PROJECT OF PWA

Other Highly Technical Tables Now Being Computed

Publication dates for a number of mathematical tables recently completed and under the computation of Dr. Arnold N. Lowan, assistant professor of physics at Yeshiva College, have been announced. The bureau is a project of the Works Progress Administration for the City of New York and has been in operation since January 1, 1938.

The work is of a highly technical nature and information on the project has thus far been released only to scientific journals and periodicals. The tables already completed and now ready for publication are:

1. A table of about 5,500 exponents computed to approximately 300 places each. The table includes matches where almost every exponent is representable in the table.

2. A table of Sines and Cosines to eight decimal places.

3. A table of about 3,000 powers of the integers from 1 to 1,000,000. The process of computation is a table of hyperbolic sines and cosines, a table of natural logarithms, and a table of functions encountered in theoretical physics, pertaining to the Theory of Relativity and to Poincaré's Theory of Radiations.

Decisions on the consideration of such projects as the compilation of tables on various branches of mathematics, elliptic functions, and the function A (x) = 1 - x/1 + x/2.

Dr. Lowan has been associated with the faculty of Yeshiva College since 1938 when he joined the department of physics. At the time Dr. Lowan was an associate of Professor Einstein at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton.

GROUP PAYS VISIT TO FRENCH LYCEE

A visit to the Lycee Francais was arranged and paid for by Sidney Braun, instructor in French, who was the faculty sponsor of the French Club last Friday as part of its program to visit places of interest in nearby New York.

The group, consisting of ten members, observed the French educational systems, Latin being taught in French.

The Lycee is the only French high school in America where the French language is the only medium of instruction.

The French Club was featured by a lecture in French delivered by Jerome Kestenbaum, lecturer of the group. The work of Malher, pioneeer of the French Lyceum, was included in the speech.

A regular meeting of the club will be held today at 6:30 p.m. in room 312.

Commentator Straw Ballot Shows Overwhelming Victory For Democratic Candidates in Election

By A. GERRYMANSER

The see-saw back and forth in yesterday's election showed that the New Yorkers were often in doubt as to the outcome of the political strife, but not so the Yeshiva men who never once had any qualms about what the Lehman would be re-elected.

When the Commentator, in line with modern journalistic trends, fads, or election prognosis, lifted its straw ballots into the political air to ascertain how the Empire winds, gubernatorial and otherwise, were blowing, it quickly covered that the collegiate intelligentsia is as much moved by emotion choosing its executives as is Polk Demos.

The exceedingly high vote, in favor of a politician by the party of the day was well suited to the individualist prides to the great degree of the people of the United States choose their leaders not by a careful appraisal of political platforms but rather by the simple picture they may have fashioned of a crusading avenger riding out to the people's rescue.

That is like most of our supposed European democracies is becoming thoroughly frightened of progressive liberalism and is prepared to swing into reaction to the worst.

And, the almost unanimous poll that the Yeshiva men, even those of concealed sympathies, would give Dewey did receive two votes and Thomas five — seems to indicate that nobody cares just how many times he does not direct the political actions of the intellectual initiated.

To Yeshiva mind, Pollet, Garner, and Mead were to be duplicity to Lehman's plurality with a slight advantage of an occasional vote while Bennett was to have a slight edge over O'Leary.

The closest race was as far as Y. C. G. men were concerned to be for comptroller where 7,079 ballots cast for Rothstein polling the highest number of votes, 16,422 for the G. O. P. Only two Republican both served in the city, two votes, and one of them was of Jewish extraction.

Only in regard to affiliating themselves to the Democratic Party was there a significant difference of opinion. The majority collapsed itself with the doctrine of Roosevelt, but a large minority insisted on the labor party.

FRESH SUBJECTED TO ANNUAL QUESTIONNAIRE

A questionnaire will give freshmen an opportunity of expressing their views on various personal and political problems, will be found in the issue of The Commentator.

The purpose of the questionnaires is to determine the political, social, and economic philosophies of the new students as well as to gauge the ability of the freshmen to understand and express the opinions expressed by the same group in the questionnaires which will be given them in their Senior year.

Freshmen are invited to answer this query and to hand in their answers to the class president as soon as possible. The results of the questionnaire will be tabulated and interpreted for the next issue of The Commentator.

Recommendation Isolation for United States

The adoption by the United States of a policy of strict isolation from European affairs was advocated by Colonel J. Gay Seabourne of the United States Army in his address before the Inter-Collegiate Students for Just Peace meeting of the year, held Tuesday evening, November 1.

The Colonel was introduced by A. Leo Levin '39, president of the students' debating society, the representative of the student body who, having a special interest in the problem, expressed the feeling that the Yeshiva men, even those of a more conservative group, are likely to adhere to the idea of an American isolation policy.

The work of the organization, called on Dr. Arnold Lowan to give an example of the commodity of the coming...
The slimmest margin of victory leaves no room for rejoicing. It has been the practice of masses of the population to be influenced to disregard all objective standards and to revert to emotional prejudices. In light of the events in Europe, this constitutes a grave danger, and an emotional interpretation is a war warning to all liberals to be on guard against the possibility of "its happening" here.

A Friend Indeed

In the midst of the fog and befuddlement which surround the dining room situation even today, and in face of the vacillating and pusillanimous attitudes of the properly constituted authorities one thing stands out: the head of the Ladies Auxiliary, has proved herself a true friend of the students of this institution.

She has fought a gallant fight, working hand in hand with the student leaders, to prevent the return of a coterie of biased and blind prejudice became more in the editorial columns of this newspaper.

The ugly "whispering campaign" achieved such proportions that both Lehman, Dewey, and Lobb could not go to the public schools without demands made in common with established precedent. However, underneath all the ordinary manifestations expected in a free, democratic election an undercurrent of bias and blind prejudice became more and more apparent. A discordant note of racial and religious discrimination was struck.

We Want Peace

Armistice Day is Friday. It commemorates that eventful morning of Nov. 11, 1918, when the world at war threw down its arms and wept tears of pure joy.

Today, exactly 20 years later, the world stands again at the crossroads. The spectacle of fear, the horror of destruction haunts the soul of every thinking being. The men, women, and children of all lands tremble at the thought of another holocaust. Yet, the nations of the world have not learned the lesson of arming at a feverish pace. Why? Wherein lies the reason and logic behind it all?

The forces pushing the civilized world on to its destruction are the same forces which were responsible for the World War, the forces so desperately marshaled as a fight "to save the world for democracy."

The same mad scramble to obtain sources for raw materials, to monopolize the markets of the world for their manufactured goods; in short, the struggle of imperialism dressed in modern phraseology is with us again.

The only power which can prevent the world from undergoing another debacle is the opposition of an aroused public opinion. Enlightened college youth will hold peace assemblies throughout the country this week to solidify their opposition to war. They point the way for others to follow.
Basketball Team Will Oppose B. B. Nov. 13

The season's basketball opener will be held this Sunday evening. The match promises to be an interesting one and will give Yeshiva fans a first glimpse of this year's bearers of the overalls. Only those students presenting tickets which have already been paid for will be admitted to the game. Season tickets can still be obtained from the class athletic managers.

DATES FOR CLASS MATCHES SETTLED

First Intramural Game Will Start Tonight

All arrangements for the coming intramural basketball season have been completed according to Robert Schwartz, '46, manager of intramural athletics. The schedule is as follows:

Nov. 9, Wed.-Juniors vs. Seniors; Frosh vs. Bophas.
Nov. 22, Tues.-Sophas vs. Seniors; Frosh vs. Juniors.
Dec. 6, Tuse.—Bophas vs. Juniors; Frosh vs. Seniors.

The time of the games and the results will be posted regularly on the bulletin board.

Class athletic managers are advised that all rules, as posted, will be strictly adhered to. Failure to be present on the part of any team, at the scheduled hours will result in the forfeit of the game.

Last year's intramural championship was won by the Junior class. This victory, which was gained only by a close margin, marked the second consecutive time that a Junior class finished in first place in the intramural competition.

The puzzling Five Year Plan, which arose every semester despite the vociferous protestations of the student body was a problem which was in dire need of permanent solution. The Sophomore class is confident that your efforts, in your capacity as Assistant to the President, and the efforts of the entire faculty, will manifest themselves in proving that the problem of the Five Year Plan reached a successful permanent solution.

It is indeed gratifying to know that the administrations, faculty, and student body are cooperating together in realizing the aims and aspirations of Yeshiva College. Your sympathetic attitude toward the problem of the students of the Sophomore class heralds unified cooperation in any problem that may arise in the future.

Yours sincerely,
Chanover, President.
Issacson, Vice-president.

It's the Right Combination

"Whizzer" White... famous All-American football star... show what it takes to be a triple threat man.

The reason Chesterfield is different is because it combines the smoking qualities of the world's best cigarette tobaccos in one cigarette.

It's the right combination of these tobaccos... mild ripe home-grown and aromatic Turkish, rolled in pure cigarette paper... that makes Chesterfield a better cigarette for you to smoke... milder and better-tasting.
