Miss Kirsch, N. S. F. A.
Leader, Stresses Student Role

Dr. Litman Speaks
Declares Abolition of Force
To Be Prerequisite
To Real Peace

Dr. Litman, a member of the College faculty, stressed at the Peace Assembly held Monday, November 29, the joint appeal of Student Council and the International Relations Club, Professor Alexander Litman, who spoke from the floor, represented the Jewish, and Mayer Selig '40, president of the National Student Federation
Club, represented by George Bronfen and Samuel Cohen.
Before the double organization's appeal was read, a song was sung by the Glee Club.

Joining the discussion, Elize,
Blackwitz addressed the audience and emphasized the importance of delaying the decision of the matter.
The Dies Committee has continually violated the Constitutional Bill of Rights in flagrant disregard of our most precious liberties. It has followed closely in the footsteps of the pathfinder—Father Coughlin.

Significantly enough, Dies is now contemplating a "thorough" investigation of colleges—right behind the expose being compiled in Kansas. Sooner or later, the action of the Union leaders has been disputed by the Dies Committee—a variation on a theme—for, in this case Coughlin has not as yet slammed the A. S. U., but indeed has assumed a new role.

In short, these individuals and organizations that have been militating actively in the fight for peace are now to undergo grueling cross-examination at the hands of two "bulwarks of democracy."

All these factors—which have accumulated in the light of past history tend to one point, that the deadline has now come for American students to rid themselves of any hangovers of light-headedness and display a strength of character. For solidified collegiate opinion is the most efficacious method of educating for peace, and of silencing those agencies whose purpose it is to embolden the United States in an European struggle.

These factors must be recognized. For if the attractive forces brought into play by demagogues of the Coughlin and Dies variety, it falls to the lot of a more vigorous youth to uphold the banner of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Best Wishes

The reappearance of "Hazedek" as the official periodical of the S. O. Y. is cause for no small measure of gratification on the part of all those in any way connected with Yeshiva. The Commentator—as the parent publication of our institution—joins in applauding the rebirth of a mode of expression for popular opinion on topics peculiar to the rabbinical department. There is no doubt as to desirability of a publication which will deal exclusively with unique Yeshiva problems and which would fall solely into the sphere of Yeshiva interest.

It is impossible for us to overestimate the vast wealth of possibilities which are offered a paper of the type of Hazedek. The first issue very admirably reflected what can be expected of it: topics relating to Orthodoxy, to the Yeshiva curriculum—these are the problems which the Hazedek has touched and should dwell upon. Reflecting the opinions and aspirations of our future rabbis and present Talmudists on questions Jewish and political affecting only Yeshiva students is the rightfully earned position of Hazedek. In confining itself to these points and in clinging to the Yeshiva setting, while at the same time, it has assumed the guise of a great daily—evaluation of conditions surrounding them in their own department, the Hazedek will have served a noble purpose in Yeshiva.

At Yeshiva the Jewish Orthodox world without, Hazedek has a similar function. The content of the Hazedek will be viewed by Jewry at large, as the expression of Orthodoxy as affecting American Jewish life and customs today.

It is my profound hope that past essays into publishing a Yeshiva paper will not have died in vain; and that the current volume of Hazedek will continue the publication with a Yeshiva heart. With such a goal and with the deep-rooted spirit of Torah and Yeshiva as a motivating force Hazedek will inevitably succeed.

Sophs: Give Lesson In Applied Shoe Polish To Angry But Helpless Frosh

Why, nobody seems to know, but exactly two weeks ago tonight, Dr. Ginsburg, a local shoe polish expert, gave a lecture to the sophomores. It was a very unusual lecture, and it caused quite a stir. The seniors, who had been trying to get together a seminar on shoe polish, were extremely happy to have Dr. Ginsburg, a well-known expert in the field, to give the lecture.

Prof. Ginsburg on his 50th birthday

Ginsburg has been a faculty member for more than 25 years, and has been involved in the lives of many students.

His attitude is contagious, and he has a way of making even the most difficult concepts understandable.

Quints Open Season Down B.C. 41-40

Beat Pharmacists For The First Time In Team's History

ESTERSON STARS

Proves Highest Scorer As Avrek Excels On The Defense

By SAM and MILT

"The second set's the thing," was proven by the quint's last four minutes, when Amela Leela Proven and teammate Ramon moved the ball outside to give Cohn the open shot, which he converted into a lay-up. But this was nothing compared to the heroics of the Pharmacists. When Yeshiva rallied to score nine points and climb the ball field to even the game, the Pharmacists' hero of the victory was the "Freshman Man." The ball field was converted into a free throw, with twenty-five seconds remaining, was the margin, and the Pharmacists, led by the heroically figured in the belated uprising were Avrek, who two minutes later made the lay-up, Rosenthal a tap-in, and Esterson a "hand-in" shot and sweep by Rosenfield.

Cohn's Play Clicks

A rapid-fire play by Coach Wexler's quintescent clicked the first basket of the game as "Irrelevant took Meyer's center pass and scored on a lay-up. But this was all the scoring Yeshiva did for a while, as the Pharmacists, led by the Employment team, scored nine points in the first half. In the second quarter, the Pharmacists scored nine points in the first half and nine points in the second, making the score 25-20 for Yeshiva.

Captain Irv Koolsow was injured, as the Orleans lost a pre-season practice game to the B.C. 40.

Koslow Sustains Injury As Team Loses 25-20

In the second half, the Pharmacists' brilliant offensive performance which netted them high scoring honors for the entire game. But the second half was a different story. The Pharmacists, on the other hand, used their height advantageously in breaking through the Yeshiva's White and Black defense. Since this was the first meeting, substitutions were made, another reason for the scoring in the first half was the fact that the visitors led 1-4.

Possibly it was the coach's blistering interrogation speech or the thrilling first half which shook the Quits. In any case the last quarter saw the "military" Quints sink five baskets in a row and Avrek, Rosenfield, and Jarett starting. At one time in this quarter the Yeshiva five took the edge off the Quints and the final whistle saw a Yeshiva win by a narrow margin of only one point.

The last quarter saw the Quints youthfulness and speed of the visitors but just as their play was excellent in the previous period, so it was extremely poor in the last quarter. Passes were interminable and substitutions were made by the Quints, the visitors as the Quints passed defensively. Their defense fell apart and the final whistle saw a Yeshiva win by a narrow margin of only one point.

BASKETBALL VARSITY

"Oy!" Koolsow's father, watched the game from the sidelines, where he was joined by his injured son.

Commentator
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. - (ACP) - For the first time in history, college graduates who anticipate entering the teaching profession are facing a battery of comprehensive examinations that will test their fitness as educators.

The American Council of Education has announced the initiation of a new testing project that leaders of the organization believe will be the next great step in the improvement of education in the U.S. First use of the new examinations will be made next spring in certain cities in the east and midwest.

It is the purpose of the special committee devoting the tests to the development of a three-fold service. First, a battery of carefully constructed tests will be prepared and made available to the cities operating in the experiment.

Second, the committee will give all possible assistance to the cooperating schools in the study and exchange of ideas directed toward the improvement of all other methods of selecting candidates. In addition to this exchange of ideas, the committee will be permitted to use the results as a means of testing the methods of selecting candidates.

Third, the committee will use the results as a means of testing the methods of selecting candidates. In addition to this exchange of ideas, the committee will be permitted to use the results as a means of testing the methods of selecting candidates.

A third aspect of the service is that data will be made available for research in teacher education. Such research may be carried on either by the staff working under the direction of the committee or by teacher-training institutions taking part in the project.

The tests are to include (1) examinations that may be required of all candidates, on the theory that admission to the profession in any capacity should be restricted to those above a certain minimum in intelligence, culture and professional knowledge and (2) examinations to show mastery of subject matter to be taught.
