Alumni Feted By '40 Men At Social Affair

Event, First at Y. C. of Its Kind, Follows Annual Game

Close to two hundred graduates assembled in the Dormitory Social Hall last Sunday at a smoker tenderly tendered in honor of the alumni by the faculty panel. The affair, which followed the basketball game between the alumni and the graduate students, was opened by Philip Goldstein '46, chairman of the faculty for the evening, who explained that the affair, the first of its kind, is intended as a precedent for future senior classes.

After a short address by Rabbi Leonard Rosenthal '37, secretary of the Alumni Association, the entertainment started and was not interrupted until the close hour. The entertainment was met by Hyman Mus '33, Alumni president, concerning the current drive of the Alumni Association, which met by Hyman Mus '33, Alumni president, concerning the current drive of the Alumni Association, which was met by Hyman Mus '33, Alumni president, concerning the current drive of the Alumni Association, which was

The entertainment was supplied by Rabbi Itzhak and the Pennsylvania quartet, under the leadership of Walter Winchell, Stephen Perets, Alvin Solomon, and Paul Mus. Before starting on his performance, the performer made a short address concerning the formation of his "Little-Peoples Pretern." By his own hand, it was shown that all the players were to be dressed in cartoonist style, and concluded with the outstretching speech of "The Winds of the Sea." The Freshman quartet repeated the song they had sung at the Class-Nite, "Roll Them Bones," that all the things, "I Ain't Gonna Miss My Lord More," and then returned in a "Be-

REHEARSALS BEGIN FOR VARSITY SHOW

Completion of a script for the Varsity show and a change in personnel has been announced by Philip Goldstein '40, chairman of the Varsity show. The original plan, for a complete Varsity show to take place on March 3, has been changed to a "Class-Nite" show under the auspices of the Class-Nite committee. The script and costumes are under the direction of the Faculty adviser, expressed high hopes for a successful opening on April 12.

The deadline for scripts is February 28, and rehearsals will begin Sunday, February 25, with a final dress rehearsal on Thursday, February 29.

The price of admission for this evening is 50 cents, members of the student body receiving no discount. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the alumni. The advertising committee urges the alumni to publicize this affair as much as possible and to attempt to sell a large number of tickets.

Alumni Launches Annual Drive For Scholarship Fund

Rabbinical Council To Set April 6 as Yeshiva College Sabbath

Adopting the slogan, "Build for the Future," the Alumni Association launched its second annual drive for scholarships, with the goal set at $2,000. Hyman Mus '33, Alumni president, explained that the objectives of the campaign, as set forth by Jewish Law, are to build up the College and to benefit the students. The Tuscaloosa Tribune, a news and literary weekly, published an article in its issue of April 5, entitled "The Power of the Alumni." The article was written by Rabbi Itzhak and the Pennsylvania quartet, under the leadership of Walter Winchell, Stephen Perets, Alvin Solomon, and Paul Mus. Before starting on his performance, the performer made a short address concerning the formation of his "Little-Peoples Pretern." By his own hand, it was shown that all the players were to be dressed in cartoonist style, and concluded with the outstretching speech of "The Winds of the Sea." aggression in Finland. But it failed to do this. By turning thumbs down on all attempts to introduce resolutions condemning Russia’s invasion of Finland the Congress opened still wider the door through which criticism can be fired and all but outrightly admitted Communist affiliation. As if to put on finishing touches to its already flimsy facade, the convention in its closing resolution did not even single out a little light on a side of the congress that is behind the mask of officialism. In many newspaper accounts of it the galaxy of individualists, some of the congressmen subject for study in itself. These young men from all corners of the land gathered together to air their common problems, such as a limited membership, a willingness to pick up what he could from the North, the Negro semi-slaves from the South, the share-croppers from the South-West all ready to share a common burden. At Saturday night’s showing of “The Gospel of Wrath” before the entire convention, it happened to be sitting near that of the convention. To him the scenes of the picture—this was in January, the war raged—were parts of his everyday life and he recognized that mode of living was no longer tenable. He had steadily depleted in the picture as part of the task of the war, the career expended to overpower together with his fellow-travellers and the government.

Communist in A.Y.C. To move off at a tangent here, it might be interesting to analyze the reasons why the A.Y.C. is so strong a bond, so constant a link in the tie between the Communists partly comprise an insignificant percentage of the youth of our country. The essence of this movement of the group individuals at the congress. Among all the remaining representatives of youth, there exists either a complete indifference to the serious problems which youth organizers are so often voicing. Many of the Communists control the Congress, both of which causes are responsible for the lack of real social work of the group. Many of the Communists who should be in control of the Social Studies at the congress are hardly represented. Perhaps in a personal talk on Sunday, that he was a little more skeptical over the motives of the Communist than she was at the commencement of the Congress. Like a good sport, Mrs. Roosevelt sat through every session of the convention, but in spite of that she uttered not a few words “you can be sure that if you want to make him lose you into war because he doesn’t want it either.”

Pinks vs. Reds

Mr. Youth, went to Washington and Mr. Youth has returned from Washington with the net result worthy of consideration. A very interesting conclude took place last week-end in Washington, D. C., while he was there. Five thousand youths from all parts of the country gathered to air their opinions on such vital issues as art, war, war, war. Under the sponsorship of the American Youth Congress, this “Citizenship Institute,” as it was called, turned out to be the object of a great deal of discussion and criticism, in both official as well as non-official circles.

We don’t find it necessary at this point to review in detail the proceedings of the Congress. The daily papers carried numerous articles on it and in an adjoining column may be found a long list, civil liberties, and peace. New Books Added To Library Racks

The first step in the establishment of a new book and manuscript collection in the Yeshiva College Library was taken this week with the presentation to Mr. Morris Ussan and his son, Leo Ussan '36, of two valuable literary items: a very rare first edition of Rysner's poems, "The Flag of Corinth," and "Patria," as well as a manuscript of Theodore Herzl, father of political Zionism, it was announced by Mr. Isaac Goldberg '33, assistant librarian.

Other recent donations announced by Mr. Goldberg include a gift from Dr. Leo Jost consisting of seventy-five volumes in the fields of history, literature and education, and a contribution from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Some of the works included in the latter grant are: "Democracy—Today and Tomorrow" by Edward Bene, "Dictatorship in the Modern World," edited by Guy Stanton Ford, and Michael T. Ferkinho's "Toward an Understanding of the U. S. R."

Another recent acquisition of the library is "Psychology and Ethics of Spinoza," by Dr. David Rabinowitz. Dr. Rabinowitz taught philosophy at Yeshiva two years ago, and completed the book shortly after leaving the college.

FRENCH CLUB HEARS PROF. HARRY KURTZ

Professor Harry Kurtz of Queens College was guest speaker before the Circle Francos at its final meeting of the Fall semester held Tuesday evening, January 16, in the Dormitory Social Hall. Plans for the Spring semester call for several lectures by prominent faculty members of metropolitan colleges and universities. Professor Frederic Beaud of the Graduate School of New York University will deliver a lecture on contemporary French drama early in the month of March, while Professor Raynaud M try will address the Circle in April.

This year's edition of the "Plumebear" will appear early in the term. Felix Wingeimser '32, editor of the magazine, stated. All distributions must therefore be submitted before the end of February.
