from the appointment of the Haganah by the editor to the editorial of the Maamik, the vacancy having resulted from the resignation of Mr. Felsen. For the following last year's lack of courage to make this appointment.

The constitution provides for the outgoing governing board of the Maamik to elect the new editor. Last year's board elected Mr. Felsen, editor of the Maamik, and Mr. Felsen as editor of the literary supplement. In the event that the supplement should not agree, they provided, that the Maamik should become editor of the Maamik with Mr. Goren. The board, however, showed no intention of handing over the editorship to the Maamik, the vacancy having resulted from the resignation of Mr. Felsen. For the following last year's lack of courage to make this appointment.

The constitution provides for the outgoing governing board of the Maamik to elect the new editor. Last year's board elected Mr. Felsen, editor of the Maamik, and Mr. Felsen as editor of the literary supplement. In the event that the supplement should not agree, they provided, that the Maamik should become editor of the Maamik with Mr. Goren. The board, however, showed no intention of handing over the editorship to the Maamik, the vacancy having resulted from the resignation of Mr. Felsen. For the following last year's lack of courage to make this appointment.

From the above it is evident that the Maamik has no right to make this appointment. The Maamik should provide for the outgoing governing board of the Maamik to elect the new editor. Last year's board elected Mr. Felsen, editor of the Maamik, and Mr. Felsen as editor of the literary supplement. In the event that the supplement should not agree, they provided, that the Maamik should become editor of the Maamik with Mr. Goren. The board, however, showed no intention of handing over the editorship to the Maamik, the vacancy having resulted from the resignation of Mr. Felsen. For the following last year's lack of courage to make this appointment.
ON THE SIDELINES
By ABE NOVICK

CRITICISM

Certainly, students in the college have expressed their negative feelings to the acquisition of a basketball coach by student council. They are unable to understand the appropriation of funds to an extracurricular activity in which only a minority of students can participate. It even occurred to me, during the meeting, that I was reading the lines from a football team, or for that matter an organization where an activity could be a part of the college's extracurricular program.

I thought that this critical spirit of our basketball team would die down. But seeing the team at a recent game, I was surprised to see that the team was still critical of our college. Yes, I agree that the basketball team is a part of the college and we should have the right to express our feelings about it. But we should also be understanding of the university's decision to bring in a new coach.

The team's criticism of the new coach is understandable, but they should also be supportive of the decision. After all, the coach is hired to lead the team, and the team should give him a chance to prove himself. We cannot judge him based on our initial perceptions of him.

Dr. Theodore Abel, instructor in sociology at Yeshiva College, offers this warning: "The decision to bring in a new coach is a difficult one for the team to make. They have to trust the coach to lead them to their next victory."

In the end, the team must also consider the impact of their criticism. If they continue to criticize the new coach, it may affect their performance on the court. They need to focus on the game and their team, not on the coach's decisions.

Yeshiva College basketball team needs to reconsider their critical spirit towards the new coach. They should give him a chance to prove himself and lead the team to victory. Only then can they truly evaluate his coaching abilities and make a decision on whether he is the right fit for the team.

Yeshiva CollegeBasketball Drop First Encounter To Webb

Goldblatt Leads Trojans in Stern Drive In Second Half Attempt to Overcome Lead

Yeshiva College chalked up its first defeat of the season last week. The team was defeated by the Stern College Trojans in a hard-fought game. Goldblatt, a senior, led the way with his performance in the second half, attempting to overcome the team's lead.

The game started off with the Yeshiva team in the lead, but the Stern Trojans were able to close the gap. In the second half, Goldblatt stepped up his game, scoring six points to help the team stay in the game. Although the team was unable to overcome the lead, Goldblatt's performance was impressive.

Dr. Theodore Abel, instructor in sociology at Yeshiva College, offers this warning: "The decision to bring in a new coach is a difficult one for the team to make. They have to trust the coach to lead them to their next victory."

In the end, the team must also consider the impact of their criticism. If they continue to criticize the new coach, it may affect their performance on the court. They need to focus on the game and their team, not on the coach's decisions.

Yeshiva College basketball team needs to reconsider their critical spirit towards the new coach. They should give him a chance to prove himself and lead the team to victory. Only then can they truly evaluate his coaching abilities and make a decision on whether he is the right fit for the team.

TOURNAMENT TO START IN MONTH

Flag Pong Competition To Begin Under Gordon

Jerry Gordon '56, manager of the classroom, announced yesterday that a ping pong tournament will begin sometime next month. The tournament will be open to all students and will be a great way to bring the community together.

Dr. Theodore Abel, instructor in sociology at Yeshiva College, offers this warning: "The decision to bring in a new coach is a difficult one for the team to make. They have to trust the coach to lead them to their next victory."

In the end, the team must also consider the impact of their criticism. If they continue to criticize the new coach, it may affect their performance on the court. They need to focus on the game and their team, not on the coach's decisions.

Yeshiva College basketball team needs to reconsider their critical spirit towards the new coach. They should give him a chance to prove himself and lead the team to victory. Only then can they truly evaluate his coaching abilities and make a decision on whether he is the right fit for the team.

Intramural Managers List

Revised Game Schedule

Laron Charney '51 and Irving Newman, intramural managers, today issued the revised schedule for the fall of the year. All students are urged to participate.

The schedule includes games in a variety of sports, including basketball, tennis, and volleyball. The games will be held on Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays.

Dr. Theodore Abel, instructor in sociology at Yeshiva College, offers this warning: "The decision to bring in a new coach is a difficult one for the team to make. They have to trust the coach to lead them to their next victory."

In the end, the team must also consider the impact of their criticism. If they continue to criticize the new coach, it may affect their performance on the court. They need to focus on the game and their team, not on the coach's decisions.

Yeshiva College basketball team needs to reconsider their critical spirit towards the new coach. They should give him a chance to prove himself and lead the team to victory. Only then can they truly evaluate his coaching abilities and make a decision on whether he is the right fit for the team.
America's All-Star Eleven

60 yard dashes...passes and punts...touchdowns...performance!
That's how America picks 'em.

And when you pick the all-star cigarette eleven, it's performance again, it's what a cigarette does that counts.

Eleven letters that spell all the good things a cigarette can give...mildness...a pleasing taste and aroma...a blend of mild ripe, home-grown and Turkish tobaccos rolled in pure cigarette paper...the essentials of a good cigarette.