APPEL ELECTED PRESIDENT: GOLDKLANG, ROSE CHosen

Candidate Speak At Mass Assembly Of Students

AWARDS GIVEN

Scribe Cohen and Al Kolatch

Preside Over Meeting

All candidates for office presented their plans at the prediction assembly which was held Wednesday at 3:30. It was attended by over 500 students and guests. The candidates were introduced by the Student Council and the student body leader, Scribe Cohen. All candidates were given a chance to speak and answer questions from the audience.

In his capacity of chairman of the Election and Ceremonial Committee, Scribe Cohen, presided over the assembly. He introduced Rabbi S. F. Greenberg, Rabbi E. M. Seligman, and Rabbi J. L. Seligman, who spoke in behalf of the candidates. The assembly was concluded with the presentation of the final list of candidates for office.

Sophie Demonstrate Own Version

Of Famous Cherry Tree Episode

May conclude that although the titles of our years have passed, we must not be discouraged from lighting the fires of our years in America. Rabbi M. Marcus, chairman of the placement committees of the Rabbinical Council of Yeshiva, represented the students at the dinner. He related the experiences and special events which have occurred in recent years and the difficulties encountered in the past.

Jerome Greenberg Wins Athletic Post Easily

ONLY JUNIOR RUNS

Officers To Be Inducted Commencement Week

Winning three classes out of four, General Appel, was elected president of Student Council for the coming year. He gained 77 votes, in a heated election yesterday.

Supporting him will be Norman Goldklang '26, vice-president; Bertram Rose '26, secretary, and Jerome B. Greenberg '26, athletic manager.

Goldklang was strongest in the senior class, which he won by nearly three to one. He gained an even larger plurality in the Sophomore class where he picked up an absolute majority.

Sidney Greenberg '25, his opponent, carried the two classes with a plurality of eleven votes, which was insuficient to counteract his losses in every other class.

In the five-cornered vice-president campaign Goldklang won a plurality in all four classes to come in ahead of Abraham Bruchwitz '22, by 21 votes. Two votes behind Bruchwitz were divided equally between Ben Leventhal '25, With Harry Walker '25, and Irving Newman '23, trailing.

In the secretarial department F. B. Rose decisively beat Bernard Rubenstein with a plurality of close to twenty-five. Rose carried every class except the one at the bottom of the class list.

Bikurim: Display

Is Due On May 22

Hastaduth Cannot Give Year's Review

The Bikurim display will be held on May 22. The display, which is a traditional Jewish celebration, marks the end of the Tisha B'Av fast and the beginning of the new year. The display will be held in the Dormitory Social Hall and will feature various decorations and symbols associated with the occasion.

The cultural groups participating in the Bikurim include the Jewish National Fund, the Israeli cultural group, the Orthodox Jewish group, and the Conservative Jewish group. The display will also feature various performances of traditional Jewish music and dance.

Among the activities planned for the day are the presentation of a special plaque to the Student Council, a special program for the students, and a special dedication to the memory of those who lost their lives in the Holocaust.

The Bikurim display is a major event in the annual calendar of the Jewish community and is a symbol of the continuity and resilience of the Jewish people.

A few questions, in particular, drew an emphatic response from all candidates and from all sections of the student body. Everyone deplored the inadequacy of the existing administrative set-up. All were alike conscious of the failure of the authorities to provide the proper official to handle the regular administrative work of the college. The necessity for appointing a dean seemed uppermost in the minds of all. The importance of this could only be matched by the importance of preventing the appointment of the wrong type of person.

The question of the candidates whatever may have been their previous attitudes and whatever beliefs they may still have concerning the theoretical possibilities of same such plan, had only one word to take. The plan as it stands today after a year of preparation failed, even on paper, to show any signs of achieving the results claimed for it. On the other hand, its many disadvantages and inconveniences are patent.

The unequivocal stand taken on these issues by both presidential candidates is gratifying. Both deserve congratulations for their uncompromising attitudes.

To the winner, however, besides the usual congratulations we wish to extend a warning of the grave responsibilities he has undertaken. Having declared his position on these two questions, he must proceed almost immediately to carry out his plans. If he delays even a short time, he may find it too late to accomplish anything.

The road to progress at Yeshiva is notoriously difficult. It may often require great effort and even strenuous fighting to traverse it. The new student administration, therefore, must be prepared to meet many obstacles with conviction and determination.

The Jubilee Banquet

It was with a deep sense of gratification that we observed the Jubilee dinner and celebration arranged this week by the students of Yeshiva College.

It was high time, after a year of spasmodic cheering for fifty years of Torah in America, that those most interested in the existence of Yeshiva, both past and future, lend meaning to the general applause with their own affair, one befiting students of the institution.

For those among us who have felt discouraged at times with many existing evils which should have long been eradicated, and with the high pitch of militant enthusiasm which was reached during the recent campaign must not be permitted to wane. The lethargy which, during the past year, has threatened to overtake large numbers of students must be stamped out permanently.

We believe that the students have selected a militant leadership. The campaign, activities appear to indicate that students have once more awakened to the necessity for active interest and participation in those aspects of school affairs which vitally affect them. Above all, it is heartening to note the complete unanimity of student opinion with regard to certain basic issues.

Two questions, in particular, drew an emphatic response from all candidates and from all sections of the student body. Everyone deplored most strongly the inadequacy of the existing administrative set-up. All were alike conscious of the failure of the authorities to provide the proper official to handle the regular administrative work of the college. The necessity for appointing a dean seemed uppermost in the minds of all. The importance of this could only be matched by the importance of preventing the appointment of the wrong type of person.
"CHRONICLE OF A DODGE" by SOL KRICHEWSKY

The barber shop was crowded and I found myself seated between a tall, anemic-looking gentleman who seemed fascinated by a copy of the current "Breezy Stories," and a short, squat, ruddy-cheeked individual who was busily picking up a two-dollar horseplay.

"How'd the Dodgers make out?" I asked cheerfully.

Silence.

"Great team those Dodgers," I started again, "that boy Mungo, what a pitcher!"

Silence.

"This Boily Grimes might be the key to land us in first place," you never can tell. Heinni Manush, and Br ..."

"Next," Crisp, businesslike and efficiently the barber who had parked himself in a lopsided car, with his shaven "body," and it was my "nag-in-"
"Gee, I've heard you're going to the World Series."

When he reached it he nodded his head sorrowfully and pitying his way in the direction, and causally exclaimed, "Just another Brooklyn Fan."

Could I but plumb the depths of a fellow's heart, I felt a red warmth enter my cheeks and for the first time in my life I experienced murderous intent. To come, to kibitz, to show that, o God, Nazi, reactionary, Giant fan, that he couldn't be such a joke -- what a dump he is! I didn't let the idea show, my tipple, a spicy brandy, but the thought of the old fashioned truth of the old fashioned truth of the old fashioned truth of the old fashioned truth of the old fashioned truth of the old fashioned faith that you can't fool all the teachers in the East."

LEONARD ROSENFIELD: The most conscientious of Yeshiva's Greek philosophers is insinuated as the greatest practical physicist this house of science has produced. His words have a mystical quality like that of several of his classmate, started in Yeshiva Park, where in addition to being always the second best Hebrew student in his class, he was an enthusiastic impromptu fencing, photogenic impromptu fencing, beauteous and wooden swords. This was well known ingenuity which reached its full height in Lenzy's ability to tutor sixty students. The darkest secrets of his career are the work he has contributed to the Companion of the 1970 class, and the nature of the recompense he is receiving for the tired."

TENNENBAUM: the life's ambition of Edward Martin is to pass a few free minutes at the expenses of which they are written do not suffice to contemplate, nevertheless, that they were not for Edith. Therefore he gave him such a faithful correspondent another notebook, workmen, and characters, and marginal scrapping. He is the kind of man who works in Philadelphia only to return with a sufficient ground to keep him busy."

MORRIS BERRIOTZ: Scared with his menacing, he had so forthwith, it was for his next with the best and fairest among the All-Americans. Among them was one woman who landed on the board with greater significance for his "pitcher" which he has given. We hasten to assure that Yosef Dashi has settled.

it must be Chesterfield

Aroma is half the pleasure of smoking

Chesterfield's aroma is DIFFERENT
...more pleasing...you like it better.

That's because of the way we blend and smoke Chesterfield's mild pipe tobaccos and American Turkish tobaccos...and because the Chesterfield paper is PURE and you won't find any tar or dirt.

Chesterfields will give you MORE PLEASURE

They Satisfy.
