CONSTITUTION ADOPTED
BY COMMENTATOR BOARD

Feline Triplets
Grace Bio. Lab.

By EMIL GREE
(Being another of the preoccupations of the Ecological Editor.)

Students in the new Comparative Anatomy class enjoyed an interesting, if not-so-rare, scientific treat the other day at the laboratory. With butted breath and sparkling with the delight that comes of witnessing a distinctive feat skillfully accomplished, they watched the objective performance of Dr. A. I. Titterner as he delivered a set of excellent triplets to a cat of unknown descendants. It certainly was neither Angora nor Persian. Rather, we should hazard to say an admixture of black, striped, black-and-white and gray-and-can-further progress is needed to arrive at a decidedly successful, theoretically speaking.
Only one slight drawback presented itself at large and in the Comparative class in particular. From the existence of another feline family on campus. This was, strangely enough, the majority that facts that were un-American, no more in the land of living. Now is this very sad.

... (Continued on Page 4)

First Annual Questionnaire Finds Typical Senior
"Slightly" Dissatisfied With Policies of Yeshiva

The typical Yeshiva senior of the Class of 1945 finds many tings in harmony with the order of things at alma mater, but still "would send his son to Yeshiva." He does not believe that the identity of students is fulfilled, and decries
its expansion along business.

Mr. L. Udan, head librarian, explained that the staff was working diligently putting into circulation the new volume of the numbers of the Volumes de la Collection consists of texts in Psychology, Fine Art, Literature, along with English and American novels.

... (Continued on Page 4)

REVEL ADDRESSES
STUDENT BODY ON RAMBAM HALACHA

Third Lecture of Series Works of Maimonides Is
By College Head

Dr. Bernard Revel, Rohr Ha-Yeshiva, and President of the faculty of Yeshiva College, deliberated the third of a series of lectures commemorating the eight hundredth anniversary of the birth of Maimonides, last Weddsday night before a large assemble of students, faculty memers, and visitors gathered in Dormitory Society Hall.

... (Continued on Page 4)

CONSTITUTION ADOPTED
BY COMMENTATOR BOARD

Feline Triplets
Grace Bio. Lab.

By EMIL GREE
(Being another of the preoccupations of the Ecological Editor.)

Students in the new Comparative Anatomy class enjoyed an interesting, if not-so-rare, scientific treat the other day at the laboratory. With butted breath and sparkling with the delight that comes of witnessing a distinctive feat skillfully accomplished, they watched the objective performance of Dr. A. I. Titternner as he delivered a set of excellent triplets to a cat of unknown descendants. It certainly was neither Angora nor Persian. Rather, we should hazard to say an admixture of black, striped, black-and-white and gray-and-can-further progress is needed to arrive at a decidedly successful, theoretically speaking.

... (Continued on Page 4)

The typical Yeshiva senior of the Class of 1945 finds many tings in harmony with the order of things at alma mater, but still "would send his son to Yeshiva." He does not believe that the identity of students is fulfilled, and decries
its expansion along business.

Mr. L. Udan, head librarian, explained that the staff was working diligently putting into circulation the new volume of the numbers of the Volumes de la Collection consists of texts in Psychology, Fine Art, Literature, along with English and American novels.

... (Continued on Page 4)
Looking Forward

We understand that several informal conferences between the Administration and representatives of the student body have been held recently in reference to the recent controversy that has raised. Though secrecy envelopes these meetings, it is rumored that they offer substantial grounds for optimism among students. Definite announcements can be expected shortly.

Meanwhile, we again wish to impress on the student body that this full discussion is a continuation of our efforts to “Yeshiva-ize the College.” We urge the students to bear our objectives in view and to clamor for their realization.

Some misunderstanding has arisen in the minds of students and faculty members alike as to the nature of our suggestions. We present them, here, with brief exactitude:

1. An emphatic restatement of the fact that this institution is not a College of Liberal Arts and Sciences but a Yeshiva. The Yeshiva College, indicating that its Jewish aspect must be stressed to a greater degree than it has been in the past.

2. A curriculum of courses in Jewish History, Jewish Literature, Modern Jewish Problems, Jewish Philosophy, etc.

3. That these courses be integrated into the program, that they be planned with the same care as the other parts of the curriculum, that they be placed on a par with the secular courses. It is hoped that these courses in Jewish studies be required of every college student and that a specific number of credits in these studies be required.

4. That the Hebrew Department of the Yeshiva be reorganized.

5. That all immediate attempts at change be in the direction we have indicated.

6. That the establishment of a Business School be postponed as premature until an integrated curriculum in the College is presently constituted is established.

7. That no student be admitted to Yeshiva College who do not qualify as members of the student body.

The Yeshiva College is an institute for the purpose of providing an educational opportunity in the Jewish studies.

The Senior Questionnaire

The questionnaire submitted to the Senior Class is most gratifying evidence of the fact that our recent issues have reflected student opinion in an unprecedented manner. That the Yeshiva Has not been the voice of a handful of “irresponsible” students, who “mean well but are harming the institution” is obvious from the tabulation of the opinions submitted by the graduating class. The Yeshiva Has not been the instrument of any fundamental issue. The graduating class voted overwhelmingly for drastic revision of the College and Yeshiva curricula, for the addition to the program of the Jewish studies, for the reorganization of the Yeshiva Hebrew department, for the postponement of the establishment of the School of Administration, for the admission to the faculty of students, who qualify as students in one of the Hebrew departments— all of which the President has been clamoring for. This shows that the columns of The Yeshiva Has represented the crystallization of student opinion as expressed by the students, that the benefits that will result from the postponement of the establishment of the School of Administration, for the admission to the faculty of students, who qualify as students in one of the Hebrew departments— all of which the President has been clamoring for.

The The Yeshiva Has has been clamoring for the postponement of the establishment of the School of Administration, for the admission to the faculty of students, who qualify as students in one of the Hebrew departments— all of which the President has been clamoring for.

The Senior Class has approved the Yeshiva’s recommendations for the next year.

The Yeshiva College is an institute for the purpose of providing an educational opportunity in the Jewish studies.

The Yeshiva Has not been the voice of a handful of “irresponsible” students, who “mean well but are harming the institution” is obvious from the tabulation of the opinions submitted by the graduating class. The Yeshiva Has not been the instrument of any fundamental issue. The graduating class voted overwhelmingly for drastic revision of the College and Yeshiva curricula, for the addition to the program of the Jewish studies, for the reorganization of the Yeshiva Hebrew department, for the postponement of the establishment of the School of Administration, for the admission to the faculty of students, who qualify as students in one of the Hebrew departments— all of which the President has been clamoring for. This shows that the columns of The Yeshiva Has represented the crystallization of student opinion as expressed by the students, that the benefits that will result from the postponement of the establishment of the School of Administration, for the admission to the faculty of students, who qualify as students in one of the Hebrew departments— all of which the President has been clamoring for.

The The Yeshiva Has has been clamoring for the postponement of the establishment of the School of Administration, for the admission to the faculty of students, who qualify as students in one of the Hebrew departments— all of which the President has been clamoring for.

The Senior Class has approved the Yeshiva’s recommendations for the next year.
ON THE SIDELINES

By BILL KAUFMAN

"All American" Baseball

Rumors of an "All-American" baseball team were confirmed when your scribe betook himself to the athletic field and beheld the far-famed antics of the daffy denizens of the Yeshiva diamond. On all sides of me was a vast array of baseball talent ranging from "Rah-Rah" Sion, the Eastern Marquis (is it silent?) to Jack Mago of the Yeshiva Mazos. Although the boys weren't exactly what we might call Bud Brummmel of the diamond, lacking the customary sartorial elegance of the baseball player's flannel fare, still they looked right smart in their uniform of gray shirts and black collars. Yes, sir! Even the mighty moguls of the S.O.Y. were there, who, being agents of a very metropolitan atmosphere, soon learned how to manipulate the little white spheres with the wands of bickery.

Teams Chosen

Practice went on for a while and finally when the young men of Manhattan grew tired of aimlessly tossing around the horsehide, sides were chosen. The teams were Yale and Harvard (you know, the boys with the accents???) and amidst a fanfare of applause the game was launched.

The impression left on my mind afterwards was that these Yeshiva ballhaws certainly talked a swell game. As is the custom of all Talmidic students, the widely practiced practice of intense argumentation was not wanting. The game was accompanied by a wide array of sounds, more carefully analyzed as a continual flow of Islamic proverbs and several good old-fashioned Lithuanian cuss words. As to the game, well, it was just one of those things. The Harvard pitchers held place during the second inning when one of the Harvard batters smacked one past the pitcher and into home runs. Nat Taragin, stretched it into a home run. Taragin looks like a natural, all alone, a ball. The pitch as if it were a Brenner one, and swung with the grace of a Mirsky debutante on an iron coast. The game went after three grueling innings, with the casualties mounting; this time it was a spasm of "almost," incurred when the pitcher, lunging forward to cut down the lead, humped his leg by his waist and his large proboscis. This deflected his approach and played the horsehide out again.

WHERE WILL YOU BE ON THE NIGHT OF JUNE THE FIRST?

CAREST OR LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO CHEW ON A FISH?

CHESS CLUB STARTS ANNUAL TOURNAMENT

Following in the footsteps of Yeshiva's Chess prodigy and present world champion Samuel Reshevsky, the members of the Chess Club are plying away at the boards in a war of wits. That a position on the Varsity has become a veritable honor, is evidenced by the zeal and ardor with which the participants have entered the tourney.

Thus far the results of the first and second rounds are:

Bennett 1-Norkin 0
Wall 1-Balakoff 0
Pfeffer 1-Perez 0
Kronkholtz 1-Abel 0
Margolis 1-Sadakoff 0
Safra 1-Norkin 0
Chanin 1-Waltman 0
ROUND NO. 2
Margolis 1-Pfeffer 0
Kronkholtz 1-Safra 0
Chapler 1-Tenant 0
Wall 1-Bennett 0

The pairings for the third round are:

Pfeffer vs. Kronkholtz
Bennett vs. Safra
Abel vs. Margolis
Chanin vs. Wall

The exponents of the "royal game" are especially imbued with the spirit to win, since the victorious performers will gain positions on the Varsity chess squad, taking the places of Mowreikowitz and Raymon, who are being retired through graduation.

PUBLIC LAUNDRY SERVICE

250 West 119th St.
The Yeshiva's Favorite

GUTMAN'S SPECIALTY KITCHEN

Delicatessen and Restaurant

1501 W. 10th St.
(Formerly Green's)

TROIANO'S FASHION BOUTIQUE

The Tonnaline Art

1040 W. Nicholas Ave.
Northside, N.Y.

HAILCOUT...
Yet they expressed their practicality by choosing Roosevelt as their presidential candidate in 1936 with Norman Thomas runner-up. A question “Who is the greatest menace to American Liberty” resulted in the naming of William Randolph Hearst, with Coughlin and Huey Long taking second and third places respectively.

All but five members of the class would prefer to make their homes in Palestine rather than in the United States. Only six would fight in a war in which the United States was involved.

The Mizrachi Organization won the support of most of the students, while a World Jewish Congress was favored by over 75 per cent of the class.

The class reached no degree of agreement as to which exercised the greatest influence in either Jewish or general life today.

The remaining choices of the Senior Questionnaire follow:

Best All-Round Athlete—Bob Goodman
Best Debater—David Telman and Phil Barman
Best Gentleman—Ascher Block and Joe Green
Best Popular—David Waechtler
Best Comic—Bernard Berman

The Administration has requested that students follow procedures to be posted on the College bulletin board for information regarding room choices and time of examinations. It is not unusual for students unacquainted with the schedule to miss examinations. Information will be given only through the medium of the bulletin board.

Non-Profit Is Only Solution

“Who is the greatest menace to American Liberty” resulted in the naming of William Randolph Hearst, with Coughlin and Huey Long taking second and third places respectively.

All but five members of the class would prefer to make their homes in Palestine rather than in the United States. Only six would fight in a war in which the United States was involved.

The Mizrachi Organization won the support of most of the students, while a World Jewish Congress was favored by over 75 per cent of the class.

The class reached no degree of agreement as to which exercised the greatest influence in either Jewish or general life today.

The remaining choices of the Senior Questionnaire follow:

Best All-Round Athlete—Bob Goodman
Best Debater—David Telman and Phil Barman
Best Gentleman—Ascher Block and Joe Green
Best Popular—David Waechtler
Best Comic—Bernard Berman

The Administration has requested that students follow procedures to be posted on the College bulletin board for information regarding room choices and time of examinations. It is not unusual for students unacquainted with the schedule to miss examinations. Information will be given only through the medium of the bulletin board.

Class Grind—Meyer Feldman
Handsome—Louis Simons and Ascher Block
Most Religious—David Telman Best Dressed—Louis Simons
Class Genius—Charles Friedman and Louis Lefler
Favorite Morning Paper—The New York Times
Favorite Evening Paper—World-Telegram
Favorite Play—“Black Belt” and “The Children’s Hour”
Favorite Novel—“It Happened One Night” and “David Copperfield” Best Stage Actor—Lester Howard
Best Stage Actress—Katharine Cornell
Best Movie Actor—Fredric March
Best Movie Actress—Norma Shearer
Favorite Dramatist—Shakespeare and Noel Coward Favorite Poet—Shelley “Shelley” and Bulkis’s “Musetta”
Favorite Novel—Anna Karenina, Three Kings and Les Misérables.

And most important of all, it was discovered that over 60 per cent of the class were avid proponents of the Terpsichorean Art—or dancing as it is known to the “hol polloi.”